                THE CLERK: CV 10-2034-CBM: Globefill
7 Incorporated versus Elements Spirits, Incorporated, et 8
9
                Counsel, state your appearances.
10
                MR. BERG: Individual names of our lawyers 11 again?
12
                We are here for the plaintiff and ready, 13
    Your Honor.
                THE COURT: It is a matter of what you want
15 on the record. So if you want the court reporter's 16 transcript to show your names, of course, then you have to state the names. If you don't think that is important, then you don't have to do that.
18
19
                MR. BERG: We do want the names, Your Honor.
20
                We have Jenny Kim, Mike Fay, Zenobia Bivens, 21
    David Berg and, of course, Hernan Vera.
22
                THE COURT: Thank you. Good morning.
23
                MR. HUMMEL: Good morning, Your Honor.
24
                Keith Hummel for Elements Spirits. With me 25 is my partner Tom Rafferty and my colleague Rebecca

1
    Rettig.
2
                THE COURT: Good morning.
                MR. MILLER: Good morning, Your Honor.
3
                John Miller for Kim Brandi.
 4
                THE COURT: Good morning.
 5
                The matter before me now is the matter we left from last night. So I said I would rule on it this 8
    morning, and I will do so.
                I think most of our jurors are here.
                                                       So if 10
    all are here after we complete the Court's either 11 questioning or ruling on the matter that's outstanding, 12
    I will just stay on the bench and the clerk will just 13
    bring the jury into the box.
                So it may be that we will not have another
    break between now and when we actually start 16 presentation in the presence of the jury.
17
                So the outstanding matter that's left over 18 is the plaintiffs' ex parte application for 19 reconsideration of the Court's order denying the motion 20 to amend the joint exhibit list to add Brandi's 2016 trademark application.
22
                It is a motion for reconsideration.
23 doesn't pass the rule re motions for reconsideration.
24 don't think there is anything new.
2.5
                The Court listened to argument last night.

And so it may be that the arguments could -- may have focused a little bit on things that weren't in the papers. But basically, there is nothing new in this motion.

The Court also considers the manifest in justice. And the Court finds that that is not such and does the balancing, as I said in the previous order that I issued, to permit this amendment of the exhibit list.

Having said that, counsel also identified that one of the purposes for adding this exhibit to the list is for -- to assist the Court in deciding questions that are reserved for the Court and not for the jury. So I'm referring to the disgorgement of profits and or attorney fees, the amount of profits and whether attorney fees may be deducted for any profits.

Those are not jury questions. Those are Court questions. And so counsel may, when we get to those issues, outside the presence of the jury, ask the Court again for this permission. So I am inclined to consider this exhibit for those purposes.

So it will not be -- this exhibit will not be presented to the jury. It won't be added to the witness -- to the exhibit list for purposes of an exhibit that goes to the jury. But the Court may consider it for purposes that are not before the jury.

                So that's the Court's ruling on that motion 2 that was left outstanding.
                I want to raise with you just a couple of things that I'm uncertain about. One is, there are additional filings I think that were probably filed late yesterday. The first document is the deposition designation for a Gilberto Sanchez Escarcega.
8
                So what I don't know, I'm not clear on, is this a witness whose deposition will be used in lieu of the witness being here at trial? If that is the case, 11 then obviously the Court needs to read the parts that 12 have been designated, the objections to those parts, and 13 advise the parties of the Court's ruling before this deposition is read.
10
15
                So the first question is: Deposition in 16 lieu of live witness testimony from this witness. And 17 then the second question would be, if that first is 18 answered, yes, when would you expect to read?
19
                So whoever is offering this can speak first.
20
                MR. HUMMEL: So Keith Hummel for Elements.
21
                Mr. Sanchez Escarcega is only on our witness 22
           It is not on plaintiffs' original witness list.
23
                THE COURT: And live witness or deposition 24 in lieu thereof?
25
                MR. HUMMEL:
                             It is going to be a deposition

in lieu thereof.
            THE COURT: So you have already designated the portions of the deposition by just following the local rule, marking those in some way for the Court to read, correct?
            MR. HUMMEL:
                         That's correct, Your Honor.
            I believe what we submitted to you was the entire set of designations from both parties.
            I understand that Your Honor prefers to have testimony from one witness at one time, rather than breaking it up into two sections.
            THE COURT: I see what you mean. So if both sides were to call that witness as their witness, yes, my preference would be to have all of the witness' testimony rather than one party call the witness and then the other side call the witness again in another day or two. That is my preference.
            So I should understand that his testimony will be presented by deposition. And the objections that have been filed are objections to the portions of the deposition that had been designated?
                         That's correct, Your Honor.
            MR. HUMMEL:
And our position is that since this is our witness, he should be -- his testimony should be played in our case.
            THE COURT:
                        Okay. So that was my next question.

          When would you expect this witness would be prepared to rule on the objections, all before you are ready to read the deposition so that you will know what to read?

videotape to play to the jury.
            THE COURT: Same thing, the question is when?
            MR. HUMMEL: To answer your question of when, Your Honor, I don't have the full extent of when the plaintiffs are going to be done with their case.
                                                      Ιn fact, I don't have an official designation even of the witnesses who are being called tomorrow.
            But I would expect that if we are sitting tomorrow, and Mr. Berg takes up next Tuesday, you know, the earliest that we would get to Mr. Escarcega would probably be on Friday of next week.
            THE COURT: Of next week?
            MR. HUMMEL: So you have time, Your Honor.
            THE COURT:
                        Right. So we will, every day at the end of the day, go over the witnesses to be called for the next day, the exhibits to be used, just as we did last night.

But I looked at those emails that were addressed last night, and it appeared to me what the parties were agreeing to, is you would have 24 hours' notice.
            If that is the understanding of both sides, regardless of who may be presenting evidence, then that is something that you need to do. The opposing side within 24 hours or whatever period of time that it might be, should know the identity of witness, the exhibits to be used. And then when the Court asks that, we don't have to spend half the night here, because you will just simply tell me, the other side has it already, and these are the names and these are the exhibits. So that's what I expect will happen.
            I am concerned, if it's true, that the plaintiffs who may be calling witnesses tomorrow, one or two, that the defendants don't know who that second witness will be.
            MR. HUMMEL: And the exhibits, Your Honor.
            THE COURT: And the exhibits to be used as well.
            And then because I am not here on Friday, tomorrow -- or tonight probably -- probably this evening
I will be looking at who are the witnesses to be called on Tuesday, the exhibits to be used with those witnesses

1 and so forth. Because we won't have time to do this 2
    before Tuesday.
                Tomorrow we will have a short session to accommodate at least one witness, possibly two. But I 4 will not have time to stay and go through the exercise
    of who are the witnesses and the exhibits to be used.
7
    So I will expect that you will have already done that 8 for Tuesday's witnesses. So I raise that question and expect that you tell me that's been covered.
10
                So anything further for defense counsel on 11 either the issue I raised or just your concern about, do 12 you know which exhibit is going to be used with which 13 witness tomorrow?
                MR. HUMMEL: I am very concerned that I don't know which exhibits are going to be used tomorrow.
15
                THE COURT: Let me hear from plaintiffs' counsel.
18
                First, do you wish to address the document 19 that I referenced, and that is, the deposition 20 designations for the witness whose deposition will be 21 presented to the jury?
22
                MS. BIVENS: Yes, Your Honor. Plaintiffs are happy to withdraw our designations if the 24 designations that were filed by Elements are the 2.5
    designations that we made. And we can work that out with the Elements' counsel if it's okay with the Court.
```

1
2
                THE COURT: So does that suggest -- and
    something to talk about -- maybe there are no objections to the designated part, so there is nothing for the 4
    Court to read in advance. So maybe you can have that 5 conversation and just let me know. Obviously, I don't need to read it if I don't need to read it.
7
8
                MS. BIVENS: Yes.
                THE COURT: And then for exhibits that will
10
    be used with either one or two witnesses who will be 11 called tomorrow, you may make a statement for the record 12 concerning that.
13
                MS. BIVENS: Yes, Your Honor. We sent them about 20 minutes ago, the demonstrative that will be used for Christina Cappellini, as well as the exhibits.
    And also we sent the exhibits that will be used for
    David Brown.
17
18
                THE COURT: About 20 minutes ago?
19
                MS. BIVENS: Yes.
20
                THE COURT: So we want to do better than 21 that. And I need counsel to tell me, if your 22 understanding is 24-hours' notice to the other side, 23 name of witness and exhibits to be used, then that's 24 what you need to honor.
2.5
                MS. BIVENS:
                             Okay.

THE COURT: So when I ask, you'll be able to tell me "We've done that already." And I shouldn't hear anything to the contrary for the other side. If your agreement is not 24 hours, then it is whatever you have agreed to.
            But as I said, when I ask today that question after the jury leaves, it looks like everybody will be prepared to respond to me. But the 24-hours' notice is generally what I see in the civil cases. So I think 24 hours is good. It seems to me there are enough lawyers here that you can make that happen.
            But if your understanding is something different, then you can just indicate to the Court.
           MS. BIVENS: Yes, Your Honor. We received the exhibits from defendants yesterday morning, so we just followed suit. That was 24 hours.
            THE COURT: Let's don't follow suit. Let's have counsel meet and discuss this.
           MS. BIVENS:
                        Okay.
            THE COURT: Whoever is responsible for doing this, let those two people meet, one from each side, come to some understanding as to when things are going to be disclosed and honor that.
            Then we don't need to have a lot of discussion about it. It works for both of you because obviously you want to know in advance so you can 2 prepare.
```

1
3 MS. BIVENS: Yes, Your Honor. Thank you for clarifying.
5
                THE COURT: And then there is one more 6
    filing, I believe. No. They seem to relate to the same 7 thing. So one is the deposition designations, and the other one is the index of plaintiffs' deposition designation and defendants' counter designations and objections thereto.
10
11
                So at this point, it looks like there are 12 objections. So I would order counsel to meet and confer 13
    and see if you can't resolve that.
                What parts of the deposition does each side
15 designate to be read? And if -- and whether there are 16 any objections thereto.
17
                If there are no objections, then the Court 18 doesn't need to be involved in it. If there are, then I 19 need to rule.
20
                MS. BIVENS: Yes, Your Honor. We will work 21 with the other side to clarify the designation 22 objections.
23
                THE COURT: Okay. I'll just ask the clerk, 24 are all of our jurors here?
                THE CLERK: No. We are missing one.

THE COURT: Are there any other matters that you wish to raise with the Court? Apparently we are missing one juror. If not, I'll let you take a break. If so, I will listen. MR. HUMMEL: Your Honor, I don't know -sorry. Keith Hummel for Elements. I don't know when the proper time for Your Honor to consider this issue, but when we received the designation of the order of witnesses from Globefill, they included a witness that was not on their joint -it was actually not on the witness list from the joint exhibit list. It was not a witness who was disclosed in any of their Rule 26 disclosures; essentially a surprise, new witness, Ms. Elise Lichtman. And we would move to have that name stricken and her testimony not permitted given the egregiously late disclosure of her. She has never been deposed. She was not identified as a witness or a person of knowledge of the Globefill claims or defenses in this case. THE COURT: All right. So the proper time to consider it and for the Court to rule on it, is sometime prior to the witness being called. So I will ask plaintiffs first, just when would you plan to call this witness if the Court should allow?

                MS. BIVENS: Your Honor, we are calling the 2
    witness Elise Lichtman as a rebuttal witness.
3
                THE COURT: And so then the question would be whether it really constitutes rebuttal. So when the time comes, and the plaintiffs announce that they wish to call the witness as a rebuttal witness, I will 7 require them to make a proffer. If the Court finds it 8 to be rebuttal, and it goes to -- it -- if the Court finds that it in fact is rebuttal, then the Court may allow the witness to be called, and our rules make room 11 for that. So that discussion can be held when we get to 12 that point of rebuttal.
10
13
                But I would require the proffer, and then the Court will rule on whether the witness can be called. So I don't think we need to discuss it any 16 further at this point.
15
17
                MS. BIVENS: Thank you, Your Honor.
18
                THE COURT: Are there other matters that 19 either side thinks may come up today? If you have any, 20
    I will let you raise them.
21
                If not, I was just going to ask, are there 22 any exhibits that will be used today to which there are 23 objections? There might not be any. We discussed this 24 a little bit last night.
2.5
                But if there are no exhibits that you plan to use today to which there are objections, then I would deem all the exhibits admitted.

publish them. You don't have to go through the exercise of first marking them and then offering them, those steps that we normally would go through. They should already be marked. If no objections, they're deemed admitted, and you may use them in the manner which you wish.

Counsel.

MR. HUMMEL: Your Honor, I just have a housekeeping issue, I have the bottles which we discussed yesterday in a box over here. And I am wondering where to place them. Or if I would hand them to the jury during openings, how we would handle that mechanically.

THE COURT: Well, I think last night we said the actual getting it to the jury would be done by the courtroom deputy. So you would actually give them to her. So you can ask her where does she want them. And you can tell her how you would refer to them so that she'll know when. Or you may even say, We would like to have the jury examine them. And then she will know which one, and she'll give it to the jury. So it's for the convenience of the clerk, just so she'll have it.

                MR. BERG: I also have a question about how to get the bottle to the jury. I just have two of the bottles. I want to hold them myself for a while.
                How do I get them to the deputy so it can be taken to them?
                THE COURT: You walk around like you did to get it to her. You may even say, "I would like to

Not unusual on the very first day to have a little stumble. I realize that you are not accustomed to coming to this courthouse. So it may take a little bit longer to travel here and there could be traffic issues and personal issues. But I will ask again today before you leave whether the eight o'clock start is actually good for everyone. So it's something that you may be thinking If it isn't good, if you've decided, I can't be there to start at eight o'clock, then I would adjust the time so we don't have some jurors here waiting and others jurors trying to get here. But we are ready to start now. You are going to hear the opening statement of counsel. It is often described as an outline or road map. So it is addressing what each side believes the evidence will be in the case, based upon their preparation of the case. Now, of course, the statement they will be making to you is not evidence. Remember, the lawyers are not witnesses to what happened that caused the lawsuit to be filed. So they are not testifying. They are not under oath. They are simply making a statement to the jury.

I have placed some time limits on it, so they would like to be able to make a longer statement, but I'm anxious for you to actually hear the evidence that will be given by witnesses who will be testifying and exhibits that may be received.

            You will hear an opening statement from each
      And then after that, the Court will give some preliminary instructions to the jury. And the first witness will be called.
            So our break will be proximately two hours from now. If anyone needs a break sooner, it is just a matter of raising your hand or indicating to me in some way that you need me to consider why your hand may be raised. And then we can take an earlier break if we have to. But trying to manage the trial in a way that you will be sitting for approximately two hours, then we'll have a short break and then you'll come back and sit for an additional two hours with maybe another break, depending on what time that happens to be.
            So at this point, we are going to commence and plaintiffs' counsel may make the opening statement.

            Ladies and gentlemen, this is the Crystal Head Vodka bottle. It was the first bottle in the history of this country, first skull-shaped bottle ever to contain alcoholic beverages to be sold in the marketplace.
            Never happened before. We know it never happened before because this man and this man, my clients, John Alexander, Danny Aykroyd, made sure we

1 were not infringing on someone else's bottle selling 2 alcohol. I want you to remember that it came to 3 market it September of 2008. September of 2008. 4 Now, I'm going to tell you how this bottle 5 came to be. It came to be from these two friends right 6 7 here. They've known each other, at that point, in 8 either late 2005 or early 2006, they can't remember exactly, on a snowy evening. And the two of them were 9 10 talking. 11 And Danny was talking about a new business 12 he was in. Danny, the actor, is also a businessman, as 13 you will find out. Danny had gone into the wine and spirits business, and he will talk to you about that in 14 15 length when he testifies later on in the trial. But Johnny had an idea. Johnny is a 16 17 wonderful artist. I'm going to brag on him a bit. His 18 works are carried in -- have been acquired by the Museum 19 of Modern Art, the Los Angeles County Museum and the 20 Smithsonian, among many. 21 But he also has a side to him that is very, 22 very interesting. He thought for a long time -- and

But he also has a side to him that is very, very interesting. He thought for a long time -- and we'll tell you why later. He thought for a long time that a skull would make a great vessel to sell alcoholic beverages in. Johnny wanted to sell tequila. But Dan, for reasons related to a relationship with a friend who was also in the tequila business, said no, he wanted to see pure vodka in the bottle. And that's when they began, late 2005, early 2006, doing the really hard work it took to bring this bottle to market. One of the things that cements their friendship is that these guys both come from working class backgrounds, where they learned a great deal about hard work and developed a great work ethic. Danny was a postal carrier. At 14 he worked for the railway as warehouseman. We'll tell you more about that. Johnny worked in the oil fields in south Texas where he's from. Not in his family oil fields, I can tell you that. They were just oil fields, where he did contracting work and built roads of wood so that they could bring the heavy equipment across. These are not guys who came from anything but working class backgrounds who came to a certain point in their life and poured that work ethic into would be original. Because that is what an artist does.

An artist does not want to copy someone else. Someone with integrity in their work, as Johnny has, doesn't want to copy someone.
            Danny went about the business of -- he advised, they conferred about what the bottle should look like -- and we'll go into detail about that. And that took quite some time. Danny shopped around the world for the right bottle maker. The right bottle maker was in Italy, Bruni, which used crystal that comes from Slovenia.
           MR. AYKROYD: Slovenia.
           MR. BERG: The answer to that question is Slovenia.
           And -- that's the one the joys of representing Danny and John.
            In any event, this was the product. It came to market in 2008 in September. These guys hoped to sell 5,000 cases the first year. There was so much press, and it was Danny's celebrity, they sold 5,000 cases within the first few weeks. It was huge, game-changing hit, spectacular, lots of press.
            Two years later, two years later in November or December of 2010, this bottle came out KAH Tequila.
There are three different bottles, but I am going to show this one for right now. I am going to ask the courtroom deputy to pass them around so you can see them.

So how is it that never before had there been a skull-shaped bottle selling alcoholic beverages, and along comes another one that is skull shaped, that has sculpted features, defined features, a tilted spout -- and that's a story in and of itself. It's a very expensive decision put a titled spout on a bottle. And we don't know other bottles with titled spouts. It would be ever so much easier to make a bottle that the liquor poured in this way straight down. That's how the machinery works. Odd coincidence.

So what happened between 2008 and 2010? We believe that Ms. Brandi, Kim Brandi or Kimmy Brandi, as I heard her called, had the opportunity and motive to copy our bottle and bring the bottle to market that was -- that infringed on our trade dress, as the Judge called it yesterday, the skull-shaped bottle.

Let me show you what I mean. There is a magazine called Beverage Industry News. This is the issue, if you look at your screens, that came out in February-March of 2009. Now, our bottle had been on the market for six months. This was an insert in that magazine. It was a feature story about new products.

Kim Brandi was the editor and chief of this magazine.
Kim Brandi was able to see our bottle. I don't know if she'll deny seeing it. I think we can show you by what's called the preponderance of the evidence that she had to have seen it.
            And so it was that that was the first step.
And remember there was huge press within the beverage industry, because it was Danny. And Danny was out going from city to city often with Johnny. I think they went to 35 states. Danny went to 35 states and countless cities that we will talk about within the first year and a half. This was not easy. This has hard work to try to make this a success.
            Now, let me tell you about what Ms. Brandi's motive was. She founded a company called Elements.
Elements owns KAH Tequila. There are three more bottles -- there are other bottles, too, in different colors, but I just wanted you to see the example -- and I'm going to -- I was going to ask the courtroom deputy to circulate these to the jury, but she seems to have disappeared.
            THE COURT: Well, I will ask someone on my staff to just pick up the bottles that you wish the jury to examine.
           MR. BERG:
                      Yes, ma'am.

THE COURT: So at this point, to aid counsel in his opening statement, he would like for the jurors to see the bottles that he is addressing. Those will be passed among you. We'll start with the first juror to be seated. You can make the examination of the bottle and then just pass it on to the next juror. MR. BERG: What we will tell you is, that they just painted our bottle. There are differences. If you are going to do a knockoff of someone else's product, you don't make it exactly the same. So there are some differences. And we agree with those -- that there are differences. But what you have to understand about the bottle that Juror No. 3 just passed, the KAH Tequila bottle, is it is a cheap knockoff made, you will not be surprised to learn, in China. Danny went all over the world to find really, I think, probably the best glass company conceivable for this bottle, Bruni in Italy. And that bottle was made in China. Now, let me tell you about something that happened. Let me bring you forward in time. So our bottle has been on the market since 2008. It's going great guns. Nobody had seen anything like these sales, even more than some of the really big, skyrocketing vodkas. Here is what happened. There is something called the Las Vegas Restaurant and Bar Trade Show. It's one of the biggest in the industry every year. All the vendors, all the consumers, the people who buy and sell alcohol come there to see what's new on the market, what's old on the market. Well, Kim Brandi decided that she was going to -- not release her bottle. Her bottle didn't come out until fall, until November-December, 2010. But she decided she was going to show the world, the liquor world her bottle. And so she created a magazine. She had been in the publishing end of the business. I told you she was editor and chief of Beverage Industry News. She created her own magazine called Liquid Living. There will be evidence, ladies and gentlemen, we intend to prove, that she called a woman by the name of Lucillia Crowe at a company called Infinium. Infinium is Globefill's importer. Globefill is made in Canada, in Newfoundland. You have to have an importer. They have hundred of brands in Newfoundland. There is going to be testimony from Ms. Crow that Kim Brandi called her and said, We have a vacancy,

If you can see, the highlight on the first page -- or the front page is KAH Tequila. The back page has three -- all three of her bottles of KAH Tequila. There is a three-page spread on KAH Tequila in her magazine. She is promoting it. She is coming to market. Then there is another page with three of her bottles. And now we are going to find out where the ad that our that Infinium innocently sent to Liquid Living Magazine came out. This is the centerfold, ladies and gentlemen. Next to Kim Brandi's picture -- she's on the left, and that is her cofounder on the right. Next to her picture is Crystal Head Vodka, an attempt to piggyback on all of our hard work. An attempt to exploit the time, money and energy that these two men and others, like Jonathan Hemi over here, the managing director of the company, others who put in to make this

This was an attempt, we think, intentionally to confuse the consumer, the ordinary consumer, the people at that show and other shows that she went to, we think this was an attempt, we think the evidence will clearly show it was an attempt to create confusion about the source of KAH Tequila and Crystal Head Vodka, an attempt to make it appear that KAH Tequila was part of our family of products. That's why we are here in this courtroom, to fight, to defend what was a distinctive, one-of-a-kind -- the bottles have disappeared. One of the lawyers is probably drinking it. You have a distinctive, one-of-a-kind bottle that's just never been done before. It deserves the protection of a Court. Ιt deserves the protection of reasonable men and woman who can look at the evidence and make a significant decision about whether or not Kim Brandi and Elements have infringed on our trade dress, the skull bottle, as Her Honor told you yesterday, about the source, to create confusion about the source of the bottle, because they are confusingly similar. There are differences in the bottle, we readily concede that. One is painted, one isn't painted. Ours isn't painted. They've got three painted bottles.

But this is not a case about someone walking into a liquor store wanting to buy KAH Tequila and buying instead a bottle of Crystal Head Vodka, or someone wanting to buy a bottle of Crystal Head Vodka and buying a bottle of tequila. It is not a case about the dissimilarities. I mean, one is painted, one isn't. It's a case about the similarities.

That's what the defendants have to explain to you. How was it that two years after we came out with Ms. Brandi's exposure -- she had been in the liquor industry, in publication mostly, for more than two decades when we came out with our bottle. They have to explain to you, how did these similarities occur?

You've got the same skull shape, never been done before. You've got that tilted head; about the same size; and these defined features.

I heard secretary Clinton say, You're in the campaign when you see a turtle on top of a fence post.

It didn't get there by accident.

This is not a series of coincidences. The proof in this case -- we intend to prove that the bottle was copied with an intentional -- with the intent to infringe on our trade dress.

After the trade show in Las Vegas, Danny and John had their lawyers send what is called a cease and desist letter. It was a letter that you'll see in the evidence when the time comes that told Ms. Brandi -- I mean, by the time the show was over, we knew all about KAH Tequila -- KAH Tequila in Liquid Living Magazine. THE COURT: Counsel has five minutes. MR. BERG: We sent a cease and desist letter to Ms. Brandi courteously asking her not to go to market with her bottle. Now, she obviously knew about our She put it in her magazine. She had the cease and desist order. Let me tell you one other coincidence. Do you know who the keynote speaker was at that Las Vegas convention? It was Danny. Danny Aykroyd was there to talk about Crystal Head Vodka and talk about the business that he was trying to make a success and was being successful. So all these coincidences tell you that she went into the sale and marketing of her product, which came out later that year, in November of 2010, intentionally, with full knowledge of our bottle, and with the intent to make it appear that KAH Tequila was part of our family of products or vice versa. And now, all over the country, when you go into a liquor store you will see these two bottles side by side. Usually you see tequila over on one side, vodka over on another, scotch here, bourbon there. You see them elsewhere. You see them separated.

Now we're going to show you evidence of those bottles sold side by side and the confusion even among the retailers about whether or not KAH and Crystal Head are manufactured by the same company.

It is kind of an identity theft. It is not like stealing your credit card. But it is borrowing all the hard work that it took to put this together. All of the time, energy and money.

It is a simple matter. It's in King James, Exodus 20: Thou shall not steal. Thou shall not covet thy neighbor's property. It is simple matter of doing what's right and doing what's wrong.

In closing, I want to tell you, and I'm really not trying to ingratiate myself to you, what you do is really important. Every lawyer in this courtroom, every person in this courtroom believes in the 7th Amendment right to this jury trial. It has probably never been as important to underscore the importance of your role, probably in the history of our country.

You are the sole judges of the facts. Her Honor will instruct you on the law. It will be your decision. It is in your hands as to the facts of this

We think the evidence will lead you to the conclusion that I suggest to you today, that KAH Tequila, the bottles that you looked at, are a knockoff of our very beautiful bottle, Crystal Head Vodka.
            Thank you.
            THE COURT: The defense will now make its opening statement.
            MR. HUMMEL: I just have to organize my own props.
            Good morning, ladies and gentlemen of the jury.
            As I introduced myself before, I am Keith Hummel.
         I represent Elements Spirits. You met my team.
Later today, throughout this trial, they are going to be standing at this podium addressing you and addressing witnesses as we go through this.
            This is the Crystal Head Vodka. I will start the same way Mr. Berg did. No one is disputing that Crystal Head Vodka has rights on this bottle.
            But I want to be absolutely clear about something. Elements Spirits and Kim Brandi never copied this bottle. They have never sold a product in this bottle.
            Crystal Head's position is that anyone -- you'll hear this throughout the trial -- that anyone who sells an alcoholic beverage in any bottle that looks like a skull in any way infringes their trade dress.

That is a very broad statement.
            And we know in this country if you have rights to a trade dress, you are entitled to those rights. But you are not entitled to keep other unique products off the market. And that's what this trial is about.
            Mr. Berg addressed a lot of his parts of the
       It will come as no surprise to you that we disagree with the conclusions he reaches from the evidence that he chose to show you.
            But throughout the trial, you are going to hear Ms. Brandi talk about those items. And you will hear the fact that none of those conclusions that Mr. Berg has drawn are based in reality or in fact.
            But what I want to talk about is the fact that there are two companies here that achieved two different products in two completely different ways with two completely different inspirations.
            Essentially we have two products that are a result of two very different paths.
            The KAH Tequila brand -- and the word is KAH, K-A-H.
            The KAH Tequila brand was the invention of Kim Brandi. Kim Brandi is sitting right here in the courtroom today. And you will hear from Ms. Kim -- from 2

    Ms. Brandi when she takes the witness stand.
 3
                But for today Ms. Brandi, has to rely on me, and Elements has to rely on me to provide a summary of what the evidence is going to show here from our perspective.
7
                Ms. Brandi is going to be -- the evidence is 8 going to show that Ms. Brandi is the driving force between KAH -- behind KAH Tequila. It was her idea.

    was her creation. And it was her dream to bring that product to market.
12
                And she did it independent of what the 13
    Crystal Head Vodka folks were doing, what Mr. Aykroyd 14 was doing, and what Mr. Anderson was doing.
15
                You will see from Ms. Brandi that she drew 16 upon her Mexican-American heritage in designing her 17 product.
18
                She has extensive, as Mr. Berg said, 19 extensive experience in the beverage industry.
20
                But what he didn't tell you is that she 21 started as a bartender and she worked her way up in the 22 industry to a publisher, to a designer.
23
                And as many people do in that industry, you get the idea to create your own type of liquor brand.
    And she had that idea.

And the idea that she had which sparked when she worked on a thing called the -- if I get the word right -- Spirits of Mexico Festival in 2006. And she started learning all about tequila. Tequila is a unique product that is only made in one province of tequila. It is extensively drunk in Mexico and also in this country. She learned how it was made. It is made from agave, a plant. She learned how it is distilled. She learned the certifications you need. She learned all about tequila. And then she had her idea. What if I make a tequila with the Day of the Dead celebration themes? What is the Day of the Dead? The Day of the Dead is an ancient Mexican celebration. It is now celebrated around the time the Catholics celebrate All Souls Day and All Saints Day. And it is a celebration of the life of the deceased loved ones. And it is celebrated by visiting the graves of the deceased. And it is celebrated by preparing gifts and bringing them to the graves. There are certain images associated with the Day of the Dead that Ms. Brandi wanted to use:

similar to the grim reaper; the devil; skeletons.

wanted to put them on a tequila bottle. She thought she

1 had a great idea. 2 I'm going to marry the Day of the Dead celebration, the uniquely Mexican holiday, with tequila, 3 the uniquely Mexico product. 4 What does she do? She started designing a 5 She was going about, trying to figure out what 6 7 kind of bottle to make. She was going to put it in a 8 black bottle with the characters on it. She took her kids one day, the evidence will 9 10 show, to Venice Beach. If you've been to Venice Beach, you know that there are people selling all sorts of 11 stuff out there. 12 13 And there was a big crowd gathered around a bunch of tables. And on those tables piled high were 14 15 these little calaveras. Calaveras are caricatures 16 cartoons, most of a skull, that are prepared out of 17 sugar during the Day of the Dead celebrations. 18 And she had her essentially eureka moment. 19 What if I take these calaveras -- which, by the way, 20 were selling like hot cakes. People were paying 20 21 bucks for these little painted calaveras by these 22 artists. What if I married the calaveras to the Day of 23 the Dead celebration? That's what she started to do.

She didn't go find a bottle, Crystal Head Vodka. What she did was she bought little calaveras.

            Now, Mr. Berg in his opening, said there

Why? Because he thinks these look the same.
           But this case here is about all of these bottles. And does this trade dress -- when these bottles are displayed next to each other in the store, do they create the impression of their own trade dress, or are they confusingly similar to that? We believe the evidence will show absolutely no possibility of few alterations and you're done. But just like the path that Mr. Alexander and Mr. Aykroyd and the others at Globefill took, it took a long, long time. The evidence will show that it took Ms. Brandi a real long time. She founded Elements so that she could market the KAH Tequila. And everything seemed to be going well. It seemed like her dream was going to be realized. And then, boom, out of the blue, Globefill sends what Mr. Berg calls a cease and desist letter. cease and desist letter is either a politely or impolitely worded letter that says: Stop what you are doing or we are going to sue you. And Globefill waited all of one week -- I think it was even less than a week -- and sued Ms. Brandi, and put everything into turmoil for her. Delayed the introduction, as you will hear from her, of her tequila bottle, delayed her dream while she found a way around this lawsuit. This started in a kitchen table. It didn't start in an artist's loft. It wasn't a world renowned artist that did this. This was one person and one person's dream. And that person is in the courtroom, and you will hear extensively from her.

The issue here, though, is likelihood of confusion. And as you hear the evidence from all the witnesses, I want you to keep a few things in mind about whether there is truly any likelihood of confusion in the eyes and minds of an ordinary consumer who is exercising his or her common sense, because you don't have to throw common sense out. Would a person considering everything about these bottles be confused between the two, between the source or origin of them? And there are a couple of things I want you to think of as you hear the evidence. First, the two brands used completely different marketing themes. You heard, and you will hear, that KAH is associated with the Day of the Dead, closely associated with the Day of the Dead, a uniquely Mexican celebration. This skull is based on a completely different theme. It is based on something called "The legend of the 13 crystal skulls." Which Mr. Berg did not mention in his opening, but you will hear

The legend, which I didn't know anything about until I started working on this case, is that aliens or star children, whatever you want to call them, placed 13 crystal skulls thousands of years ago around the world. And that they were used by shamans to see into the future for their tribes.

            That's the basis for this head. In fact,
Mr. Aykroyd, when he saw Mr. Alexander's drawings, thought that this looked like one of the -- the drawing looked like one of the skulls something called the Mitchell-Hedges skull.
            So the marketing campaign around Crystal
Head has been purity, purity, purity. Glass is pure.
The vodka is pure. There are no -- allegedly no impurities in it whatsoever.
            The whole idea was a Canadian product. And there's a box, which you'll see. There's a box that tells the story of the insert, which tells the story of the 13 crystal skulls. And it talks all about the pure waters of Newfoundland and the grain that's used from Canada to make the vodka. So clarity, purity, all playing off the legend of the 13 crystal skulls.
            The tequila is made in four different colors. And is marketed under the Day of the Dead celebration.
            Two, there are different liquids here.

There is no cross-over between the products.

Crystal Head does not make a tequila. KAH does not make a vodka. There is no cross-over.

And I'm sure many of you have been to a liquor store or a grocery store or some other store that sells different liquors, and the liquors are actually sold in different locations, in the vast majority of places, the evidence will show.

The vodka, logically enough, common sense will tell you, is placed in the vodka section. The KAH Tequila is placed in the tequila section.

The evidence will show that when someone goes to shop for their favorite vodka, if it be Crystal Head, they are not going to get confused if it's not there and wander over to the tequila aisle and pick up this because they think it's their own vodka.

There is not any possibility of confusion here. It defies common sense. And there may be instances where during Halloween the store may place a bunch of products, these and others, bottles with skeletons on it.

But consumers are -- they use common sense.

They know that if there is a display in the beginning of the store with Halloween-themed products, that not all of those products are made by the same producer. It is just common sense. Then, finally, you are going to hear a lot of witnesses; but, unfortunately, the bottles, although they have mouths, can't talk. You are going to see and touch these bottles. You are going to look at intricate details of them. Crystal Head -- and just to point out a few of them, which are obvious to you sitting in the jury box. Crystal Head Vodka is clear. The KAH Tequila bottles are opaque. The Crystal Head bottle has no decoration, sticking with its theme. The KAH Tequila bottles are highly decorated. Just look at the Resposado. The Resposado has the diablito. It has burning eyes. It has teeth that are painted on. It has decoration on this side. Actually has all sorts of decorations on it. The others are equally decorated. The texture of the bottles, as you felt them, two of them, is very different. This is meant to be an anatomically correct skull. And there will be testimony about that. There are teeth. There are temples. There are eye sockets. This is meant to be a caricature, calaveras. It has cheeks that you would never see in a skull. Ιt

After all the evidence has been presented and the closing arguments by counsel, I will read instructions of law. During the course of presentation of evidence, I may read some of the instructions to help you follow the evidence that's being given and understand what the law requires or what the law says about the legal issues that will ultimately be determined as the jury finds the facts. You are now the jury in the case. It is my duty to instruct you on the law. It is your duty to find the facts from all the evidence in the case. To those facts, you will apply the law as I give it to you. You must follow the law as I give it to you whether you agree with it or not. And you must not be influenced by any personal likes or dislikes, opinions, prejudices, or sympathy.

solely on the evidence before you. You will recall that you took an oath to do so. At the end of the trial, I will give you final instructions. It is the final instructions that will govern your duties. Please do not read into these instructions anything that I may say or do that I have an opinion regarding the evidence or what your verdict should be. When a party has the burden of proving any claim by a preponderance of the evidence, it means you must be persuaded by the evidence that the claim is probably true than not true. You should base your decision on all the evidence, regardless of which party presents it. You must decide the case as to each defendant separately. Unless otherwise stated, the instructions apply to all parties. What is the evidence? The evidence that you are to consider in deciding what the facts are consists of: One, the sworn testimony of any witness; two, the exhibits which are admitted into evidence; three, any facts to which the lawyers have agreed; and four, any facts that might -- that I may instruct you to accept as proved. Some things are not evidence. And this instruction helps -- gives you guidance as to what those things may be. In reaching your verdict, you may consider only the testimony and the exhibits received into evidence. Certain things are not evidence, and you may not consider them in deciding what the facts are. will list them for you. Number one: Arguments and statements by lawyers are not evidence. So you just heard the opening statements by the attorneys, and that's not evidence. The lawyers are not witnesses. What they have said in their opening statements may -- and in their closing arguments, and at other times is intended to help you interpret the evidence but is not evidence. If the facts, as you remember them, differ from the way the lawyers have stated them, it is your memory of them that controls. Two, any questions or objections by lawyers are not evidence. Attorneys have a duty to their clients to object when they believe a question is improper, under the rules of evidence. You should not be influenced by the objection or by the Court's ruling on it. Number three, testimony that is excluded or stricken or that you are instructed to disregard is not evidence and must not be considered.

In addition, some evidence may be received only for a limited purpose. When I instruct you to consider certain evidence only for a limited purpose, you must do so, and you may not consider that evidence for any other purpose.

Number four, anything that you may see or hear when the Court is not in session is not evidence. You are to decide the case solely on the evidence received at trial.

So it may be that if you were in common areas of the courthouse, you may see parties in this case or the attorneys talking, that's -- if you overhear their conversation, that's not evidence because we are not in session.

So this instruction gives you guidance. In session means that you are in the box, the Judge is on the bench, and the lawyers are at their tables. That means we are in session.

So anything else that you may see or hear when we are not in session is not evidence in the case, even if you think it may be related to the case.

And I ask that you bring that to my attention. So if you overhear something, you see something, you have some confusion, well, is that something we should consider? Is it evidence? You will

1 tell the courtroom deputy. She will relay that to me, 2 and I will speak with you if it is necessary. 3 Some evidence may be admitted only for a limited purpose, and that does happen in some trials. 4 And when it does occur, the Court gives an instruction 5 to the jury as to the purpose for which this evidence 6 7 has been received, and you must follow that limiting instruction. 8 Evidence may be direct or circumstantial. 9 10 Direct evidence is direct proof of a fact; such as testimony by a witness about what that witness 11 12 personally saw or heard or did. 13 Circumstantial evidence is proof of one of more facts from which you may find another fact. 14 15 You should consider both kinds of evidence. The law makes no distinction between the weight to be 16 17 given to either direct or circumstantial evidence. It 18 is for you to decide how much weight to give to any 19 evidence. 20 There are rules of evidence that control what can be received into evidence. 21 22 When a lawyer asks a question or offers an 23 exhibit into evidence, and the lawyer on the other side 24 thinks it is not permitted by the rules of evidence, 2.5 that lawyer may object.

If I overrule the objection, the question may be answered or the exhibit received. If I sustain the objection, the question cannot be answered and the exhibit cannot be received.

When I sustain an objection to a question, you must ignore the question. You must not guess what the answer might have been.

Sometimes I may order that evidence be stricken from the record, and that you disregard or ignore that evidence. That means that when you are deciding the case, you must not consider the stricken evidence for any purpose.

In deciding the facts in the case you may have to determine which testimony to believe, which testimony not to believe.

You may believe everything a witness says or part of it or none of it. In considering the testimony of any witness, you may take into account, number one, the opportunity and ability of the witness to see or hear or know the things testified to.

Number two, the witness' memory. Number three, the witness' manner while testifying. Number four, the witness' interest in the outcome of the case, if any. Number five, the witness' bias or prejudice, if any. Number six, whether other witnesses contradicted the witness' testimony. Number seven, the reasonableness of the witness' testimony in light of all the evidence. And number eight, any other factors that bear on believability. Sometimes a witness may say something that is not consistent with something else he or she said. Sometimes different witnesses will given different versions of what happened. People often forget things or make mistakes in what they remember. Also, two people may see the same event or remember it differently. You may consider these differences. But do not decide that testimony is untrue just because it differs from other testimony. However, if you decide that a witness has deliberately testified untruthfully about something important, you may choose not to believe anything that witness said. On the other hand, if you think the witness testified untruthfully about some things but told the truth about other things, you may accept the part you think is true and ignore the rest. The weight of the evidence as to a fact, does not necessarily depend on the number of witnesses

witnesses were and how much weight you think their testimony deserves. Let me say a few words about your conduct as jurors. First, keep an open mind throughout the trial. Do not decide what the verdict should be until you and your fellow jurors have come completed your deliberations at the end of the case. Second, because you must decide this case based only on the evidence received in the case and on my instructions as to law that applies, you must not be exposed to any other information about the case or the issues it involves during the course of your jury duty. Thus, until the end of the case or unless I tell you otherwise, do not communicate with anyone in any way. Do you not let anyone else communicate with you in any way about the merits of the case or anything to do with it. This includes discussing the case in person, in writing, by phone, or electronic means, via email, text messaging or any Internet chatroom, blog, Website

This includes discussing the case in person, in writing, by phone, or electronic means, via email, text messaging or any Internet chatroom, blog, Website or application, including but not limited to Facebook, YouTube, Twitter, Instagram, LinkedIn, Snapchat or any other form of social media.

This applies to communicating with your fellow jurors until I give you the case for deliberation, and it applies to communicating with everyone else, including your family members, your employer, the media, or the press. And the people involved in the trial.

Although you may notify your family and your employer that you have been seated as a juror in the case, and how long you expect the trial to last, but if you're asked or approached in any way about your jury service or anything about this case, you must respond that you have been ordered not to discuss the matter and report that contact to the Court.

Because you will receive all the evidence and the legal instructions you properly may consider to return a verdict, do not read, watch or listen to any news or media accounts or commentary about the case or anything to do with it.

Although I have no information that there will be news reports about the case, do not do any research, such as consult in dictionaries, searching the Internet or using other reference materials.

And do not make any investigation or in any other way try to learn about the case on your own. Do not visit or view any place that is discussed in the case.

Do you not use Internet programs or other

1 devices to search for or view any place discussed during 2 the trial. 3 Also, do not do any research about the case, the law, or the people involved, including the parties, 4 the witnesses or the lawyers until you have been excused 5 as jurors. 6 7 If you happen to read or hear anything 8 touching on this case in the media, turn away and report it to me as soon as possible. So if it's print 9 10 material, I instruct you to bring it in with you, if you read something, even though inadvertent. Do not show it 11 12 to any of the jurors. And do not discuss it with them. 13 You would give it to the courtroom deputy. 14 She would give it to me. I would review it and question you if I think necessary. 15 These rules protect each party's right to 16 17

These rules protect each party's right to have this case decided only on the evidence that has been presented here in court. Witnesses here in court take an oath to tell the truth. And the accuracy of their testimony is tested through the trial process.

process. Each of the parties is entitled to a fair trial by an impartial juror. And if you decide the case based on information not presented in the court, you will have denied the parties a fair trial. Remember, you have taken an oath to follow the rules. And it is very important that you follow these rules. A juror who violates these restrictions jeopardizes the fairness of these proceedings, and a mistrial could result, that would require the entire trial process to start all over again, including jury selection. If any juror is exposed to any outside information, please notify the Court immediately. If there are any news media accounts or commentary about the case or anything to do with it, you must ignore it. You must not read, watch, listen to any news media account or commentary about the case, or anything to do with this. The case must be decided by you solely and exclusively on the evidence that will be received in the case, and on my instructions as to the law that applies. If any juror is exposed to any outside information, please notify me immediately.

trial testimony as it is given. During deliberations you will not have a transcript of the trial proceedings.
So even though we have a reporter here taking down every word, it may be transcribed, it may not; but that transcript would not be available to the jury.
            You will be relying on your memory, and any notes that you may take.
            If you wish, you may take notes, and that's why we gave you the note tablets, to help you remember the evidence.
            If you do take notes, please keep them to yourselves until you go to the jury room to decide the case.
            Do not let notetaking distract you.
you leave, your notes should be left in the courtroom.
No one will read them. They will be returned to you the next day.
            And then when you go in to deliberate after the end of the case, all the evidence is in, arguments have been made, instructions have been given, then you may take the note tablets with you.
            There should not be any other notes in those notebooks, because we are supposed to destroy those after a jury is excused. So if you find any notes, then you need to bring that to the Court's attention.

Whether or not you take notes, you should rely on your own memory of the evidence. Notes are only to assist your memory. You should not be overly influenced by your notes or those of other jurors.

And notetaking is like taking notes anywhere, this is not different. So if you attend a lecture or if you are work and someone is giving you information, you may take notes. But here remember, observing the witness' demeanor on the witness stand may be something that is important to your fact-finding function.

If you are not observing the witness because you are busy taking notes, that may be distracting, then you don't have that observation to consider during your deliberations.

A question that's commonly asked is whether the jurors are permitted to ask questions during the presentation of evidence. And the answer to that is yes, you are permitted to ask questions. This instruction gives you guidance as to how that will be done.

You will are allowed to propose written questions after the lawyers have completed their questioning of each witness. You may propose questions in order to clarify the testimony. But you are not to express any opinion about the testimony or argue with the witness. If you propose any questions, remember that your role is that of a neutral fact finder, not an advocate.

Before I excuse each witness, I will offer the opportunity to write out a question on a form provided by the Court. Do not sign the question. I will review the question with the attorneys to determine if it is legally proper.

So sometimes jurors may ask a question and none of us have the answer to that question, because this is a real situation that occurred. It is not a play that someone has written or a book that someone has written. So it could be that the answer will be, We don't know.

Other times jurors may ask questions about things that are not relevant, have nothing to do with the issues in this case, you are just curious. And the answer to that may be: Not relevant.

And then there are times that jurors will ask a question, and the Court and the parties know that another witness is going to testify to that subject, that is the subject of your question. So that answer may be, there will be a witness called later and that witness will explain.

However, since you are the fact finders, as you are listening to testimony, you may think of a question that you would like to have answered. So you are permitted to put that question in writing and pass it up. And if we can answer it, we will do so. As I said, if another witness is going to testify on that subject, that may be the instruction or the response the Court will give.

Witnesses are sometimes excused after they give their testimony. That's means they are free to leave. They are not here in the courthouse. They may go to work, home, whatever they would typically be doing. So if you wait to ask your questions after the witness has been excused or during deliberations, it maybe that that witness is no longer available to answer that question. So we may not be able to give you an answer because the witness has now left. That's why the Court will wait before the Court excuses a witness to respond to any question that you may have.

There are some proposed questions that I will not permit or I will not ask in the wording that's been submitted by the jury. This might happen either due to the rules of evidence or other legal reasons, or because the question is expected to be answered later in the case.

If I do not ask a proposed question, or if I rephrase the question, do not speculate as to the reasons. Do you give undue weight to questions you or other jurors propose. You should evaluate the answers to these questions in the same manner that you evaluate all of the evidence.

By giving you the opportunity to propose questions, I am not requesting or suggesting that you do so. It will often be the case that a lawyer has not asked a question because it is legally objectionable or because a later witness may be addressing that subject.

So if you have a question, what we ask you to do is not to identify yourself. Don't say "This is from Juror No. 1," or don't put your name on it. You pass it down to the end of the jury box. That juror, Juror No. 8, would hold up the paper.

Hopefully we are all paying attention and we'll notice there's a question. The courtroom deputy will take it. I will read it, discuss it with the lawyers before the witness leaves, and then try to respond to your question.

From time to time during the trial it may be necessary for me to talk with the attorneys out of the hearing of the jury, either by having a conference at the bench when the jury is present in the courtroom or by calling a recess.

Please understand that while you are waiting, we are working. The purpose of these conferences is not to keep relevant information from you, but to decide how certain evidence is to be treated under the rules and evidence and to avoid confusion and error.

Of course, we will do what we can to keep the number and length of these conferences to a minimum. I may not always grant an attorney's request for a conference. Do not consider my granting or denying a request for a conference as any indication of my opinion of the case or what your verdict should be.

Now, you saw some of this yesterday when we were selecting the jury, we went to sidebar and talked to jurors. I do try to minimize these conferences. As a matter of fact, I try not to have sidebars. And that's one of the reasons for the hours that you will be working.

When the jury is excused for the day, then the Court will meet with counsel to discuss anything that may come up the following day, so that the Court can rule on those things if necessary or give guidance to the lawyers. That way we can avoid sidebars. So that when you are in the box, you are actually listening to testimony that's being given by the witnesses.

So last night after you left we continued to work here to try to settle things that would be presented to you today in the form of evidence.

Trials proceed in the following way. First, each side may make an opening statement. And you've heard that. The opening statement is not evidence as I indicated. It is simply an outline to help you understand what that party expects the evidence will show. A party is not required to make an opening statement. But in this case, you did hear from both sides.

The plaintiff then presents evidence. So the plaintiff goes first, and counsel for the defendant may cross-examine any witness who were called by the plaintiff. Or in some instances, the defendant was planning to call that same witness, so the defendant will conduct its examination. So the jury gets to hear all that is being offered, all the evidence is being offered through a particular witness. So that we don't have to call the witness back next week or some other day. You should hear it while the witness is on the stand.

After evidence has been presented and both sides have rested, closing arguments will be made by the attorneys and the Court will then instruct you on the 2 law.

                So the last thing that you will hear will be instructions of law, the case will then be given to the 4
    jury so that you can retire to deliberate.
                That completes the read of the preliminary instructions.
7
8
                We will take our morning break probably an hour from now. Why don't we stand and stretch before we start the presentation of evidence.
10
11
                THE CLERK: So it appears the jury would like to take the break now.
13
                THE COURT: Why don't we take the morning break at this time. The break will be 15 minutes. So during that time take care of personal needs. But also 16 for those of you who want coffee or something that may 17 be available to you in the jury room, this would be time to do it.
15
19
                When you come back, we will be sitting and 20
    in session for two hours. We are in recess now.
    15 minutes.
21
22
                 (15-MINUTE RECESS.)
23
                THE COURT: Thank you. You may be seated.

    The first witness may be called.

                MR. BERG: Yes, Your Honor.
15
                THE COURT: I believe last night.

                MR. BERG:

                THE COURT: Exhibits meaning the containers

My -- the future of my career, the 13 trajectory that I went on after graduating from university was set in motion by a very good professor 14 15 who was an academician who taught art in a very 16 old-fashioned way, learning how to draw from models and 17 skulls and skeletons and still lives. Before you could 18 move up to the next level, you had to become proficient 19 in that. It was a very academic style of education that 20 he instilled in me. As soon as I graduated, I moved from Dallas to Houston, Texas, where I set up a studio in an old house. 1 2 I started my career there in Houston. Shortly after I moved to Houston, I got another 3 opportunity. Someone called me and asked me if I would 4 be a drawing instructor at the University of Houston. 5 6 And I said yes. 7 And that ended the painting and drawing. I ended 8 up teaching at the University of Houston from 1971 to 1979. 9 Were you selling your paintings at that point? 10 0. 11 Just gradually over that period of time I sold Α. 12 paintings, yes.

How would you describe the family you came from?

Well, Beaumont was a -- what's written about is a Α. bleak Gulf Coast industrial town. It was docks and shipbuilding and refineries, and surrounded by these very beautiful swamps and bayous -- what you think of as traditional West Louisiana, East Texas bayous, what you might call alligator country.

They were shipbuilding and refineries and -- my father was a much older man. He retired before I was born and he retired from working as a construction man primarily in the oil industry. But he was construction engineer. My mother was a clerk at a drug store and 2

    also a nurse.
       Q. If I might interrupt for a moment, let's talk about your relationship with your father for a minute.
4
    Did that have any effect on your art career?
5
           The fact that he was older allowed him -- and was
    retired, allowed him to spend time with me as a little 8
    boy. So when I was growing up -- Mr. Alexander, how old was your dad when you were 9
       Q.
    born?
11
       Α.
           He was 68.
12
           How many years did you have your dad?
       Q.
13
       Α.
           He died when I was 19 years old.
14
       Q.
           What happened in between that had an effect on your art career?
16
           Well, he made -- he allowed me to become an avid 17 naturalist. I loved being outdoors. I loved to go in 18
    the bayou country and fish, camp out. We spent enormous 19 amounts of time because we had that opportunity to spend 20 in nature. And he was a great naturalist and a very avid believer in the outdoors. And so he instilled that in me.
23
       Q. How did that translate later into your painting?
24
    What is your main kind of painting?

THE COURT: We have two questions. One,

1 please. 2 MR. BERG: I'm sorry. 3 BY MR. BERG: Ο. What is your main kind of painting? 4 We'll, I'm primary known as a person who paints 5 6 kind of romanticized landscapes; bird life landscape, 7 birds in their natural environment, that kind of thing. 8 Let me ask you to tell the jury some of the jobs Ο. that I mentioned earlier that you had as a young man. 9 10 The first job I ever had was my mother -- I was a teenager, early teens. My mother was a clerk in the 11 12 drug store, as I said. And I got a job on the delivery 13 truck delivering prescriptions. And that went -- I got another job that was better paying later delivering 14 parts for an electronic firm. And then as I got older, 15 I went to work in the oil fields doing construction 16 17 work. I take it those weren't the Alexander oil fields? 18 Ο. 19 No, they were not the Alexander oil fields. Α. 20 But I would go out and -- into these drilling 21 platforms and stuff where we were building these roads. 22 Then I also had a job, brief job when I was in 23 high school, as a -- in the food industry, I peeled 24 shrimp for a catering firm that serviced banquets. So 25 we just sat there for hours. I don't know which just was worse though, the shrimp paying job or the oil field 2 job. But that's way I started out as a young worker.

3
       Q. Let me take you back up now to your move to Houston. You said you were there I think until 1979?
4
       A. '78, '79. '78, I started spending a lot of time 5 in New York, but I still kept my job at the University of Houston. I was there in Houston, had presence in Houston until the end of the '70s.
8
       Q. Let me break -- ask you to tell us, when you
    moved to New York -- and to bring it to closer to home here, when exactly did you move to New York?
12
       A. I moved completely -- I -- the place I live now, 13
    I got in January of 1980. But I sublet a place where -- from someone in '79. But in 19 -- late '79, '80, I was living there full time.
16
       Q.
           Is this when you met Dan Aykroyd?
17
       Α.
           Yes. Late '70s.
18
           Do you remember exactly when you met Danny?
       Q.
19
       Α.
           Yes.
20
           Under what circumstances did you meet him?
       Q.
21
           Well, I met a young lady who worked at the Α.
22 television show Saturday Night Live as a writer. And 23 that -- I was very attracted to her and fancied her, I 24 guess. And Dan, at that time was -- she was his girlfriend. And Dan was away making a promotion on the

```
Blues Brothers movie. And so I guess you could say I stole his girlfriend. That's how we met.

- Q. And did -- tell -- if you will, tell the jury the first time you actually met Dan.
- I vividly remember, we were in a bar, the young 5 lady and I. And he'd come back to New York. And 6 7 somebody said Dan's up at the front of the bar and he 8 would like to meet John. I thought, Oh, this is not going to be good, because he's bigger than me and 9 younger. But I said, Well, I have to meet him at some 10 point. So I go introduce myself. And it just was the 11 12 most amazing thing, we just became -- we just kind of hit it off. 13
 - And instead of just, you know, being nasty about it, we became friends. And we've been good friends ever since.
- Q. How would you describe the relationship, the depth of the relationship?
 - A. My relationship with Dan?
 - Q. Yes.

- A. Well, it's grown over the years. We became friendly right off. In fact, the then girlfriend and him, and then he had another girlfriend, we all became quite friendly with each other and socially.
- 25 And over the years, we just would do things. We we'd go places, as couples often do. And then as the

A. Well, I've shown -- I've shown in Los Angeles for many years, Melrose. I think it's called Jan Turner Gallery. That gallery was there for 20 or more years. And closed because of an illness to her. I've shown at another gallery her in Los Angeles on Robertson Street. I've shown in Chicago, all over Texas, Boston, Philadelphia.

- Q. What about New York?
- 11 A. I have been showing my work in New York since 12 1977.
- Q. During this period of time, have museums acquired your art?
- 15 A. Yes.

- 16 Q. Tell us -- will you tell us some of the museums?
 - A. Well, I'm proud to say that there are museums in this area that have my work. San Diego Contemporary Art Museum has maybe, I think, two pieces. And the Los Angeles County Museum of Art has a piece. And MOCA, Museum of Contemporary Art, here in Los Angeles has my work. And I have work in museums in Texas and Florida, and New York, Washington, D.C. --
 - Q. Tell us the name --
- 25 A. -- a lot of smaller cities.

Q. Tell us the name of the museum in New York and the one in D.C.

- A. Well, the primary -- the museum that has my work in the New York is the Metropolitan Museum. And the museum in Washington, D.C., is the Smithsonian Museum of American Art. And then also the -- there are a couple of other museums in Washington that have my work.
 - Q. Would the tell the jury where your last show was.
- A. My last show was -- ended in April -- of this past April, in San Francisco.
- 11 Q. And what -- which gallery was that?
- 12 A. Called the John Berggruen Gallery.
- Q. Let me take you forward now in point of time to the first discussion of the skull-shaped bottle.
 - Do you recall when that happened, when -- the first discussion with Danny?

15

- 18 Q. Tell us about that.
- A. Well, we had kind of a thing we did. He was living in New York at the time. His kids were in school in New York. And we would meet, at least once a month, sometimes more often, but we had a restaurant,
- 23 seafood-oyster bar that we liked very much in lower 24 Manhattan.
- 25 And we'd go there in the afternoons. And we would have these big afternoon eating orchards and talking about stuff. It was the thing we did.

And one day we were there, and he started telling me about Patron Tequila and his involvement in it. I wasn't -- it is something that he just got involved with. And he was very excited about his involvement in it. He had the distributorship of Patron.

And so we went back to my studio that night. We got very animated talking about all that. And I said -- in passing, I had many, many years before that, many years before, I had come up with an idea to do an alcoholic beverage and use a skull as the vessel for an alcoholic beverage. And I don't know why it just came -- it was something I thought of.

You see -- what they call them? These bottles that are -- decanters. They call them decanters. You see an Elvis decanter bottle. I've seen gun decanter bottles. And Mickey Mouse. Whatever. You see them come and go.

And I thought, why hasn't someone done a skull-shaped liquor bottle? I mean, that seems like it would be popular, a good idea.

So I mentioned it to a friend who was thinking about into the liquor business, and he didn't think it was that interesting of an idea. I kind of scraped it.

1 Never thought about it for many years. 2 And did Mr. Aykroyd's discussion of his own 3 business bring this memory? Α. It brought it back, yes, 100 percent. 4 Was he referring to his distributorship in 5 0. 6 Canada? 7 Α. The Patron business --8 THE COURT: Wait, sir. MR. And I began shortly after 18 that doing drawings to come up with the design for it. 19 And tell the -- if you will, did you have any 20 conditions about going into this venture? 21 Α. Because of the nature of what I did, I did not 22 want to do -- I was very clear that if we are going to 23 do something like this, because I was very nervous about doing it, if we were going to -- if I was going to do something like that, I wanted to make certain that we skull-shaped bottle?

A. The process was a series of many, many drawings over a period of time to try to get the feeling and look of what we wanted to use to make this product.

And my input was simply drawing of ideas as designs and -- with Dan's input and feedback a lot. And we just simply worked -- I digitally worked up an idea that I thought was something that would be appealing and artistically pleasant to look at and something that the consumer would want.

In this case, I'm not trying to make an art work, I'm trying to make a product for consumers. And I -I've never done that in my career, ever. And it was very new to me. So it was very difficult for me to come up with this --

- Q. Did you --
- A. -- to make all that work together.
- Q. Did you run into particular issues in arriving at the skull head bottle?
 - A. Well, Dan and I from the beginning of this project were very -- we did not want the skull to look like a pirate or something threatening or scary because we wanted it to be something that the consumer would find appealing.
 - So I tried very hard to make it something Proportion.

   Α.
      Please show me.
   Q.
   A. So I am not technically --
```

Q. Close to the mic, please.

2.5

A. I'm not that technically skillful with computers and computer graphics and stuff. So my training is just as a draftsman.

And so I didn't -- I couldn't understand how to make it 750 milliliters or whatever.

- Q. So what did you do?
- A. So I went to the liquor store near me. I know someone who owns it. And he let me get about 25 or 30 -- I don't remember the number, I did it more than once -- random bottles from around the store, like Drambuie and Crown Royal and any bottle that was not conventional, but just odd shaped. So I got a piece of paper -- can you hear me?
 - Q. Yes, sir, I can.
- A. I got a piece of paper, drawing paper. And I then I put a line across here. And then I found the middle of the paper and put a line there. And so --well, maybe I should make it bigger. But this will work.
- So then I would put each bottle -- whatever the shape of the bottle was -- on it. This would be a Crown Royal, this would be Drambuie. I thought if I continued to make these arbitrary lines, I traced around the bottle with, let's say it is a Patron bottle. I traced around it with a pencil, thin lines, until I got a schematic -- not a schematic, but a web of all these different shaped bottles in this. And within that, I guess, how do you go -- how do you find the middle of all that? So I just took a guess and tried to get the exact middle. And in the middle of all that, like this, became what I hoped was the proportions that we need.

Q. Did it turn out to be --

- A. It turned out very close. What I did was I took these drawings like that, proportionate. And then I sent them to Toronto. And they -- Dan showed them to people in the liquor business --
- Q. Tell the jury what you mean when you said you sent them to Toronto?
- 15 A. That's where we were putting -- trying to put our 16 business together.
- Q. The intention at first was to put it together for Canada or no?
 - A. Well, we -- because Dan is Canadian, and he is -Patron business was in Toronto -- or in all of Canada.

 And he felt that he had access to the liquor industry.

 People who could advise. We were both very green when we went into this. We didn't know what -- he knew. I
- 24 didn't know what I was doing.
 - Q. What was the next issue you dealt with, sir?

A. Well, the most problematic issue is the look, the look of it. Because just a little bit of variation here or there could change everything.

What I did was, as I said a minute ago -- I'll try to make this brief -- I tried to make it look appealing, something that people would look at and want. So how do you to that? I mean, you don't want to -- you want to make it something that's -- has some -- lack of a better word, has a certain kind of feel to it. That's what happens in the design.

And so I worked very hard on that, because here was one of the biggest problems -- and doing a skull, you can have a skull that's, you know, thin and flat or round. Not every human skull is the same. And I wanted to find one that worked to my liking.

And so I would do drawing after drawing, usually like this. I would start off generally, I try to do it big like this, in a very kind of abstract way.

And then -- and then I would begin to take that part and then develop it, and make it into a much more recognizable and so forth.

But each time I would do it, sometimes the eyes would be smaller, sometimes the eyes would be bigger, sometimes this went from here to here. They change constantly. And it was a series of many, many of these.

And then Dan would come to my studio, and we would talk to each other about, What do you think of this? What do you think of that? Does that one work? And then you have a problem that arose right off, and that's this: How do you get the liquid out of the vessel? So --Q. Let me ask you now, are you speaking of the spout at this point? A. Yes. I didn't really know at first. I thought, Well, you could do it this way. The easiest way is for me to hold the bottle like this and you put a thing like this, tilt the bottle, pour it out. Or you could have had a little hole, whatever. And then we tried -- this was something I really tried to work with, is having it like this. Ο. Was there any problem with that? To me it looked like a chimney or something. Α. Ιt just didn't look right. So finally aesthetically, I came on the idea that if you look at the side of the skull like this, this was very important. Aesthetically, I thought it looked good like this, at an angle coming out the back. Then you get into the problem of what you do with

           I'm sorry. I can actually draw better than this.
2
           Are you trying to sell your art, sir?
3
       Α.
           You make it this high and this wide or skinny.
    So you may not notice it as much. Well, no. That starts to look ridiculous and cheap.
5
           So this proportion and the cap size and all that,
7 this all became appealing to me. With Dan's input, very 8 much so, we just -- "we," because it was now -- I'm the artist. But it really was a collaborative effort between Dan and myself. I sought his counsel and advice all the way through it, every step almost.
12
       Q. How did you resolve the spout problem? Is that

BY MR. BERG:

- Q. Mr. Alexander, were you concerned or not about how the bottle would come out?
 - A. How it looked when it was finished?
- Q. Yes, sir.
 - A. Very, very much so. Because I knew that I had no control over it in terms of the -- once it became a liquid mold and fired in a kiln -- I'm a two-dimensional artist. And I had to create the illusion of depth. I'm not a sculptor.
 - So I was very worried what I found so likable about my drawing and idea, would it translate to this?

 I knew it wouldn't be the same. This is class and that was charcoal. That was a flat, two-dimensional surface.

 This is a three-dimensional surface and so forth. But I was very pleased the way it turned out, yes. And I signed off on it.
 - Q. What was it you signed off on?
- 19 A. The way it looked. I liked it very much.
- Q. Do you know how the bottle or the drawings became 3D? How you went from your two-dimensional to your 3D
- 22 bottle?
- A. Well, there was one point where I didn't. And I was asked by Dan -- very difficult for me to do, but he asked me if I would make a mold, make a model. And I tried. But it was very difficult for me to get the company out of Italy. I think the bottle is actually made -- I may be wrong, but I think it's actually made

The first bottle appeared was out in that intense heat. And then as it came out of the furnace, it began to smoke and turn gray. From orange to gray. And then as it went down the conveyor belt, it became clearer and clearer until it cooled. And then you saw it. It was rather dramatic. That's the way I saw -- I saw that.

- Q. What was your reaction to the end product as it got to the end of the --
- I was very pleased with it. But they also --Α. there was a lot of tweaking that went on, you know, in terms of -- I'm sure with Bruni.

Once I got in the -- my job, I felt was done, which was doing the drawings. And then I trusted Dan and the people in Toronto to take care of it from there. Because it is something that I felt comfortable that they would do a good job with it. And they assured me that the schematics would work.

Q. Now, I want to take you back if I can, and would you explain to the jury what role or where -- strike that.

Does the skull play a role in your paintings?

Well, it has off and on throughout my career. When I was a small -- I mean, a young teenager, I used to draw hot rods and, you know, things like that.

And I would draw skulls on the door. You know, the skull's a very powerful image. And it's been used throughout history and art, going back to antiquity.

And I know about the skull use in art, going all the way back to ancient cave paintings even.

And occasionally throughout my career the skulls have appeared in the landscape or in the scenes. not primarily what I do. But I've used them throughout my entire artistic life.

- Would you tell us what the basis is of your Q. knowledge of skulls, where you became familiar and so on?
- A. Well, I don't know in early stages where I became familiar with it. But in reference to this vodka 13 bottle, I was -- I was in -- from the first idea -- I think. It came into my consciousness many years before -- as I've said, before I met Dan. 16

And I was in -- I was aware of the skulls being used in the Day of the Dead celebration, because in Texas, it's much more -- you see it much more than you do in other parts of the country. I'm sure it's true here in Southern California too.

And I remember going many years ago to the -- this very emotionally moving festival in Oaxaca, Mexico for the Day of the Dead, which is held every year. It's one of the most popular in Mexico.

Q. Why did you go to Oaxaca?

A. I wanted to see the Day of the Dead celebration in Mexico in its entirety, as opposed to just seeing the little alters that you see around in stores and things you'd see. It was very common to see the displays with the skulls and the candy and the flowers, et cetera.

But the one in Oaxaca was particularly powerful.

And being an artist who is interested in that kind of stuff, imagery, to see that -- the entire totality of the those festivals, where the parades and music and the grave yards decorated with mounds of flowers and candles at night and the families are there. There's a great spirituality and a power to that.

As an artist, it's hard for it not to have a profound effect on you. And also, though, you would see these skulls, little skulls as candies and cookies and so forth. And then you would -- even when I was younger, you'd see that during the Day of the Dead celebration, which is a completely different thing than going and seeing it in Mexico, though, where you see the drama of the entire thing.

- Q. Have you traveled to Mexico often?
- A. Yes.
- Q. And have you seen -- can you tell us any other images you might have seen there, maybe other painters

1 and so on? 2 I always have been influenced by other painters in my work. And I had a great fascination early on, all 3 4 through my career, of the Mexican muralists; from early day Cordero. And then also of course the great 5 6 Fruticola. And great European painters often used 7 skulls, so I -- being a deep admirer of the history of 8 art, I was conscious and aware of the use of skulls in painting throughout my entire adult career. 9 10 I would like to do now is ask Ms. Skipper to perhaps bring the entire box. I will read each exhibit. 11 12 Exhibit 772, KAH Blanco. 58, which is Extra 13 Anejo. 57 is KAH Anejo. 56 is Diablo. 14 THE COURT: Would you like to have the 15 exhibits placed before the witness? 16 MR. really -- that's really rattling. So it's the look.
It's not the detail. It's the essence of what something looks like.
      And I know that this is hard to visualize, but if you -- it is very clear in this room, when you are in a courtroom like this with strangers and all the focus in the world is on these bottles, and it is brightly lit, and you've never seen them, it's shocking.
       And the differences you pick up. These eyes are

               These are not.
       But in the context, if you -- which I have to think about and worry about in marketing this, this is not where the tequila are seen -- or these bottles.
They are not seen in courtrooms. They are seen in liquor stores -- I mean, in liquor stores, around lots of other liquor and crowded things, where there's

it.
       Tell us first what you see that's similar.
      From here, if you look at the two like that, it is -- it's this subtle curvature of the bottom of the chin in both is to me almost identical.
       The feeling, even though ours has teeth that are three dimensional -- these teeth, which are basically in the same configuration and about the same proportion from top to bottom, they are not that way. But there is an illusion that was created by the person who painted

this, using these shadows and highlights along there, that the teeth are three dimensional.

There is a clear feeling that -- and then on other bottles it's more pronounced. But the mouths to me are very, very troubling. And then the nose and the proportions of the nose are shockingly similar to me.

And then the sockets of the eyes are almost the same size. And then the shape of the head here and the feel of the head from this -- from this to this shockingly alike.

And then you get on up to the top. And the two are almost identical. There's a slight difference. But as I said, in context where you are seeing it at a liquor store or in a bar, restaurant, in a lighted bar, it's very -- the feeling is almost identical. You think, Oh, that's -- and then as you -- in a courtroom, a sterile condition where it shouldn't even be, of course you can break it down.

But when you're walking through a bar with your mate or your friends and you look up on the bar and you say, Oh, look that's Dan Aykroyd's or my product.

    painting and the rendering of it, there are many things that create illusion of similarity.
10
           But I'm struck by the use of these crystal-like 11 shiny objects that are attached to it, that reflect 12 light.
13
           One of the key things in our marketing early on when we were advertising, we used to say that our product is filtered through Herkimer diamonds. It's a 16 form of crystal that grows out of the ground that we use 17 to filter it. That was part of our advertising 18 campaign. The crystal, the filtration through the 19 quartz, the crystal quartz.
15
20
           And there's just a -- kind of -- if you look at 21 ours -- and this is not painted, clearly, and this one 22 is, this reflects light and it makes it sparkle in 23 certain kinds of light, especially on bars. And there is a sparkly quality to this that I'd actually never we painted huge crystal heads around the bus, the sides invited the major bartenders, major restaurant owners, invite everybody to it.

And large -- because of Dan's celebrity, huge crowds would come. And we would have this Crystal Head night. And we would serve food. And Dan would get up at each one and make a presentation. And then he would stay until well into the morning at each venue signing autographs and photographs and signing bottles.

And that started. By the time we got through that tour, we pretty much got the -- the product was pretty much gone. We had to go back to the drawing -- nobody possibly could have imagined this thing would take off like it did. It just went from here to there.

So we got more product, and then --

- Q. Let me ask you, sir, was there any other sort of press -- or, excuse me. Was there any sort of marketing other than when you described as Dan and you or Dan alone went from city to city that you know of personally?
- A. Yes. He would be on the radio, on the cell phone from city to city talking to radio stations. And every city we went to there would be people from NBC, ABC, CBS, newspapers. They would all come to these events. So they became happenings. It was like, every city we went to, even small cities we would go -- and stop at mom and pop liquor stores. We would go from little liquor stores owned by someone in small town to Costco and Walmarts and everything in between. And we literally crisscrossed the country and Canada in this truck over a period of time and marketed it in that way.

       And then he would go around -- when we were in any particular city, we would go around through the night and we would go bar to bar. Like it was -- it was kind of bizarre. Here we are, we just show up at bars.
And it was fun, to say the least. The tour.
       The first one was. As the years went on, it got more tedious. But that first -- I remember that first
      It was one of the most fun things.
      And that's how we built the business, on the back of his celebrity and enticing people into these places to -- for him to sign autographs. I personally have seen him sign tens of thousands of bottles, literally.
       We would go into a city, just pick a city, Phoenix, Arizona, and then at a signing at a big liquor chain or at a Costco or Walmart, and there would be a thousand people waiting in line and waiting there for five hours to get in so he could sign the bottle for them.

                THE COURT: Excuse me for a moment.
 5
                                                      So what is the question?
7
    BY MR. BERG:
8
           Tell us about the problems with the spout, if you
       Ο.
10
       Α.
           Well, one of the problems we encountered very quickly was -- and the assembly lines to fill the
12
    bottle, if you have the spout straight up, it goes down 13 the thing, and it can be done on an assembly line like a conventional bottle, all bottles are like that.
15
           Once we discovered -- once it was made in that 16 angle, the distillery put the alcohol -- the vodka into 17 the bottle, they had to do it by hand. So each bottle 18 had to be hand-filled. Very, very problematic in terms 19 of mass producing the bottles and getting the kind of 20 quantity we would need.
21
           So after a while, what we did is we invested a 22 lot of money to have a special machine made that would 23 fill the bottles like this. At that angle it was very 24 problematic to get the fluid into the thing. So that 25 was one.

1
       Ο.
           Do you know much money the company spent on that?
2
           You would have to ask Jonathan or Dan.
       Α.
3
       Q.
           No problem.
 4
           Have you seen other bottles with the spout -- 5 other than KAH Tequila, with a spout at an angle like 6
    that?
7
       Α.
           No.
8
       Ο.
          I have --
                MR. BERG: I'm going to conclude now, Your 9
    Honor. But I want to ask Mr. Alexander to walk us 10 11 through a previously admitted exhibit, No. 124.
    Plaintiff Exhibit 124.
13
                 THE COURT: 124 is actually on the monitors.
    So for the jurors, you are able to see it. The witness
15 may use that as well. If you are not able to see it 16 well enough to answer the question that counsel asks, 17
    I'm sure another exhibit can be provided.
18
                Counsel may proceed.
    BY MR. BERG:
20
       Q.
           Are you familiar this exhibit, sir?
21
       Α.
           Yes.
22
           And what is this?
       Ο.
23
           This is one of the many drawings that I did for Α.
24
    the preparation of the skull.
2.5
       Q. Can you describe this as an early or late
```

1
    drawing?
2
       A. Later. Much later.
       Q. Let's keep going. Next one. And the same
4
    question?
5
       A. Later.
6
                THE COURT: What is the exhibit number, for 7
    the record, please?
8
                MR. BERG: This is 174 -- excuse me, 124.
    My math is not so good either.
10
                THE COURT:
11
                You may continue.
12
    BY MR. BERG:
13
       Q. Next. Early or late, sir?
14
       A. Hard to say on that one. It looks like it is 15 later though.
16
                THE COURT: This is also a part of 124?
                MR. BERG: Yes, it is Your Honor.
18
                THE COURT: All right.
    BY MR. BERG:

23

           Next.
           And do you have -- this also, sir, early or late?

2.5
       Α.
           Later.

1
       Ο.
           So my question -- 2
           Much later.
       Α.
3
       Q.
           -- is what percentage of these drawings of yours 4 do these sketches represent?
5
       Α.
           This?
       Q.
           Yes.
7
           In the total number?
       Α.
8
           Yes.
       Ο.
           Less than one percent.
9
       Α.
           Do you have any estimate of how many sketches you 10
       Q.
11
    did of the skull before it became finalized?
12
       Α.
           Sketches? Certainly over a hundred.
13
       Q.
           And who's Walter Hyde, if you'll tell us?
           He was a friend of Dan's that lived in Kingston, 14
       Α.
15
    Ontario.
       Q. And what role did he have --
17
                 MR. BERG: Pardon me. You can take that 18 down now, please.
19
    BY MR. BERG:
20
       Q.
           What role did he have, if any, in bringing the bottle to market?
22
           Well, when I would do drawings, I would send them 23 to Toronto. And then when we realized that the way that 24 this was going to be made into three-dimensional form

was through the schematics, Walter helped with that.

I can remember correctly.

And also Walter, when we were going back and forth about the neck, he offered input, as Dan did. I said, it was a real collaborative as to design. One was hexagon, one was round. One was -- pardon me. One was skinnier. And Walter's role in this was simply giving input into how the neck was -- how to solve the neck problem. Is Walter still around? Q. Α. Tragically, no. Walter died shortly after that of an illness. Q. In addition -- you've mentioned Jonathan Hemi, and Dan, of course. Who else has been involved in the making of this business? A. The business -- not the design? Not the design, the business end. 0. Well, the primary person is clearly Dan. Α. Jonathan Hemi is very, very, very instrumental, in fact, he runs the company. And early in the business, very early, there was a man by the name of Andrew Stoddard who was a liquor person in Toronto. And he is was involved in the company early on. But he was not there about a year, if

A. Oh, I'm sorry. Davey Brown, who will be here tomorrow, I think. He is another partner. And is very involved with the company. He was a postman in Toronto. And he came to work with us to help do logistical stuff and marketing stuff. And he worked in the office with Jonathan. He also -- it's coming back clear to me.

Davey was -- in the early stages was involved when we were trying to set up social media and answer mail, internet mail. And Danny -- I mean, Jonathan was our liaison -- Davey Brown was our liaison to do all that kind of work. I didn't have the expertise, to say the least, nor did I have the time.

I resumed after these drawings left. And then -with the exception of when we were on tour, I was very much back involved in my painting career. In fact, right in the middle of all that I was putting a show together for a retrospective at the Smithsonian. It was very problematic for me to put the time in like Dan and Jonathan and Davey did, because of my other problems.

- Q. Did you neglect your art career when you were promoting this?
- A. Very, very much so. For at least a year and a half.
 - Q. What about Danny and his movie career?

           Anyone else involved with Davey at the company?
13
       Α.
           We had employees. A person who became very much involved in the company, and to this day does, is
15 Davey's, well, wife, mate, Martha. And she was ran the instrumental in everything, to say the least.

19
           Is it a small company in terms of employees?
       Q.
20

           Yes.

communicating with people who were going -- if you were going to do a -- what do you call it -- a shaker, let's Crystal Head logo on it, she was instrumental in helping design some of those things, and helping product placement. Those types of things. Marketing stuff.

   Q.
       In how many countries is Crystal Head sold? Or at least would you name some of the countries.
   A. Well, it's certainly sold globally. We are in --
I may be wrong on the number, but I think we have trade dress in 70 countries, including the Far East. We have England, France, Germany, Scandinavia, South America. We are scattered around many parts of the

           Again, I'm Tom Rafferty, and I think we met yesterday.
       Q.
23
24
       A. Yes, we did.
2.5
       Q.
          Mr. Alexander, you, in fact, have been painting and drawing skulls from at least the early '70s?
```

1
2
       Α.
           Yes.
           And part of what you've done professionally is 3
4 paintings that include imagery of skulls?
5
       Α.
           Yes.
           Some of your works that are in the various
7
    museums around the country are filled with skulls, 8
    aren't they?
           Various forms of skulls, some of them, yes.
9
       Α.
10
       Q.
           Some of them have many multiple skulls?
11
                 THE COURT: Some of the museums?
    BY MR. RAFFERTY:
13
       Q.
           Some of the pieces in the museums?
14
       Α.
           Yes.
15
           The individual pieces with multiple skulls.
       0.
16
       Α.
           Yes.
       0.
           And in fact some of the skulls in your paintings 18 that are hung in museums around the country have skulls 19 not only of humans but also of simeons (phonetic)?
20
       Α.
           And other forms, yes, other animals.
21
           And I think you -- I just want to be sure I Ο.
22 understood your testimony, every human skull is 23 different, isn't it?
24
       A. Certainly.
2.5
       Q.
           And so if you paint one person's skull and you
```

1 paint somebody else's skull, there are going to be 2 differences?
3
       Α.
           Yes.
           And the skulls that are in your paintings that 4
       Ο. are hung in museums around the country, are they the
 6
    same skull or different skulls?
7
           I would say that they are, what I would call 8 stylized. There's is no attempt in those to make it photographically. They're an impression of things.
    don't paint -- I'm not a realist painter. So I if paint -- if I was asked to paint your portrait, it would
12 be a struggle for me. I could do my interpretation of 13 that and make it -- try to make it appealing to an 14 audience. But I -- the skulls I use in my paintings -- or have used in my paintings, there's no attempt there 15 to make them look like realistic photographic skulls.
17
    So, yes, they are all different types.
18
           Okay. And somebody could look at them and you 19 can discern differences between them?
20
       Α.
           The different skulls?
21
       Q.
           Yes.
22
           Yes, for sure.
       Α.
23
           When you were creating the Crystal Head Vodka
       Q.
24 bottle, the skull that's used in that bottle, you were 2.5
    also trying to do something that was art and not simply photography?
```

1
2
           Yes, well. But -- yes, that is correct.
           And so that's not really any particular skull,
3
4
    that's your stylized impression of the skull?
5
       Α.
           Yes.
6
           Do you think that that is an abstract and 7 stylized impression?
8
           It is -- it's certainly based on the human skull,
       Α.
    but it is not a replica of the human skull.
9
       Q. And the skulls in your paintings, you talked on 10 your direct testimony about the essence of a skull or
12
    the feeling of a skull.
13
           Do the skulls in your painting, despite their variation, all have the essence of a skull in your judgment?
15
16
       Α.
           No.
           Some do, some don't?
       0.
           Yes, that would be accurate.
18
       Α.
19
           Now, you said that little variations can change
       Q.
20 things altogether?
21
       Α.
           Uh-huh.
22
           So variations in the skulls of your paintings can change the impression that one gets?
       Ο.
23
           In the paintings?
24
       Α.
2.5
       Q.
           Yes.
```

2.5

Q. Now, how long did it take you to go from the idea that you testified you had with Mr. Aykroyd to the process where the people were making schematics of your drawings in order to create the molds to make the glass bottles?

- A. That was over a year.
- Q. Are you sure about that, sir?
- A. No. I'm very -- unfortunately I'm not good with dates.
- 11 Q. Do you recall ever testifying that the process 12 took about six months?
- \mid A. I -- you mean the process of me drawing them?
- 14 Q. Yes.
- 15 A. That could be accurate.
- Q. So you are not sure as you sit here today how long you spent working on this?
 - A. I spent working on the back and forth on this from the beginning concept all the way up until the final drawings were sent off. And, you know, I'd work on them two or three days in a row or one day an all day or one afternoon, then days would go by, we would -- I would ship stuff to them for feedback. It was an organic type of process where everybody was -- everybody -- Dan and myself were involved in that. And it was a big chunk of time.

2
           Over what period of time, can you remember?
       Q.
3
       Α.
           It was certainly a part of the year.
           But you don't know what part of the year? Could 4
       Ο.
5 have been half a year, three quarters of a year?
6
       Α.
                That doesn't come to my consciousness.
7
           Now, you also mentioned that you are not
       Q.
8 particularly good in your own judgment at sculpting?
           Sculpting?
9
       Α.
10
       Q.
           Yes, sculpting.
11
           Well, I don't make sculpture. It's not a thing
       Α.
12 that I do. I would not call myself a sculptor.
13
       Q.
           In connection with the development of the Crystal
    Head Vodka bottle, you did make a sculpture?
15
           I made a clay sculpture, yes.
       Α.
16
           How long did it take you to make that sculpture?
       Q.
17
       Α.
           I don't know. It took weeks, you know, couple 18 weeks, three weeks. I don't remember. But it was a 19 very clumsy attempt. It was very problematic for me.
20
           But Mr. Aykroyd asked you to do that and you did
       Q.
    it?
22
       Α.
           Yes.
23
           In your judgment -- and I don't know very much about art -- does it take more or less time to do a

Well, I mean, a drawing can be made in minutes.
But to get a drawing the way you want it to look sometimes can take a day.
       I can work on a drawing for days on end before it is finished. It is -- it's difficult to set a time limit on it, because each drawing is different.
  Q. And when you were -- when you were doing the drawings that ultimately led to the creation of the Crystal Head Vodka bottle, you were trying to -- you were doing trial and error. You got some you didn't like, some you liked?
   A. Oh, yes. The beginning ones morphed into something else. They changed. I had an idea for this as a concept. But I hadn't -- I did not understand visually exactly how I wanted it to look. This became part of a process. Trial and error, let's say.
   Q. You actually had this idea many, many years before you spoke to Mr. Aykroyd about it?
      Yes. Several years before.
   Α.
      You, in fact, offered it to another one of your friends?

   Α.
      Briefly.
      Was that friend Jimmy Buffet?

      Yes.
      Mr. Buffet was going to put tequila --

When I mentioned it to him, it dismissed immediately. He had no interest in it whatsoever.
    knew that he -- we talked about him going into the tequila business. I said, I have an idea, why don't you make a skull-shaped bottle. And he went (indicating), and he just dismissed it. That was the last I brought 6
    it up.
       Q. Let's met shift a little bit and ask you some questions about -- what you mentioned, the proportion, when you were drawing on the board.
           Now, the drawings on the board, those are sort of like the drawings, although having -- being done under 13 pressure with a lot of people watching you, the same as the ones in Exhibit 124?
       A. Yeah. Well, they are the same approach to 16 drawing, yes.
17
       Q. Exhibit 124 looks like a collection of pages from a sketch book?
19
       A. Yes.
           And how many -- did you keep one sketch book for
       Q.
    this project?
22
           No. There were many more. They weren't always 23 sketch books because I work -- they're sketch book pages 24 or pieces of paper. I work on a wall. I don't work 25 sitting down.

1
           What was the approximate size of these when they 2 were in their original form?
           Were they 8-by-12s?
           I was going to say 14, 11-by-14. Some larger.
4
       Α.
           Did you ever do a very large rendering of the
6
    Crystal Head Vodka bottle?
7
       Α.
          Not that I remember, no.
8
           Okay. You talked a lot about getting the 0.
9 proportion rights, you went out and acquired a whole 10 11
    bunch of liquor bottles of varying sorts?
12
       Α.
           Yes.
13
           And, in fact, if we turn through Exhibit 124, I think there are some of sketches that you -- I think you replicated a little bit.
15
16
                MR. RAFFERTY: And, Your Honor, I'm looking 17 at -- 18
                THE COURT: There are numbers at the bottom.
19
    Two sets of numbers.
20
                MR. RAFFERTY: Right. Thank you, Your Honor.
21
22
                I was going to take us to page -- to page 23 ending in No. 7938.
24
                THE COURT: Sir, see if you can find that.
2.5
                MR. RAFFERTY: It is coming up on the

1 screen, Your Honor?
2
                THE COURT: Counsel is placing it on the 3 screen.
4
                THE WITNESS: Yes.
    BY MR. RAFFERTY:
6
       Q.
           These are your sketches?
7
          Yeah. But it -- oh, I see it.
       Α.
8
       Q. And it seems to say -- if I can read it. I really can't read the second one. But it's the -- the first bottle -- or the first word on the right-hand side 11 is Patron?
10
12
       A. Yes.
13
       Q. Then I can't read the second one. Do you know what that --
15
       A. Herradura, Don Julio, Crown Royal, Gin -- they 16 are just liquor names.
       Q. These are the bottles of different kinds of 17 18
    alcohol you used to help you -- 19
       A. Yes.
20
       Q. -- to create your bottle here?
21
       Α.
          Yes.
22
                THE COURT: I will just advise the witness, 23 let counsel complete his question before you start to 24 answer.
2.5
                THE WITNESS: Sorry, Your Honor.
```

1
                THE COURT: All right. Counsel.
2
                MR. RAFFERTY:
                                Thank you, Your Honor.
3
    BY MR. RAFFERTY:
       O. Mr. Alexander, you talked about the problem with 4 placing the neck, I think you called it. The spout is 5 what I would call it. And I think you said one place to put the spout in the skull was at the back.
7
8
           But you couldn't fill that bottle, could you?
           No. I was complete novice in terms of the -- the
       Α.
10 technical aspects and the mechanics of it. Mine was just an idea, and I was trying to figure out how to make the idea work in terms of its visual impact.
12
13
           And in the very beginning I had no idea, in the early stages, what was going to happen with that.
15
       Q. But every one of the bottles, I'll suggest to 16 you, and you can page through this if you want to, this 17
    next page has got some more of your sketching.
           Every bottle that you looked at had the spout on top, didn't they?
19
20
       Α.
           Yes.
21
           Okay. So then I --
       Q.
22
       Α.
           I'm sorry.
23
           No, no. I shouldn't cut you off.
       Q.
24
       Α.
           Well, just from a practical standpoint, it would 25 make sense that the bottle would have this top like a

```
conventional bottle sticking straight up.
           In fact, from a practical standpoint, there is no other option, is there?
3
       A. Yes. We have another option.
 4
           Well, you have -- it's still on the top.
5
       Ο.
6 an angle?
7
       A. Yes. But it is the angle.
8
       Q. But it's on the top. And every other bottle we looked at the spout was on the top?
10
       Α.
          On the top.
           If you could turn those three bottles you have 11
12
    there sideways so you can look at the exhibits.
13
    spouts on this bottle at the same angle?
           They are not at exactly the same angle. But they 14 are very close.
15
       Q. Different angles, aren't they? You can see that 16 by just looking at it?
17
18
                THE COURT: Wait just a moment. Did the 19 witness answer?
20
                They are different angles, aren't they?
                THE WITNESS: Slightly different.
    BY MR. RAFFERTY:
23
           The slight difference can be discerned by just looking at it, can't it?
2.5
       A. Not if you just glance at it. If you sat here
```

1 like this and you're focused on that angle, which we are 2 doing in a court of law, yes, you can find that there is a difference. If it's on a shelf at a bar in a club, 3 you don't notice that at all. It's an angle -- that was 4 something particularly troubling to me when I saw the
6
    KAH bottle, that -- it just seemed to me like it looked 7 like my bottle.
8
       Q. Now, I just want to ask you -- you have Exhibit 58 which is the Extra Anejo, the black bottle
10
    that's in front of you.
11
       Α.
          Yes.
12
       Q. You said -- I'm not going to put words in your 13 mouth, but you mentioned the fact that the crystals that are embedded in it are reflective?
15
       Α.
           Uh-huh.
16
           You also said you visited hundreds of liquor
       Q.
17 stores and bars during this tour across the country in the truck.
18 19
       A. Well -- 20
                THE COURT: Wait just a moment. There's no 21 question.
22
                                I'm in an awkward spot, Your
                MR. RAFFERTY:
23
            I don't want to talk over the witness.
24
                THE COURT: Well it might be better to just 2.5

    BY MR. RAFFERTY:

           In any of those visits, did you see that bottle?
           The KAH bottle?
       Α.
5
           The bottle with the crystal sparkle?
       Q.
 6
           No.
       Α.
7
           You never noticed it any of those visits?
       Q.
8
       Α.
           No.
           So when you -- so today you said you hadn't seen

    it before, but you're taken aback by the fact that it

12
       Α.
           The first time I saw this bottle is today.
13
       Q.
           So in all those hundreds and hundreds of visits,
    you never saw it before?
15
           Well, to be accurate, in all the -- in that 16 period of time we are talking about, KAH Tequila didn't exist.
18
           Have you seen it in a liquor store or bar between 19 the time that KAH came into the market or that bottle 20 came onto the market until today?
21
           No, I have not seen that bottle until today.
       Α.
22
           Even though it is sparkly and shiny?
       0.
           Yes.

I would notice it as KAH bottle?
1
2
           Uh-huh.
       Q.
           Sure. It's look like a KAH bottle to me.
3
       Α.
4
           You tell -- when you look at the KAH bottles, you can tell that they're KAH bottles?
       Q.
5
6
       Α.
           That's the appearance that I get, yes.
7
       Q.
           Okay.
8
       Α.
           Maybe somebody's copied KAH.
           Now, you have an ownership interest in Globefill?
9
10
       Α.
           Yes.
11
           And what's the size of your ownership interest in Ο.
    Globefill?

           20 percent.
           Did you get that 20 percent in exchange for --

15
           My creating the bottle. And also -- I also 16 worked and have worked throughout the history of the company in the promotion of it.

18
           So you have a financial stake in the outcome of this case?
20
       Α.
           Oh, yeah.
           And at the time that Globefill sued Elements and 22

    Ms. Brandi, were you also an owner?

    the lawsuit. Did you have any role on that?
3
       A. No, I did not -- I was not certainly consulted.
4
    Pardon me. I was certainly consulted on it, but I didn't -- I -- lack of a better word, that's above 7
6
    my pay grade. I didn't -- I wasn't -- I didn't make the

       Α.
           I did.

than the fact that KAH Tequila bottle I found deeply offensive because it looked like something that I invented as an idea as an vessel for alcoholic beverage.
And she'd taken that idea that we had a trade dress on,
and she -- as I said earlier, written me off, I thought.
       And you think that -- your testimony is that people looking at the Crystal Head Vodka bottle and the various KAH Tequila bottles would be totally confused as to which is which?
            I don't think totally is an accurate word.
I think that there is enough confusion that it is -- it creates a problem for us.
       Just as a -- if I may add, as an artist who has somewhat of a reputation, I mean at least I'm -- I'm still around. At my age, I still get shows. And I still have a career. It is troubling to me that I'm constantly asked wherever I go, these things are near each other or not. Oh, did you do that bottle?
                                                 Is that yours? Did you make that? I'm asked that -- I get asked that frequently. It comes up very often.
   Q. Were you asked -- were any of those questions posed after this lawsuit was filed?
       The question started being posed the second it hit the marketplace.
```

Q. Well, I'm trying to limit my time.

           Was any posed to you after this lawsuit was 2 filed, after Elements and Ms. Brandi were sued?
           Yes. I was asked as recently as last month.
3
       Α.
           Did write down the information from the person

           I made note of it.

8

           No.

10 and Ms. Brandi, none of those people are going to tell the jury -- confirm what you just said you were asked?
12
       Α.
           These were people I met at an event. And the 13 bottles were on the table.
           This is one example that happens a lot. But 14 people that -- it was an event actually honoring me.
15
16
    But that -- people that were there as guests asked me.
17
    They are not even people that I'm -- you know, I'm 18 not -- it's no one that I'm close to or friendly with.

    John, did you design that?" That kind of thing.
21
       Q. What do you tell them?
22
           I said, "No, I didn't design it."

           When you use the term art, as I see it, I don't think of -- I don't think this is a work of art either.
       Α.
17
18
    These are mass produced products for consumption. And I 19 think of folk art -- I'm a huge fan of folk art. And I 20 also find these quite attractive.
21
           When you say the term art, A-R-T, associated with 22 it -- immediately my -- and I'm old school from the kind 23 of throw back to the 19th Century in terms of my art and 24 art making. Art to me is about something that's much 2.5
    different than commerce. And so these are commercial products.

And I was troubled as an artist, did I really want to get into the commercial elements of this because it is not something I've ever done. I've never done anything accept making singular pieces of highly originally, I think, I hope, that are clearly works of art that contain the spiritual quality of visual attention or pleasant. You know you can make an art work that has to do with a sunset and a lake and a deer. Or you can make an art work that has to do with some kind of tragedy. And there's all kinds of ways -- so I think of folk art by a folk artist as something similar to this, but it is an individual object.

I just think of these as a commercial product. I don't think of it as folk art, no.

- Q. Let's stick to the KAH Tequila -- the Crystal Head Vodka bottle. The drawings that you made, do you consider those works of art?
 - A. I'm sorry?
- Q. The drawings that you made that led to the ultimate production of the bottle, were those works of art?
 - A. They just were schematic -- I keep using the word schematic. These were just studies for the product.
- 25 If I had wanted to make one of these into a --

1 what I would call an art work, I would have worked on it 2 much longer, perhaps. I would have signed it and 3 photographed it. It would have gone into a different thing.
 4
           These drawings that I did, I was doing them
6 not -- this is where it was troubling to me. I was not 7 doing these drawings to try to make art works. I was 8 trying to use my talent as an artist to create this commercial product, which is a skull-shaped bottle as a 9 vessel for alcohol.
10 11
           Did you succeed in that?
       Ο.
12
       Α.
           Well, we are in 70 countries.
13
       Q.
           No.
              I'm talking about the artistic end. Did you succeed in -- as an artist, in creating a bottle that you're proud of as an artist, not as a captain of industry?
16
           The reaction to this bottle has been so 17
       Α.
18 overwhelmingly positive that I'm actually rather proud 19 of the way it looks. I must say that there was 20 tremendous trepidation and worry in the beginning 21 because I thought, this is not -- this is not good for 22
         But it -- because of my friendship with Dan and the 23 deep, long friendship, he was so enthusiastic about it, he got me enthusiastic about it, that I just went into it with both feet full blown. But it is so off the wall, not something I would normally do.

1
2
           So you don't consider your bottle art?
       Q.
           Others do.
3
       Α.
       Q.
           Okay.
5
                 THE COURT: Wait just a moment. Do you 6 consider it art? Is that Counsel's question?
7
                MR. RAFFERTY: That was my question.
8
                 THE COURT: Try to answer that question if 9 you can.
10
                 THE WITNESS: You could make the case, if I 11 was wanting to be very egotistical about it, that as a 12 successful artist everything I do is creative and 13 physical is art.
14
    BY MR. RAFFERTY: 15
           Do you believe that?
       0.
16
       Α.
           I'm not that much of an egotistic. But, yeah, 17 that's probably true.
18
           And you don't view the four KAH bottles as art?
       Q.
19
           These look to me -- no, I don't.
       Α.
20
       Q.
           Someone painted on some of them, didn't they?
21
           Those are all mechanically done. There's no
       Α.
22 painting done on those by hand, I don't think.
23
       Q.
           Do you know?
24
       Α.
           No, I don't. I cannot answer that.
2.5
       Q.
           So if -- even if you did it mechanically, you'd still have to have something to work off? Someone's got to do the original work, don't they?
```

                THE COURT: Counsel, couple of questions.
 3
    Which one?
4
    BY MR. RAFFERTY:
5
       Q. You don't know whether they were handpainted or painted by machine?
7
8
       A. I'm going to say that I think they were painted by machine.
       Q. And in the instances which things are painted by machine, how do you get there? How do you get the machine to do what you want it to put out?
12
13
       A. I think that the technical people are capable of 14 doing that do it.
15
       Q. Do they do it, as in your case, by taking a 16 drawing or a sketch and doing schematics that are then used?
18
           I wish I could answer that. I actually don't know.
       Α.
19
20
       Q.
           You just don't know?
           I don't.
21
       Α.
22
           So --
       Ο.
23
           But I think that in terms of art or not art, I 24 think that the KAH Tequila bottle is not only a rip-off 2.5
    of my idea and my bottle and my invention, so to speak, which it is. And this is not only a rip-off my bottle and my invention, but it's also in my opinion, it's stealing this from the Day of the Dead celebration, which is a very spiritual and reverential occasion.

                                                     So
I don't -- I don't have anything else to say about that.
       So you believe that somehow the KAH Tequila bottles steal some idea or thought from the Day of the Dead?
  Α.
       It is very clear. They state that. I mean, you stated. But they were saying it here in the courtroom, it's all about the Day of the Dead.
   Q. When you look at those bottles, do you think of the Day of the Dead?
   Α.
       Yes.
       Okay. When you look at the Crystal Head Vodka, 0.
do you think of the Day of the Dead?
       Well, I can think that simply because I know that much of the idea about using a skull like that came out of a lot of exposure to Day of the Dead symbolism.
skull was being used that way. But not as a vehicle for alcohol.
       When Crystal Head Vodka markets itself, does it market itself as a results or a product of the Day of the Dead?
   Α.
      Not to my knowledge.

In fact, it markets itself as something that flows from the legend of the 13 crystal skulls, doesn't it?
   Α.
       That was the -- at the earliest stages of our company back in the beginning, that was the marketing plan that we used to market it.
      Marketing had nothing to do with the Day of the Q.
Dead?
  Α.
      No.
   Ο.
       And it had everything to do with the legend of the 13 crystal stones?
   Α.
       No. But I would like to think, and I hope I'm right, that the marketing had to do with -- the success of this had nothing whatsoever to do with the legend of anything. It had to do with the physical shape and the feeling and the creativity that went into making this an iconic thing that people would find appealing. It had no -- that is the way I feel.
            MR. RAFFERTY: And Your Honor, if I might, I would like to have the deputy clerk pass -- publish to the jury the actual bottles?
            THE COURT: And maybe you could identify which one bottles you are talking about.
            MR. RAFFERTY: I would like to pass them all, Your Honor. Because I am going to try give them each a voice. Exhibits 45, 55, 56, 57, and 58.

2
                THE COURT: The clerk may circulate those to 3
    the jury.
                45, 55, 46, 57 and 58. Am I correct?
5
                MR. RAFFERTY: You are, Your Honor.
                So the 45 is the Crystal Head bottle. 55 is
7
    the Blanco -- it's already on the -- there's a duplicate 8 on -- 9
                THE CLERK: This is 55.
10
                MR. RAFFERTY: She can use either.
11
                THE CLERK: 55.
12
                MR. RAFFERTY: 45 is the Crystal Head bottle. 55 is the Blanco, the white one. 56 is the 13
    Resposado, the yellow. 57 is the Anejo, the black one.
    And the other black one with the crystals is 58.
                THE COURT: The clerk should be circulating

18
                THE CLERK: Counsel, did you say 58?
19
                MR. RAFFERTY: Yes.
20
                THE COURT: 45, 55, 56, 57, and 58.
                MR. RAFFERTY: Could we also circulate
22
              I would like to give 700 to the witness.
23
                772.
24
                THE COURT: 700 and 772?
25
                MR. RAFFERTY: 772. I got the number wrong.
```

1
    I apologize, Your Honor.
2
                THE COURT: 772 is the exhibit to be placed before the witness.
3
                THE CLERK: It is before the witness.
 4
                THE COURT: Now, does Counsel wish to have 5 that circulated as well?
7
                MR. RAFFERTY: No. That one can stay with the witness.
9
                THE CLERK: Okay.
10
                THE COURT: I think the jurors have examined the bottles. And so the clerk may retrieve those.
12 Counsel, you may continue with your 13 examination.
                MR. RAFFERTY: Thank you, Your Honor.
14

    BY MR. RAFFERTY:
       Q. Mr. Alexander, could you just take a close look
17 at Exhibit 772, which is still in front of you, the Blanco bottle.
18 19
       A. Yes.
20
       Q. Can you tell me whether or not it is hand painted 21 or machine painted from looking at it?
22
23 painted.
24
       Q. Okay. So if it's hand painted -- 2.5
       A. I'm not sure though. There are parts of it that
```

1 look hand painted.
2
           If it is painted, does it qualify as a piece of 3
    art?
4
       Α.
           No.
5
       Q. Now, the bottles themselves, the Globefill
6
    Crystal Head bottle has a particulars stopper, doesn't 7
    it?
8
       A. Yes.
           And it identifies itself as Crystal Head Tequila 9
10
    -- Crystal Head Vodka?
11
           The stopper?
       Α.
12
       Q.
           No, not the stopper. The bottle itself?
13
       Α.
           Yes.
           And the KAH Tequila bottles identify themselves 14
15
    as KAH bottles on the stopper and on the neck?
16
       Α.
           Yes.
17
       Ο.
           And you see that by just looking at the bottle?
18
            If you carefully examine it, you can.
       Α.
19
           So if you picked it up to buy it, you could see
       Q.
20
    it?
           You certainly wouldn't know if you got it off a 21
       Α.
22 bar or at a restaurant.
23
           That wasn't my question, sir.
       Q.
24
       Α.
           Oh, sorry.
2.5
       Q.
           If you picked it up to buy it, you could see that it was a KAH Tequila bottle?

```
2
       Α.
          Yes.
       Q. And do you have any trouble recognizing the KAH
3
    Tequila bottles versus the Crystal Head Vodka bottle?
5
           What do you mean?
       Α.
6
           Do you have any trouble when you -- they've been 7 passing them around today. Do you know which are which?
8
       A. Sure.
                MR. RAFFERTY: I have no further questions
10 at this time, Your Honor.
11
                THE COURT: Redirect? Oh, I'm sorry.

           I'm sorry?
       Α.
6
           What kind of event was that?
       Q.
7
           It was at a cocktail party dinner at someone's
       Α.

    house that was -- the party was for -- in my honor.
           Which of the KAH bottles was it?
9
10
       Α.
           I don't remember. There actually were two or 11 three there.
12
       Q.
           Were there Crystal Head bottles on the table as well?
1.3
           It was a bar. It was a large bar. And they were there for me. Because -- it was there for me.

16

    Tequila.
11
           What is it you are asking her to do? What are 12 you trying to keep her from doing?
13
       Α.
           I'm trying to keep this bottle that I consider a direct copy of my bottle as an idea, which we have trade 14 dress for, legally we have the right to a market alcohol 15 16 in a skull-shaped bottle. It doesn't say, Clear 17 painted, red, green or blue. It is alcohol in a 18 skull-shaped bottle. And I would like to stop her from 19 doing it.
20
       Q. Do you want to stop -- would you have an 21 objection if she changed the bottle and sold tequila?
22
                MR. RAFFERTY: Your Honor, objection.
23
                THE COURT: Sustained.
24
    BY MR. BERG:
2.5
       Q.
           Tell us whether or not you want to stop her from
```

1 selling tequila in any bottle?
2
           Oh, absolutely not. I would wish her well.
 3
                MR. BERG: Thank you.
                Pass the witness, Your Honor.
 4
                THE COURT: We've completed the examination
6 of this witness. This is a logical break time.
7
                The jurors may have questions of this 8 witness. So if you do, this would be the time to write 9
10
                And then I would inquire of counsel, may be 11 witness be excused.
12
                MR. BERG: Yes. But if they have questions.
13
                THE COURT: Well, No. I'm asking now.
    if they have questions, they would write them down and
15
    send them.
16
                But I think they have no questions.
17
                So may the witness be excused?
                MR. BERG: He can. I do think the witness
19 is going to stay as long as he can until he has to 20 attend to a personal matter, Your Honor.
21
                THE COURT: Any objection to the witness 22 being excused?
23
                MR. RAFFERTY: No objection, Your Honor.
                THE COURT: So the witness is excused. That means you may stay if you wish, but you dent have to.
25
```

1
                THE WITNESS: Thank you all for your 2 courtesy. Appreciate it very much.
                THE COURT: The witness is excused.
3
                So we do have one additional witness that we will be taking today so we are not going to recess as early as I thought. We are going to let counsel complete their examination of that witness.
7
8
                So for that reason we'll take a longer break now. Normally this would be 15 minutes. But it will be 9 a little over 30 minutes. Sufficient time for those who 10 want to get something to eat, hopefully to do that.
12
                So the return time will be 1:00 o'clock.
13
                So the jurors are excused now. Come back at 1:00 o'clock and we'll hear the next witness.
                Counsel are excused, and we will resume at 1:00 o'clock. And I'm hoping we can complete that second witness before we recess. Thank you.
17
18
                THE CLERK: Please rise. This court is in 19 recess.
20
21
                THE COURT: We are back on the record.
                                                         Wе
22 have our jury, and we are ready to go.
                The next witness.
24
                MR. FAY: Plaintiff Globefill would like to call Jonathan Hemi.
2.5
```

1
                THE COURT: All right. The witness may come 2 forward. And the clerk will administer the oath.
3
                THE CLERK: You can step up to the witness 4 stand.
5
6
                          JONATHAN HEMI,
7
        Called as a witness herein, having been first duly 8 sworn on oath, was examined and testified as follows:
9
                THE WITNESS: I do.
10
                THE CLERK: Please have a seat. State and 11 spell your name for the record.
12
                THE WITNESS: Name is Jonathan Hemi.
13
    J-O-N-A-T-H-A-N, H-E-M-I.
14
                THE COURT: Counsel may proceed.
15
16
                        DIRECT EXAMINATION
    BY MR. FAY:
17
18
       O. Good afternoon, Mr. Hemi. Could you introduce 19 yourself to the jury, please.
20 THE COURT: What is the question? That is 21 so general and so broad.
22
                MR. FAY: Who are you; where do you live?
23
                THE WITNESS: I'm Jonathan Hemi. I live in Toronto, Ontario, Canada. I'm the managing partner at
2.5
    Globefill Incorporated.
```

BY MR. FAY:
2
       Q. Mr. Hemi, is Globefill Incorporated a plaintiff in this action?
3
       A. We are.
 4
       Q. And you said managing partner, can you tell the 5
    jury what that entails?
7
       A. So the managing partner basically is the 8 equivalent of probably the president or CEO of a company. So very involved in the day-to-day operations of the company.
10
11
           We have our staff, our head office in Toronto.
    That's where some of our staff reside. Involved in
13 budget, forecasting, the general running of the 14 corporation.
15
       Q. Okay. You said you have some of your staff in Canada.
17
           Do you have staff anywhere else?
           We do. We have a couple of people in the United 18
       Α.
19 States. One in Southern California. We do have a few 20 people in Europe. Total company's about 17 people.
       O. What is the business of Globefill?
21
22
           So Globefill Incorporated is the makers of Crystal Head Vodka. And our job is to not only produce 23
    and manufacture Crystal Head Vodka but to also sell it globally, if possible. And to market it like any other 2.5

    alcoholic beverage brand.
2
           Does Globefill manufacture any other spirit?
       Q.
3
       Α.
           We do not.
           Do you manufacture any other vodka?
 4
       Q.
           We do not.
5
       Α.
           When did you start working at Globefill?
 6
       Q.
7
           I was actually hired in early December. I was
       Α.

    mid-November 2007 is when I was actually first
10 introduced to everything. And then by early December, I 11 had started. So December 2007.
12
       Q. Mr. Hemi, why don't you describe that 13 introduction that you just mentioned?
14
                THE COURT: I'm not sure what the question 15 is.

16
17
       Q. Mr. Hemi, you just referred to the fact that you were introduced to Globefill.
19
       A. Correct.
20 THE COURT: And so what?
    BY MR. FAY:
22
           And so could you describe that introduction?
       Ο.
23 Sure. So back in November 2007, Dan Aykroyd had 24 a project that he wanted to work on. It was Crystal 2.5
    Head Vodka. And I was one of the people he wanted me to get involved in running the business and taking it from the bottle and the concept to the actual commercial end of the business, to build the business around this product, to market it and to start running a business.

      When did you officially become an employee of Globefill?
  Α.
      Early December. 2007. I don't know the exact date.
      And once you started your employment with
   Q.
Globefill, what did you do?
       Originally my job was vice president of sales and marketing. And originally it was to develop the original marketing plan on Crystal Head Vodka to the partnership. And it was to help develop the -- help develop the making of the vodka, as well as finalize the bottle as well. So the bottle was pretty much done.
But there was still some little tweaks left in the manufacturing level that we needed to do.
       When you started in December 2007 were you making
   Q.
vodka?
   Α.
       Not yet, we were not.
       Where you producing bottles of vodka?
   Q.
       We just had the fourth prototype bottle. So there were several prototypes that happened before this to get to what you see today. So we were given that
```

1
    last prototype bottle.
2
           Had you launched Crystal Head Vodka yet?
       Q.
3
       Α.
           No.
           Was it your job to launch Crystal Head Vodka?
 4
5
       Α.
           It was.
           So did you put together that market plan that you
7
    mentioned?
8
       Α.
           Yes, I did.
           What went into that?
9
10
       Α.
           So generally the way we would do any marketing plan, we would research the market, which was North
12
    America to start. We would pull information from trade 13 publications, articles, magazines, and then get a feeling of who our main competitors were going to be at 14 the time. The category itself. The price category, and 15 16 things like that. You know, a SWOT analysis, what they 17 call, which is the strengths, weaknesses, opportunities, 18 threats.
19
           And then from there, once we identify that, we'd 20 look to how we are going to enter that market. What 21 would be the most efficient and productive way to enter 22 that market. And from there, that's how we started 23 developing our marketing plan.
24
       Q. What market for vodka did you decide to try to 2.5
    enter?
```

1
       Α.
           We went into the super premiums and luxury vodka 2 market.
       Q. And what price point were you looking at?
3
          We were looking at approximately $50 a bottle,
5
    retail.
6
       Q. And where did you intend to initially launch this 7 product? Which part of the world?
8
           Specifically the United States.
       Α.
           Okay. Now, could Globefill -- is Globefill a 9
10
    Canadian corporation?
11
       Α.
           It is.
12
       Q. Could Globefill sell Crystal Head Vodka directly into the United States?
13 14
       Α.
           No.
15
           So the alcohol -- the alcohol beverage market in 16 the United States is what we call a three-tier system.
17
           You need an importer, because it is -- it is -- 18 you know, it is a controlled substance. You do need an 19 importer with the proper licensing for the United 20 States. And then that importer will sell to a state distributor. And that distributor will then be allowed to sell to bars, retail stores, you know, restaurants, 23 things like that, before it even gets to the consumer.
22
24
           So before you even see it, it's gone through three other levels.
2.5
```

- Q. Okay. Did you arrange for Crystal Head Vodka and Globefill to have a relationship with an importer?
 - A. I did.

- Q. What importer is that?
- A. I chose Infinium Spirits.
- Q. Why did you choose Infinium Spirits?
- A. Couple of reasons. First of all they specialized in premium spirits. So there's a lot of importers that carry a lot of different products. And it's very hard to be good at both. Wine and spirits generally don't mix as well. So we chose one that was highly focused on premium spirits.
- Second reason why is, they were based in California, which is the largest luxury vodka market probably in the world.
- And then the third reason is is to have an adequate size sales team that could help us cover the marketplace with distributors.
- Q. Prior to your employment at Globefill, did you have experience in the spirits market?
- A. I did.
 - Q. What was that experience?
- A. So I do own another company, it's a distribution company I've owned since 1995 in the wine and spirits industry. And I probably launched about 15 or 16 other

1 spirit products into the United States, Canada, even 2 parts of Asia.
3
       Q.
           Was that the reason you were hired by Globefill?
           Yes, I believe so.
 4
       Α.
           And when did you first approach Infinium about 5
       Ο.
    being an importer for Crystal Head Vodka?
7
          We first approached them in about -- in
       Α.
    March 2008.
8
           So that's about four months after you were 9
10 employed?
11
       A. Correct.
12
       Q.
           Okay. And what did you do? What did you say to them?
13
           Well, we put -- the initial call was in February 14
       Α.
    once I knew we had everything ready to show. The 15 marketing plan was signed off by then by the partners.
16
17
    We determined the path we were going to take with the 18 liquid with the vodka itself. And then we set up that 19 initial meeting.
20
           And I basically did a very similar presentation to Infinium that I did for others.
22
           Did Infinium agree to be your importer?
       0.
23
           Instantly, actually. It's never happened to me before.
       Α.
24
2.5
       Q. Were they excited about being your importer?
```

```
A. Absolutely.
```

8

- Q. And as the importer, do they actually buy the product from you?
- A. They do. They actually take title. They do have to warehouse it. And then they do have to resell it.
- Q. So they make a financial commitment to the product?
- A. 100 percent.
- Q. Now you have an importer. It's March of 2008.
- 10 What happens next?
- A. The next thing is, we have an importer, and that importer is now going to have to start selling to distributors -- or at least presenting our brand to
- 14 distributors across the United States.
- So that was the next stage, which was: Develop a plan with Infinium sales team to go and pitch our product to the various distributors in the United States.
- Q. Does Globefill today work with distributors in the United States?
- A. We do. We don't work directly with them because there's a certain hierarchy as we're all familiar with.

 You don't want to go above anyone's head. So when we do work with distributors or retailers even, we'll make sure that we work through the Infinium team and with the retailer. We'll make sure that we work with that state distributor. They don't like you going and see Costco direct or Beverages and More direct. They feel kind of out of the loop and -- I don't blame them. So we respect the hierarchy very much.

   Q. How many distributors in the United States distribute Crystal Head Vodka?
  Α.
       51.
       One for each state. And one state's got two?
   Q.
   Α.
      Well, Washington, D.C. is it's own.
       I see.
   Q.
       The 50 states plus D.C.
   Α.
   Q.
       Okay.
       So by law a lot of the times you are only allowed to have one. In a lot of the states you can have only one distributor in that state.
   Q. Okay. What kinds of things did you do with Infinium to assist the distributors that would ultimately distribute Crystal Head Vodka?
  A. So one of the things -- well, we did a lot things. Besides being extra feet on the street, we also had put together marketing plans, incentive plans for these distributors and for the retailers as well.
      And the reason why is, these distributors are massive. The average distributor will have about 10- or 12,000 other products. They are so big.

So as you can imagine, you got to get some attention in there. You've got to get their attention. And one of the ways that's commonly done for especially smaller brands like us is to develop some type of incentive program, some type of Dan Aykroyd plan program in some cases, things like that.

Once we would do that with the distributors, we would do something similar with the key retailers. So things like bottle signings are a great way to engage and get to develop a relationship with, you know, for example, Binny's in Chicago, it was a large chain. Or the Beverages & More guys. Mission Liquors.

- Q. Who buys Crystal Head Vodka from those distributors?
- A. So once the distributors agree to purchase the product, they bought -- physically do buy it from the importer. They will resell it to bars, hotels, restaurants, retail stores.
- Q. And does Globefill on behalf of its product, Crystal Head Vodka, do anything to assist those bars and restaurants, liquor stores and hotels?
- A. Absolutely. So with Infinium as well, we do have to give them some credit. So with Infinium as well, we do help do things. Like we do have our own brand ambassadors, for example. Where all they do is once the distributor gets that product into, let's say, a Denny's, we will send in either one of our people or one of our brand ambassadors, and they will make sure that those people are educated on our brand, aware of it, how to price it properly, things like that.

Because distributors are really key to get you into the market. But a lot of times the execution is not as good as it can be. So they will drop off a bottle, but that's about it most of the time. So it is really, really important to make sure -- especially with a premium brand -- you know, $50 vodka, you've got to explain, why is this $50. Why should I be buying this?

14 How do I sell this to my customer. So that's where we come in. Again, respecting the hierarchy, but we do do

16 that.

Q. Then finally, what does Globefill do to reach that ultimate consumer, the person who either buys a bottle of Crystal Head Vodka or has a drink at a bar or restaurant?

A. So that's where we work with these retailers and with these bars to start developing feature cocktails, incentive programs, things like that, to help bartenders and wait staff to recommend the product. Making sure we get it on the menu and we price it appropriately, not too high, not too low. Things like that.

1
2
           And then a lot of relationship building. We are constantly out there building relationships. We don't 3 have -- you know, we are 17 people globally. We do not 4 have multimillion dollar budgets. So we have to do a 5 lot of the ground work ourselves. We can't just take up
7 billboard ads in 50 states or TV commercials from that 8 perspective.
           Is marketing a product like Crystal Head Vodka, 9
       Q.
    is that a lot of relationships?
10
           It's all relationship, especially in our size.
11
12
           Like I said, we don't have that ability or that 13 leverage that a bigger company would have with manpower and with marketing dollars.
15
       Q. Okay. Now you mentioned -- let's move on to the 16 vodka itself. When you showed up in December of 2007, had the vodka itself been decided upon?
17
18
           No. It wasn't really finalized at that point
       Α.
19
    yet.
20
           Did you then take steps to finalize, decide what
       Q.
    that vodka would be?
21
22
       A. Yeah. So part of our marketing analysis was to 23 find out where we would fit in the marketplace. And 24 based on that, we chose to be a pure vodka.
2.5
           We found that none of the major big players in are going after, you know, other things. But no one was going after or attacking the purity angle. And we realized a lot of population didn't realize how many additives are put in vodka. Because people think, oh, it's clear, it's tasteless, so they probably don't add anything. And we started developing our vodka we realized, oh, geez, there's actually quite a bit of stuff that can be put in here, and it's all okay.

                                                   There
is nothing against the law.
       So we thought, this is a great opportunity for us to start playing in that market, which would be the purity market, no additives added to our vodka.
       And that's kind of -- and from there, we started developing different versions of Crystal Head to get it taste the way we wanted it to taste.
   Ο.
       Why would the manufacturer of vodka add anything to it other than vodka?
   A. Well, it depends what they are going for. But if you add certain things to your vodka, you can go a little cheaper on your grain and on your quality of other ingredients.
       So if you add some oils to it, it makes it a little more slippery so you don't feel as much burn going down. In some of these products you can actually -- if you actually pay attention to it, what you're actually getting on your tongue is a little bit of oil and it allows it to slide down without you feeling as much heat.

So it is a great way to mask some of the poor qualities of the grain. And it is a great way to mask some of the poor distillation processes and filtration processes, because that's where your cost is, right.

- Q. Are there any such oils in Crystal Head Vodka?
- 10 A. No.

- 11 Q. Are there any additives of any sort?
- 12 A. No.
 - Q. How did you get from December of 2007 to having what you thought, and the rest of the folks at Globefill thought, was an acceptable no additive vodka?
 - A. Well, the first thing we did is we bought competitor products and tasted them. Sounds like an easy job. But actually it's kind of hard to taste a lot of people's vodkas. And we got to learn about what we liked and what we didn't like.

Once which found out what we liked, we then went to our distillery that we used. We use a government distillery. It's actually the last government owned still in North America. It's called the Newfoundland and Labrador Liquor Corporation. I just call them NLLC.

1
    It's easy for me.
2
           And we went to them saying, okay, we know what we like. Now we got to do it without additives, basically.
3
    And that's when they kind of laughed at us.
4
           Why did they laugh?
       0.
           They laughed at us. They didn't laugh.
6
       Α.
    said, you're kind of kidding.
8
           The reason why is, in order to do that, if you take out all additives, it's pretty hard to get a really 9 10 smooth tasting vodka. And they were right. The first few versions were not very good.
12
           And then we realized we needed to upgrade things 13 like the grain and the filtration and how we distill it.
    And how many times we distill it.
15
           And then it started coming together. As you add 16 cost to these things and increase your quality, you can 17 do it. And not only can you do it, you can do it pretty 18 good. Because we've won some of the biggest metals in 19 vodka now.
20
       Q. Do you know what the term mash means when it 21 comes to the distilling process?
22
       A. Yeah, I do. So it's actually -- do you want me 23 to explain it?
24
       Q.
          Yes.
```

So a mash is the step before you actually distill. So just very quickly, what they do is, you take the grain or the corn. We use what's called a peaches and cream corn, which is a sweet corn, native to Ontario, Canada and Ontario. It's stuff that you can barbecue with. It's not cattle corn which some vodkas are made from, maize. Ours isn't maize. And what they do is you mix that with water. You kind of make it into almost like a cereal. Then you add yeast to it. And then it creates the fermentation process which accesses the sugars from these grains that will eventually convert it to alcohol.

       So once you have that mash done and you've added the yeast to it, then you basically want to distill it.
And what distilling basically is is, in it's simplest form, you're basically heating and cooling that mash to remove impurities from the vapors. And then when you cool it, those vapors that were heated turn into a liquid and that's the distillate. That's the pure alcohol. That's at about 95 percent alcohol. And then you cut that with water. Again, water is a key component of the final quality as well of your vodka.
Because 60 percent of it is water.
     Okay. How many mashes or experimental mashes did Globefill go through before they came upon the one that they thought was right for their vodka?

So we went through 20 versions, about, maybe 21,
I want guess about 20, there were a lot. And like I said, the first few were tough. And then we started making changes, adding dollars, making it more expensive for us, but also at the same time producing a much better quality vodka without the additives.
   Q. And finally, you decided upon this peaches and cream corn, right?
   Α.
      Yes.
      And that was a unanimous decision by the various principals of Globefill?

  Α.
      It was.
      Now, how many times is Crystal Head Vodka distilled?
   A. That is another process. We chose to distill it four times. We like four. We like it -- you can distill -- you can distill things a hundred times if you want. Every time you distill though, you start removing flavors. You are removing purities, but you start stripping out flavors. So you kind of have to be careful. If you do it too much it's going to taste like water.
       You really want to find that balance where it allows you to remove as many impurities as you can without stripping out every bit of flavor. For us, it

       Q. So, again, you started at Globefill in December of 2007. By approximately what time had you made your decision on the vodka that would go into your product?
           So by March, middle to the end of March, just before we were ready to present to Infinium, we had our first sample that we made that we were comfortable with.
       Q. Okay. Now, is there anything else that goes into selling a bottle of vodka?
           Oh, yeah, there's a lot.
       Α.
       Q.
           Example, is there a bottle?
13
       Α.
           Yeah, you need a bottle. You need a bottle.
                                                         You
    need a liquid. You need great liquid, not just liquid.
    You need great liquid. You need a lot of hard work.
    You need to do a launch. There's a whole number of things that you have to do, from a lot of relationships, 17 a lot of getting on the rode, a lot of traveling.
19
       Q. When you showed up in December 2007, I think you said that you had -- or maybe you didn't. But did you 21 have a prototype of a bottle?
22
           Yeah, we did. It was the fourth and final 23 prototype of the bottle. And that, like I said, was of 2007 and the launch of Crystal Head Vodka to get that bottle to the point where you could make thousands of them?

   A. Well, first of all, we have to approve a final bottle, and then make the mold. And molds take a long time. Especially -- well, our mold takes a long time to make. So we did tweak the neck a bit and make it a hexagonal shape neck. It's hard to show you, because I don't have it.
       Then we increased the flange on the neck a little bit. Deepened the eye sockets a little more. Gave a little more definition to the teeth.
       And from there, once we had the bottle, then we had the vodka, we had the importer. Now we had the launch.

           Have you seen a few of those?

           Yes.
           What is that?
3
       Q.
           Bottle of Crystal Head Vodka.
 4
       Α.
           Now, is that a difficult vodka to make -- 5
       Ο.
6 difficult.
7
           Is that a difficult bottle to make?
8
       Α.
           It is. You know, we want to Bruni Glass and Bruni Glass is probably one of the best if not the best 9 bottle makers in the world. And we went to -- they had 10 a factory in Slovenia. It's a crystal factory in 11 12 Slovenia. It's a specialty glass. And actually a lot 13 of Eastern European countries are really great at making specialty glass.
14
15
           So this was probably the most difficult bottle 16 they had ever made in all their years. I'm fortunate enough to -- over the years, because of this bottle -- 17 18 get to know the owners of Bruni Glass, because they were 19 so impressed. They put this on their Website. They are 20 proud to be able to accomplish something like this.
21
       Q. And there has been some testimony about the spout 22 on that bottle. Did the spout cause any particular 23 difficulties for you?
```

A. Yeah. Anyone who has been in the industry, especially as long as I have. The first thing I didn't like about it was the spout. Not that I didn't like it.

It looks beautiful. But when you are in the industry, you are thinking about production, you are thinking about costs, you are thinking about marketing, you are thinking about a whole bunch of things that an artist really isn't. This was a problem. But I lost that battle. My first loss.
      Why is it a problem?
   Ο.
      Well, you know, I have been around bottle lines a long time. And I've worked with other distilleries.
   Α.
The way that it -- it delaminates the ability to do mass production.
       So the way bottle lines work is, the bottles get filled on a line. And you basically have a filler. And that filler only goes straight up and down. And the problem with this bottle is -- you try to put something straight up and down, it's going to chip it. So what happens is, you need to either make the bottle neck straight, like that, or hand fill it, and then you have to hand cork it.
       When you are hand corking and hand filling, you are also hand labelling. So it becomes a lot more expensive and a lot slower.
   Q. Did Globefill hand fill, hand cork and hand label?

23

Yes. I even did nine myself. Yes. So your Α. standard automatic bottling line would have maybe two people on the line. We had 22 people with these to make sure -- it wasn't pretty. But on the factory floor we had these steel tables. And they had the labeling guy with the special -- had held it like this. You have the corking guy with the -- you'd cork it by hand. And we would fill it. And then we would, with hairdryers, use the heat shrinker to tamper proof evidence, seal. And then packed by hand. Yeah. Thank God I only had to do nine. But I needed to understand it. Q. Now, does -- did Globefill do anything to ensure the quality of that bottle?

Α. Yeah. So, you know, being the most expensive -or one of the most expensive vodkas to ever hit the market, the consumer expects perfection. And I don't blame them. I would too.

So the first thing we do -- quality starts at every level, whether it's the liquid or the bottle, or how we go to the market, or even the activations we do. It has to be perfect.

So from a glass perspective -- first of all, we chose Slovenia, which is not cheap. A crystal company is a lot more expensive than a normal glass factory.

                                                      So
the first thing we did was -- the Slovenian plant would put bits of actual crystal in the sand when they would melt, so that you get an extra clear glass bottle.
You'll see a lot of our bottles, they're a lot clearer than other clear bottles. And that's because of that little bit of extra crystal. Because there is usually no crystal. But they take bits of crystal and melt it in there to give you just a slightly more clear bottle.
That's the first thing we did.
            The second thing we did was -- because this is such a hard bottle to make, the defect rates were really high. So our best day of production, four out of ten bottles are no good, believe it or not. It is a complicated bottle to make with heat and stuff like
that.
            If it cools down too fast it cracks. The base is heavier. There's a whole bunch of things.
-- so on a good day, our best day, we get a four out of ten, 40 percent rejection rate.
            So what we have to do is we also have to get -- hire teams of inspectors. So as they came off the line and started to cool, we would have people pick up bottles that were no good and stick it back in the furnace to melt it down and start again.
```

14

15

16

17

18

19 20 21

22

23

24

So those are two really key things -- three key things: Going to Slovenia, to an actual crystal company, that was an added cost. Having crystal bits added to the whole process, more money. Having to have our own -- we call them -- reselection teams during these times.
           And then of course, because of this bottle and the high defect rate, we can only make eight bottles at a time -- bless you. We can only make eight bottles at a time, whereas your standard bottle can make 32.
You know, a wine bottle, you can do the 32-bottle mold.
We can do eight if we're lucky. So it's a quarter of the time as well. And time is money, unfortunately.
                                                      So
it slows everything down.
      What is the average rejection rate for bottles in the spirits industry?
      So a standard bottle -- let's take the Grey Goose bottle or something like that, where it's a very simple shape bottle, probably about half a percent. We are probably about 80 to 90 times higher defect rate than a standard vodka bottle would have. And that's just on our best day.
       On our first day, while we are calibrating our machines, you had 98 percent defect rate. It is all going into the garbage.
```

```
1
           But on the second day you're starting to get 2 something.
           And then on the third day, we're rocking and 3 rolling at 40 percent. That's really -- that's our 4 5 goal.
           How many people on the assembly line are dedicated to looking at the bottles for defects?
7
8
       Α.
           Where? At the glass --
           Yes.
9
       Q.
10
       Α.
           -- or at the factory?
11
       Q.
           At the factory?
12
           Okay. Because we do actually have people at the Α.
13 factory as well, because things slip by.
           We usually have about -- teams of about -- 14 because you can only do eight at the time, they are not 15 16 coming off as fast. It's not like an assembly line. We 17 will usually have about four or five people. As they 18 cool, they have these gloves because the glass is still 19
    hot. They are doing these quick little inspections 20 checking it, looking up at the light, just in case.
21
    Some stuff is very obvious where, you know, part of the 22 face is slid down a little bit or something like that.
23
    That doesn't require much. Those get picked up 24 beforehand.
2.5
           And then our secondary inspection is actually done at the NLLC. Because we have so many people touching this bottle. We have 32 hands touching this bottle. So they've actually caught defects as well than our reselection team hasn't. Some of them are pretty bad defects, so...

Q. Okay. Can you tell all of us again, what is NLLC?

A. It's the Newfoundland and Labrador Liquor
```

Corporation. They're a government owned still, the last in North America. We chose them because they have extremely high standards for testing. More than I think any distillery I've ever seen. It literally tests every batch of vodka. And we laser coat every single bottle every day so we can track any issues. And they even do sensory lab testing every single day. So that's why we chose them.

- O. So NLLC makes the vodka?
- A. Yes.

2.5

- Q. And then it puts the vodka in the bottle?
- A. They make the vodka to our recipe. So we came up with the recipe and then -- as you know. And then we provided some testing. And then they actually then do the mixing of it.
 - Q. And they do all the packaging too; is that right?
 - A. Yes. Well, we -- everything is bottled there as well.

1
2
           Does Crystal Head Vodka come in a box?
       Q.
3
       Α.
           It does.
           And now NLLC put the bottle in the box?
 4
       Q.
           They do.
5
       Α.
           And any other kind of wrapping that goes on the 6
7 outside, they do that as well?
8
       A. Correct. Even gift sets.
           Now, going back once again. You started December 9
       Q.
10 of 2007. When would you say that you had a bottle that was ready for production of your vodka?
11
       A. So the bottle itself -- we made those 12 13 modifications pretty quick, because we knew what we 14 wanted.
15
           So by January we had the prototype changes. And 16 then we just have to go to Bruni to get it now made.
           So the basic mold itself was made. Which is 17 18 where most of the cost is -- not most of the cost, most 19 of the time is.
20
           So we were ready to have bottles land in 21 Newfoundland probably I want to say April-May. Took 22 about three months to make 30,000 bottles.
23
           When you say May, you are talking about 2008?
       Q.
24
       Α.
           2008, May.
2.5
       Q. So in 2008 you had a bottle?
```

1
                 You have to say yes.
2
       Α.
           Correct, yes.
            In 2008 you had a vodka?
3
       Q.
           We did.
 4
       Α.
5
            In 2008 you had a marketing plan?
       Q.
 6
       Α.
           We did.
7
           And in 2008 you had a box?
       Q.

           We did.
       Α.
           What next?
9
       Q.
           Then it was time -- we also had an importer.
10
       Α.
11
    Then it was time to launch.
12
           When was Crystal Head Vodka launched?
            It was launched September 23, 2008, in Anaheim at 13
       Α.
    the House of Blues.
14
15
           Okay. Was that an important event?
       Ο.
16
       Α.
           It's huge.
17
       Ο.
           Okay. And why is it huge?
18
           Well, it's your first impression, right.
       Α.
19
          It's like people, you only get one chance to make 20 a first impression.
21
            So this was our first time that we are going to 22 launch a bottle that no one had ever seen before.
23
    it wasn't just another vodka or a tequila or a rum.
24
    This was something that was going to be a game changer.
2.5
    It took glass making on a commercial level to a new level. There was nothing even close to this before. So it was a big deal for us.

In our launch we had some trade media there. We had Dan. We had the distributor sales force in California there. So we had about 200 sales people. We also -- we had about a dozen trade media as well. And then we also had a couple of key retail accounts there as well. Because you want to make them feel like they are part of something before anybody else. So that's what we did.

And then we got up on stage and we presented our vodka. On -- when I say present, you know, Dan went up on stage. I think I got to introduce him. Dan went up on stage and he started talking about the vodka.

This is what our vodka is. This is why you should buy it. These are the great things about our vodka. This is what no one else is doing. And it was huge. And it went viral. It literally went viral.

Q. What do you mean by that, it went viral?

A. Well, we had a very basic Website in 2008. None of us are huge really -- none of the partners. Like I'm considered high tech in our partnership, which is a little scary. But we had a Website with a web design company called Mind Blossom. And in the first four days, since we -- when we launched it, our site was knocked out. It was down. And the reason why is just 1 2

    too much traffic.
           And Mind Blossom had told me that in that week we 3 had more hits on our website than Toyota, in that four 4 days. We had well over 100,000 hits. And it caused us
 6 to have to reevaluate what our Website needed to be.
7
    And that's when we kind of knew we had something pretty 8 exciting as well.
           You mentioned that at the launch -- first of all, 9
       Q.
    where in Anaheim was the launch?
10 11
       Α.
          House of Blues.
           House of Blues.
12
       Q.
13
           And why was the House of Blues chosen?
           The House of Blues, as we said before, Dan 14
    Aykroyd is one of the cofounders of the House of Blues.
15
16
    And it was a great venue. They are these big music 17 halls. Some of them are pretty cool actually. It's a 18 great venue to launch. You know, you got music.
                                                       You've 19
    got vodka. The owner is well known. You can house 20 hundreds of people. It was great way to introduce it.
21
       Ο.
           Now, so you've launched in Anaheim?
22
       Α.
           Correct.
23
           One city in one country. What comes next?
       Q.
24
       Α.
           Well, we knew we had something pretty big. On 2.5
    the way home from Anaheim to L.A., we found out that there was one store called Hi-Time Liquors, which is a well-known, independent store. And they were the first people to get Crystal Head. And they actually bought a whole pallet, which was insane. Like could you imagine buying 50 cases of $50 vodka for one store? You just don't do that. They did.

      And Dan and I -- Dan and I -- remember, Dan, we
-- I can't say that.
       We went on the way home and we saw the display.
And Dan came by and shook everybody's hand and signed a few bottles, which is where we got the idea of this bottle signing actually.
       Thank them for their business. They showed us an ad they'd taken out in Orange County Magazine that we didn't even have to pay for. And that was our very first, I quess, sales call. And then we made plans to do five more cities for October.
      And would it be fair to say you did many more sales calls?

   Α.
      Oh, yes.
      What were those five cities that you went to after Anaheim?

      So we did Orlando. No actually we did six, I guess. I'm not good at -- I should be good at math.
                                                      Wе
did Orlando/Miami. I count that as one. Orlando/Miami.

Then we did New Orleans. Then we did Dallas/Houston.
And then we ended in Las Vegas. I want to say October 29th or 30th.
  Q. So that was all over a period of about -- I'm better at math -- six weeks?
   A. Well, we had to take a break first because now we knew -- like this thing -- you have to understand, our whole year's production we thought for all of North America was going to be 5,000 cases. 30,000 bottles.
      After that launch, after it went viral. After the response we got from retailers and people, we quickly realized we had a tiger by the tail. We had to do something and we had to start planning. We just couldn't hop -- so we needed two weeks to try to get ourselves together.
      And so in two 2 weeks we started, I think, I want to say, October 8th and we ended on the 29th.
      How long did it take you to sell out those
   Q.
5,000 cases?
  A. Nine days. And we could have sold more.
                                                But we limited everybody to just one bottle. We had people wanting to buy cases.
       We sold out before we even got to Las Vegas.
There was only 50 cases left. And Lee's Liquor, which was a retailer there, bought all of it. And then rationed it out as Dan would sign them.
```

Q. So you talk about going to these other cities, and you talk about launching in these other cities. What did that entail?

A. They are very long days, actually. There is a cost as well. We decided to go by bus. Because it was the most efficient way to move us all through there quickly. No airport issues. You know, we did have alcohol. You don't have to go through all that stuff.

So we had to get buses, rent buses. And what we would do is, we had to get a PR company involved as well, because we are moving.

And what we do is -- our days would start pretty early actually. We'd usually start -- we'd hit a big -- we'd hit two radio stations. Usually we'd hit the two biggest radio stations, usually a rock and roll one, and a talk radio one or a pop or a rock and roll.

We'd start that at 7:30 in the morning. Dan would either go in or he'd call in from the road, wherever we could manage it. And then we'd go to the distributor later that morning by about 9:30, 10:00 o'clock. We'd meet the entire sales team. We'd do a whole product launch there with the sales team, with Dan. He'd then sign bottles for them, take pictures with them.

The Infinium person, along with myself or another one person on our team would then give them some incentive programs as well right away so we could make sure we got the distribution out.

Then we'd usually have to have lunch with -- like a key retailer in that area, you know. So we'd usually have lunch with them. Then we'd have maybe half an hour, hour break. Then we'd go to this crazy bottle signing that was supposed to last two hours but it never lasted two hours. It was always like four hours or more. Because people didn't just bring bottles, they brought DVD's. They brought Ghost Busters. They brought everything. And Dan signed every single one of them. And shook everyone's hand. And took pictures with everybody. And that's why it took four hours instead of two.

And then after that we'd usually get back to our hotel which we had not seen yet. We'd wash up. We'd have to change. And then we'd have to have dinner with another customer or we'd have it with the owner of the distributorship.

And then after that was done, we always had to hit two or three night clubs, you know, to build some relationships. It's all part of the relationship building. Even if we didn't have product -- that much

1 product to sell, we have to still do it, because that 2 was going to come back later on. 3 So that was our typical day. Then we'd hop on the bus. We'd sleep. We'd hop on the bus, drive a few 4 more hours and get to the next city. 5 Who was driving that bus? 6 A. We had a driver. But Dan does like to drive. 7 8 Drivers can only drive so many hours in a day. And sometimes we'd have to make up a lot of time. So Dan 9 10 would put on the driver's hat. He'd be driving this big 11 bus. 12 Q. Now, we talked about maybe five or six cities 13 after Anaheim. Was that all the cities you ever visited in that bus? 14 A. No. So we ran out of product by the end of 15 16 October, as you know, just for those five cities. And 17 what happened was is -- we had to get more bottles made. 18 And bottles take a long time to make, especially when they're made in Europe.

And like I said, the defect rates, only making eight at a time versus 32. The earliest we could get bottles was February 2009.

21

22

23

24

25

So what we did between the end of October and February was, we didn't stop. We had to continue doing what we were doing. Because the last thing you want to do is have this great big splash and then go dormant, go dark for four or five months and then you have to start everything back. We had some momentum. So we continued to do things. We didn't have much product though.

       We did continue to do media. A lot unpaid -- Dan was able to get a lot of unpaid media. So that continued throughout.
       We still visited distributors to make sure.
                                                    Wе
still did shows, you know, to make sure that when we did have the product we were ready to go. And by February 2nd -- because I was doing it -- we had a 42,000-case backlog before we even had -- ready to go back into market. And you don't get 42,000-case backlog by doing nothing for those four months. We just kept going.
      And then 2009 was our big year where we hit, I want to say 65, 66 cities in about 25 or 26 states. We got a more official Crystal Head bus with decals on it and everything like that. I think we did about 118, 120 bottle signings. We were on the road well over a hundred days.
   Q. You've mentioned a couple concepts that I want to ask you about. You mentioned unpaid media. What is that?
```

It is actually the best type of media, in my mind, because I run the dollars. I don't like to pay.

1
2
    So I like it the best.
           But it's actually -- it's media. It's articles.
3
    It's radio. What Dan does. It's TV. It's things we 4 don't have to pay for. It's beverage journals. It's 5
6
    NBC, Fox, Forbes.com where they're just talking about 7
    our product. It's Howard Stern on the radio 8 interviewing Dan. It's Jimmy Fallon, Jimmy Kimmel, the Today Show. These are all things that we were on and 9 10
    did. And it doesn't get much bigger. We were in People 11 Magazine, I think in Life. There's a picture in Life 12 with Dan holding the bottle. So that's unpaid media.
13
       Q. Did -- the celebrity of Dan Aykroyd, did it give you access to unpaid media that you might otherwise not 14 15 have had?
16
       A. Yeah. So as you can imagine -- I don't know how 17 you put a value -- 18
                THE COURT: Excuse for a moment, but I think 19

    BY MR. FAY:
21
22
       Q. Was that important to you to have that access to 23 unpaid media?
24
       A. Yes. Extremely important. It's every brand owner's dream, because, you know -- I think in the 18 months when we started we had over 3,000 unpaid media. Like between articles, interviews, TV, radio, bloggers. Like 3,000. We had a book. It looked like an encyclopedia. It's super important. Because how do you put a value on that? In order to get that exposure, you'd have to actually pay someone, or pay to get in an ad or things like that. Not only is it unpaid media not paying, it's a third-party endorsement.

       So it's not like -- you know, in an ad, of course, it's going to be great, that ad. We did it.
                                                     Wе
paid for it. Why would we put something negative?
       In this case, you have somebody else giving their opinion. And it's usually positive. And in our case, it was always positive.
  Q. You also mentioned the concept of trade media.
Why don't you explain to the jury what that is.
  A. Like most industries, you know, you have your consumers and you have your trade. Whether you're in software engineering or anything like that. You have your software publications that only software guys read or programmers read.
       Just like us. We have our trade media. Stuff like Imbibe Magazine, which is great for bartenders and some of the trade. Or Business [sic] Industry News, the
```

BIN magazines. Those are read by distributors and wholesalers. Those are the things that -- that's how the trade learns about things before the public learns about things -- or learns about some of the challenges or whatever before the public does.

```
```

So we hit a lot of trade. The first step is usually trade media. And then you want to move into consumer media. And we did both. We did a combination of both. Obviously in the four months that we were out of product, we picked more trade media because you really don't need the consumer to go out there and not be able to buy the product. So we did focus more on interviews with Dan and on the trade.

But we very quickly moved into consumer media, which is, you know, TV and things like that.

- Q. You used an acronym BIN. What does that stand for?
- A. Business [sic] Industry News. So every state has their version of a business industry news that the distributors get and read.

And what it does is, they vary, different states.

But the BIN basically -- they publish -- so the retailers get this. And they're from the distributors.

The distributors get it too. It literally publishes every single product at the price point, the wholesale price point for retailers to then go and order.

So they can see what distributor represents that product, what the deal is that month on that product, on that flavor, on that site, everything, and the price, and then can go and order it.

And you can advertise on BIN. And that's a great way to get to the retailers and bars and restaurants under new products or something. Because, you know, if you are a bar manager or something, you always want to see what's new or -- especially if you're in a nightclub or a food retailer. They want to be on top of their game.

They'll look in the new product section. They'll look at some ads. They really don't need to look at the price book. They probably know it already. Or their distributor sales person is stopping by during the week anyways. But that's really key is, you know, to look at the new products. And it gives them ideas. And that's important too. So BIN was a key thing. And if you see on our media list, we hit every single BIN in almost every single state.

- Q. Now, getting around to the 65 cities that visited, did you take the bus?
- A. I took of it some of the times. I like to fly.

 Not that I don't like a lot of time with my partners, but also I sometimes go in there and set up in advance.

do you have an estimate of how many bottles Mr. Aykroyd signed?
       I would say well over a hundred thousand.
   Q.
       And today, all way up to today, how many bottles do you estimate Mr. Aykroyd has signed?
      A good quarter million.
   Α.
   Q. Do you have an estimate of how many times
Mr. Aykroyd has appeared on radio or on TV in support of this product, Crystal Head Vodka?
      Hundreds. Hundreds. Like we have over 4- or
   Α.
5,000 media on this since the beginning, like unpaid media. It's huge.
      Mr. Aykroyd is very into his product, correct?

```
So after that, what have you done with Globefill to continue to promote and market Crystal Head Vodka?
           So we still do bottle signings. But we also
       Α.
    do -- some of the things I said before. We constantly are working with our distributors and our importer to make presentations to big retail chains, to bars, 6 7 restaurants. We have things like AMC Theaters. We're 8 involved in those presentations. We're always developing specialized programs for our sales people to 9 execute on. We've hired brand ambassadors to make sure that we constantly are educating accounts, so they know 11 exactly what our product is.
13
           You know, there's 700 vodkas in the market.
                                                        Why
    buy us? Right? Like, you need to differentiate yourself. You need to taste people. So we do tastings, 16 educational seminars. The constant incentive programs.
17
           Danny just did something six days ago in Florida.
18
    At the strawberry festival he did two events. So it 19 doesn't stop. And it can't, because no other brand 20 stops.
21
           Okay. How about trade shows? Do you go to trade
       Ο.
22
    shows?
23
           We do trade shows.
       Α.
24
       Q. Can you give me some examples of trade shows you go to?

So there's two types of trade shows. There's the actual trade shows that are just to the trade. Those are holiday buying programs, you know, things like that.
       And then there's consumer shows where they get to taste it. And you guys are probably more familiar with the consumer trade shows in your industry yourself.
Probably do your own trade shows as well. So it's a combination of both we'll do. You know, we'll probably -- right now about a hundred trade shows I'd say, between the different states. Holiday programs, non-holiday shows. Trade, consumer, bartender shows, you name it, probably done about a hundred, maybe even more.
      How about social media? Is Globefill active on Ο.
social media?
       Yes. We are very active on social media.
have an actual dedicated person just for social media.
       Do you do any specials through the year?
   Q.
             So like a lot of successful brands, I would
   Α.
say, we make sure we do programs at specific times of the year. So Christmastime is always big. So we will do special gift sets with a gift with purchase in there, whether it be a shaker, something most of you are familiar with. You'll see them all over the place at
```

Christmas. Most of the big brands will do something like that. We do participate in that. And we have for 2 years.

```
1
           We'll do stuff at Father's Day. We'll do some 3 little extra stuff. Of course we'll do stuff at 4
    Halloween because that is the beginning of the busy 5 season in our industry. And so it does give us an
7 opportunity to get ahead of Christmas and get in there a 8 month or two before some of the bigger brands do.
           Have you aggressively promoted Crystal Head Vodka 9
       Q.
10
    here in the Southern Cal area of the country?
11
          Well, yeah. It was the first place we launched.
12
           But Southern California is probably the 13 largest -- on a per-state basis, it is by far the largest vodka market and luxury premium vodka market.
14
15
    And even luxury spirit market I would say. In the United States if not the world.
16
           So we chose this to be one of our grounds. Our 17 own importer is based in Southern California. Our best 18 19 sales are in Southern California. Always have been.
20
    From day one, California has been our number state in 21 sales in the entire United States. Every year, every 22 quarter.
23
       Q. Okay. Let's try to break this down a little bit.
24
    Since the launch in September of 2008, how many times 25 would you say Globefill has contacted, met with distributors of Crystal Head Vodka?
```

```
1
2
           Well, with Infinium, we like to go through the hierarchy. It's constant. We have two full-time people 3 here doing that all the time. We had brand ambassadors.
4
    We have ourselves. We have Dan. Dan lives in Southern 5
6 California, so he's always doing things. Hundreds of 7 times. It's got to be hundreds.
8
           And how about restaurants and bars? Since the
       Ο.
    launch in September of 2008, how many times would you 9 10 say that Globefill, someone from Globefill has gone to a restaurant, a bar to promote your product?
11
           It's got to be 3-, 4,000 accounts we've seen.
12
       Α.
13
    Maybe more.
       Q. How about liquor stores -- or department -- I 14 mean, not department stores. Grocery stores. How many 15 16 times would you estimate that someone from Globefill has gone and met with a liquor store owner or the manager of 17 18
    a grocery store to promote Crystal Head Vodka?
19
           In the entire U.S.?
       Α.
20
       Q.
           Yep.
21
           I don't know what big retailer we haven't visited. It's got to be about 8-, 900 stores, maybe more.

          Like, you know...

THE COURT: If you ask a question the witness may be able to answer it without falling into areas that would be objectionable.
BY MR. FAY:
      Why did you obtain this trademark?
   Q.
   A. We obtained this trademark to protect our rights and our bottle rights. It was very clear early on that --
           MR. RAFFERTY: Your Honor, we are getting speeches and not answers.
            THE COURT: I would sustain the objection.
The witness tends to go beyond the question. But that might be because counsel is not controlling the question.
BY MR. FAY:
  Q. Okay. Just tell us why you got this trademark.
            THE COURT: And I think witness has answered that question. Is Counsel not satisfied with the answer given?
           MR. FAY: No. That's fine, Your Honor.

Α. Yeah. Lot of time and money went into this case. We've had to ask favors of some of our retail friends to make sure that we are not placed right beside KAH. Instead of -- you know, instead of asking favors for bigger displays, we have to ask to make sure that we are not put next to them to create more confusion. We've been limited in our ability to market our product and the product line extend our products. If we want to come out with a decorative bottle, that would create even more confusion. So it completely puts us in a hole. We can't expand our marketing or our portfolio. And financially, you know, we have a small team. And, you know, because of this, the cost of these cases, our teams don't get the raises or bonuses that they deserve. This year they're not going to get any raise or bonus, nobody. And they work real hard. We are a pretty tight group. And it is embarrassing. Do you want to put KAH Tequila out of business? Q. Α. No. Q. Once again, what do you want? I just want them to stop using our skull bottle. Α. Mr. Hemi, did the manufacture of KAH Tequila ever Ο. sue Globefill in Mexico? Α. It did. Q. Okay. And how did you first become aware of that? So our distributor in Mexico contacted our importer there, Monarch, and informed us that our goods were raided in his warehouse and our goods were seized. And to your knowledge, why were they seized? Ο. They were seized because Elements, the KAH Tequila people, claimed that having our product in Mexico was infringing on them. And it would create confusion and irreparable harm to their product if we were allowed on the marketplace. So essentially the same thing we are arguing here. Q. What did Globefill do in response to that seizure of this product? We hired attorneys and provided the Mexican government with a reason why we are there. And the main reason was, we had a trademark in Mexico for our vodka. MR. RAFFERTY: Your Honor, I object. You've ruled on this. Here we go again. THE COURT: The objection is sustained. BY MR. A. Yes. Some could be that many pages.

- Q. You got this -- you were -- I think you said you hit every BIN in every state?
 - A. I believe we hit almost every BIN, yeah.
- Q. And is that typical for, you know, people trying to promote their liquor brands to puts ads in the BINs?
 - A. Correct, yeah.
 - Q. So in any given BIN that you would have puts a Crystal Head Vodka ad in, you would have expected to see ads from your competitors?

- 17 A. Correct.
- Q. So now you -- I want to clear up some things. I understand you -- the vodka that Crystal Head includes in its bottles is made from you said something, sweet corn.

- 22 A. It's a variety of corn in Ontario. In Chatham,

           What's tequila made out of?

 4
           Does teguila and vodka have the same taste?
       Ο.
5
           No.
       Α.
           Now, have you ever from time to time been 6 7 concerned that Crystal Head Vodka bottle is a novelty 8 item that people might actually go and buy once and then never buy again?
9 10
       Α.
           No, I don't think so.
11
           You've never heard anyone at Crystal Head or
       Q.
    Globefill talk about the fact that there is a 12
    possibility that people would buy the bottle once and then just refill it?
14
15
       A. With every unique bottle there is going to be 16 some type of group of people that collect bottles. But at 10 million bottles, I don't think we are a novelty.
17
18
           Now you talked a lot about the market that you 19 were entering into when Crystal Head Vodka was launched.
20
    And I think, if I remember what you said, you called it 21 a super premium market?
22
       Α.
           Super premium and luxury.

       The luxury category.
   Α.
   Q.
       So not just any vodka, but a luxury vodka?
       Yeah. Luxury and super premium.
   Α.
       And does Crystal Head Vodka have a preference for
   Q.
where it likes its product to be placed in the sections

       Yes, it does, definitely.

other super premium luxury vodkas?
       Not necessarily.
   Α.
       Well --

       I'd really prefer to be in high traffic areas.

       Do you also like to be next to Grey Goose, Ketel

       Because they're high traffic areas, yes.
       Okay. But by high traffic areas, you mean lots of people buy those other vodkas?
   Q.
```

```
A. Lots of people go right there. So you want to be visible to that area.
```

- Q. When you say "go right there," that's because they're coming into the store and they know what they want?
 - A. I don't know if they know what they want.
- Q. But --

7

8

- A. I just know that we want to be in high traffic areas.
- Q. So you'd like to be next to those high selling - high volume selling super premium vodkas?
- 12 A. If it's high traffic, we want to be there.
- Q. When you go into a package store or a liquor store, depending on how you call it, there is usually a vodka section; is that right?
- 16 A. Correct.
- Q. And is there usually a separate section that the tequilas are in?
- 19 A. Correct.
- Q. And then a separate section for scotch whiskey and...
- 22 A. Correct.
- Q. And who decides where the bottles get placed in these kinds of stores, the retail or the package stores?
- 25 A. Usually it's a no-brainer. Vodkas go with vodka.

```
Tequila goes with tequila. Ultimately it's the decision of the retailer.
```

- Q. When you say a "no-brainer," you mean it's just common sense that the store puts the vodka in the vodka section and the tequila in the tequila section and so on and so forth for the have various different kinds of alcoholic beverages?
 - A. That's how it's usually done, yes.
- Q. You wouldn't normally expect to go into a store and see vodka and tequila in the same section?
 - A. Unless it's a very small store, I wouldn't.
- Q. You testified a little bit about when you first learned that KAH was going to launch a tequila.

Did anyone at Globefill consider the possibility, if you were concerned about confusion, of making a public statement to say "That tequila has nothing to do with us"?

- A. We did actually think about it. But we decided not to do it.
- Q. So you expressedly thought about putting out a public statement saying that "This tequila has nothing to do with us" and you decided not to do it?
 - A. Correct. There's a reason why.
- Q. Now, do the buyers of Crystal Head Vodka in your experience have common sense?

1
           I'm assuming they have common sense.
       Α.
2
           Do you think they do?

           How do the customers of Crystal Head Vodka know

           It's called Crystal Skull [sic] Vodka?

 - A. I don't understand.
- 10 Q. Well, the bottle is labeled Crystal Head Vodka.
- 11 A. Right.
- Q. Is it crystal like Waterford crystal or is it glass?
- 14 A. It's glass.
- Q. How is it that a customer knows that they are buying a Crystal Head Vodka bottle that's not actually a crystal bottle?
- A. Well, we don't state that it is not crystal. We are assuming they know it's glass.
- Q. And on what basis are you assuming they know it's glass?

```

1
           Are any of those people to -- did you take their names when they contacted you?

          Regarding?
3
       Α.
           Well, the people who contacted you, that you just 4
       Ο. testified to about confusion or alleged confusion, or 5 whether you had introduced a new tequila line, those 6 7 people.
8
       A. Some of them I did, and a lot I didn't.
                                                     Ιt
    depended on the comments.
10
       Q. Are any of the people that you spoke to coming here to testify to this jury about what you said they told you?
12
13
       A. Unfortunately not.
           Some you them you didn't even bother to take 14
       Ο.
15
    their names?
16
       Α.
          No, some we didn't.
17
       Ο.
           That included some who allegedly contacted you 18 after you filed this lawsuit and you didn't take their 19 names?
20
       Α.
           Correct. When you are at an event, you can't 21 just take people's names.
22
           You could have asked them, couldn't you?
       0.
23
           Not if you don't know them well. If you're at an 24 event and they make a comment like, Hey, I love your new tequila; or, I saw your new bottles. And you have hundreds of people around you. And I don't know them.
```

```
1
2
    I can't just pull them aside and say, Can I take your name and number. That's not reasonable.
3
       Q. You never asked them that? You never asked, 4 would you be willing to come and help us?
5
6
           No, I didn't.
       Α.
7
       Q. Now, you also said that there were several 8 iterations of the bottle after you got to Crystal Head Vodka -- or to Globefill?
9 10
       Α.
          Correct.
           At some point you -- I think you deepened the eye 11
       Ο.
12 sockets?
13
       A. Yeah. So when we got the bottle, it was pretty much almost done. We just wanted to tweak it a little 14 bit to make it visually a little bit nicer.
15
16
           Did you consult with Mr. Alexander about that?
       Q.
17
           Yes. But it was very quick decision. So what we 18 did was we basically just outlined some of the things we 19 thought would work better for the product and go from 20
    there.
21
       Q. And you -- one of the other things you did at 22 that time was you chiseled the teeth so they were 23 actually dimensional?
24
       Α.
           No. They were already chiseled. So I just wanted them a little bit more defined. But they were
```

1 always there.
2
           So when you say defined, if I'm understanding you, what you wanted to do is to dig deeper into -- 3 Really just the middle one we needed. So you had 4 the side. But the problem with glass making is as you 5 get in close with the blow mold, you lose some detail up 6
7
           So I just wanted to make it consistent.
    here.
8
           Did you consult with Mr. Alexander about the
       Ο.
    chiselling of the teeth?
9
           Yes. It was a whole partnership call on this.
10
       Α.
11
           Okay. And you're a partner in that partnership?
       Q.
12
       Α.
           I am.
13
       Q.
           What's your financial interest in the Globefill partnership percentage-wise?
14
15
           Oh, percentage. Ten percent.
       Α.
16
       Q.
           So you're a 10 percent owner of Globefill?
           I am.
17
       Α.

18

19
    Vodka, was there any reference to this legend of the 13 20 21

22
           And can you -- what was the legend of the Ο.
23

around the world. Only eight were in mankind's possession. I think five are missing. And the bottle that we made, as Dan has said before and -- reminded him of one of the -- one of the bottles of the Crystal Head's that had been found.
       And these Crystal Head's were said to have healing properties, spiritual properties, and they were used in ancient, you know, even in ancient Mayan and Mesopotamia as guidance for the future, for healing, things like that. That's my understanding.
   Q. Okay. And that was part of the basis on which Crystal Head Vodka was marketed, and is marketed through this day, is in connection with the legend of the 13 crystal skulls?
      Not today, no.
   Α.
       You've stopped marketing on that basis?
   Q.
      We stopped very quickly marketing on that basis because, you know, at the end of the day, it takes away from what we really have, which is a skull-shaped bottle.
       We don't want to -- you know, we can talk about -- those are just marketing. It's not -- it's not -- it's really more than just the 13 skulls.
       So quickly early on we actually changed the website. We -- within a year we changed the website,
```

1 and we kind of started to get away from the legend of 2
    the Crystal Head's.
3
       Q.
          And when did that happen?
       Α.
           It's been about, I want to say, 2010 or late 4
    2009.
           Once we started to redo our website then we -- 5
    the website had nothing to do with the Crystal Head's.
6
7
       Q. Now, is it your understanding that Globefill's 8 position is that any spirit product sold in any type of skull bottle whatsoever would be confusing with your -- 9
10
           It's my opinion -- it is my opinion that any alcoholic beverage sold in a human skull-shaped bottle
12 would be infringing on our product.
13
       Q. And that doesn't -- it doesn't make any difference, in your view, as to the differences between 14 15 that -- that allegedly infringing bottle and the Globefill bottle itself?
16
           If it's in the shape of a skull, a human skull, 17 that's what our trademark is in. And -- and the rest is 18 19 just decoration. That's all it is.
20
           You can paint my bottle, but essentially it's 21 still in the shape of a skull.
22
           If it's the same bottle?
       Ο.
23 Yeah. You can paint it, you can put jewels on 24 it, but it's still a skull bottle.
```

Q. And it's your opinion that the skull bottle in your hands right now, the Globefill Crystal Head bottle, 1

```
2
    is in exactly the same shape as the KAH Tequila bottles?
       A. No, it's not exact. I've never said it's exact.
3
    It's similar and it's in -- in my opinion, both bottles 4 are considered human skulls.
5
       Q. But the KAH Tequila bottles, you say they're 6 7 similar. They're also different than the Crystal Head 8 Vodka bottle, aren't they?
           Yes, there's differences as well. Yes.
9
       Α.
10
       Ο.
           Can you -- can you discern the differences by looking at them?
11
          Well, sure.
12
       Α.
13
       Q.
           Okay. Do you think that an average customer could discern the differences by looking at the 14 15
    bottles?
           That they're different?
16
       Α.
           That they're different.
17
       0.
18
           Yes, I think they could tell that they're Α.

    different.

You believe that Globefill had a trademark that had issued on the Crystal Head Vodka bottle prior to the time that you brought this lawsuit against Elements and Ms. Brandi?
       We did. We had four trademarks starting in 2006
we started filing.
       Did you have a trademark on the bottle?
   Q.
   Α.
       We had applied for trademarks on the bottle.
       I'm not asking if you applied for them, sir.
   Q.
asked you if you had a trademark on the bottle that was in force at the time that Elements and Ms. Brandi was sued by Globefill?
            THE COURT: And let me ask the witness, do you understand the question that's being asked?
            Yes or no.
            If you don't, I'll have counsel rephrase.
If you do, you may answer.
            THE WITNESS: Could you rephrase that?
            THE COURT: Do you not understand the question as phrased?
            THE WITNESS: Well, I think --
            THE COURT: All you have to say is yes or Do you understand the question?
            If you do, you have to answer it.
                                               If you don't, then I'll have counsel rephrase.

           No.

12 you can't ask. But if you don't understand the 13 question, you can say you don't understand it.
                THE WITNESS: My understanding of this question is that we have had -- we had trademarks for the bottle starting in 2009.

           That's -- that's my understanding. Of the trademark that I was shown, that was done in 2010, which 22 was after we saw the KAH bottle.

23
           And after you sued Ms. Brandi?

And this is a trademark that's for alcoholic 23

                THE COURT: Not was he asked a question.
24
    Just what's your question.
2.5
    BY MR. FAY:
```

```
1
           Did you decide to make a public statement about 2
    KAH Tequila?
3
       Α.
           No.
           Okay. Was there a reason why you didn't make 4
       Ο.
5
    that statement?
           Yes. There is a couple of reasons.
6
       Α.
7
           Okay. Can you explain?
       Q.
8
       Α.
           The first reason is, is we felt by mentioning KAH in the -- in our press release, it would only advertise 9 10 their product more.
11 Traditionally, big companies will not add 12 competitor products names to their press release.
13
           And then the second reason is if it's not picked up properly. So on the media wire, sometimes they'll 14 pick up snippets of it. They don't produce the whole 15 16
    press release. And you'll see that all the time, 17 especially in digital marketing.
18
           It may actually create more confusion with 19 people. It may end up coming out by saying that we -- 20 we are KAH Tequila. Or it could come out completely -- 21 completely wrong. So those were the two main reasons.
22
    So we definitely had to stay away from that.
23
                MR. FAY: Okay. Thank you.
24
                THE COURT: All right. May this witness be excused?
2.5
```

```
1
                No objection by the defense?
2
                MR. RAFFERTY: No objection by the defense.
                THE COURT: Plaintiff?
 3
                MR. FAY: Yes, Your Honor.
 4
                            If the jurors have any questions
 5
                THE COURT:
6 about this witness' testimony -- since I will be 7 excusing the witness, he may not be able to you, this 8 would be the time to write those questions down and submit them to the clerk.
9
                So I think there are no questions.
10
11
                The witness maybe excused. You're free to 12 leave, sir. Thank you.
13
                THE WITNESS: Thank you.
                THE COURT: We were hoping to complete those
15
    two witnesses today, and so we've accomplished that.
                                                           So
16
    I'm prepared to excuse the jury for the day.
17
                So unless there's something that counsel 18 wish to raise with the Court that might involve the 19
    jury, I will be excusing the jury at this time.
20
                Nothing?
21
                MR. HUMMEL: Nothing.
22
                         Nothing, Your Honor.
                MR. FAY:
23
                THE COURT: All right. So you are excused.
24
                Now, tomorrow is a short day for us. But I would like to start at eight. But I do now that eight
2.5

may be difficult for some of you, so I need to know that 1
2
    now, and I can then try to adjust the time.
3
                So I'm just asking the question, is eight still convenient for all the jurors?
4
                If anybody thinks it's not, you can either 5 speak to the clerk about it or tell me now.
 6
7
                I think most of you were here probably at eight. But I know -- 8 9
                A JUROR: Eight is fine.
                THE COURT: So there's no one that's 10 11 objecting to our starting at eight.
12
                All right.
                           So 8 o'clock tomorrow is the 13 return time. Remember the admonitions that have been given not to do any research, consult materials or 14 social media, or try to learn more about the case.
15
16 Everything that you will need to know about 17 this case in order for you to make the findings of fact 18 that are relevant so that you can apply the law that I 19 will give you will be given to you in this courtroom.
20
    So it is not necessary for you to go outside of the 21 evidence here to try to learn more.
22
                Jurors are excused. And we'll see you 23 tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock.
24
                THE CLERK: Please rise.

THE COURT: You may be seated.
            Jurors have been excused. I know there are some matters -- I believe there are -- that we need to discuss that may be important for tomorrow: examination of witnesses and use of exhibits.
            But we also need to discuss Tuesday, because there won't be an opportunity for you to meet with the Court before the 8 o'clock session on Tuesday.
            I'm prepared to take a short recess about 15 minutes, give everybody a little break. During this time, counsel might meet and confer just to see are there differences among you and can you resolve those.
And I will return to the bench and you will be able to indicate to me the witnesses for tomorrow, or at least the one witness that we thought, but possibly a second;
the exhibits to be used; and also a list of witnesses for Tuesday and the exhibit to be used.
            So we're in recess for about 15 minutes.
            THE CLERK: Please rise. Court is in 3

             So general things to be discussed, but 4 5 specifically let's talk about tomorrow's witnesses and 6 the exhibits. If you have already taken care of that 7 and there are no issues for me to resolve, then you just

10
                MS. BIVENS: Your Honor, tomorrow we, the 11 plaintiff, plan to present Christina Cappellini and 12
    David Brown.
13
                THE COURT: Okay.
                MS. BIVENS: And the parties -- correct me 14 15 if I'm wrong -- we have agreed to every exhibit except 16 for 1244 for Christina Cappellini.
                MR. HUMMEL: Yeah, for Brown I think there's 17 18 no issues. For Christina Cappellini I think there's one 19 exhibit, and then there's some demonstratives.
20
                THE COURT: So let's take Brown first.
21
                Time estimate for the direct and cross.
22
                MS. BIVENS: Thirty minutes for the direct.
23
    Or --
24
                MR. BERG: Oh, it won't be long.
2.5
    Thirty minutes at most, Your Honor.
```

1
                THE COURT: Okay. And similar amount of 2 time for the cross? Or -- 3
                MR. CASTORIA: Maybe a little bit shorter.
4
                THE COURT: Okay. So I'll say same amount of time, about 30 minutes.
5
6
                MR. CASTORIA:
                               Thank you, Your Honor.
7
                THE COURT: And what is the exhibit that's 8 being used with witness Brown?
9 MS. BIVENS: Where's the list that we gave 10 you of Brown? I don't -- I think we're -- or are you 11 talking about Brown?
12
                THE COURT: Brown. That's what I asked, for 13
    Brown. Are there any exhibits that are not already in 14 evidence being used with Brown?
15
                MS. BIVENS: No.
                THE COURT: Okay. And then the other 16 17
    witness, if you will give me the name again, please.
18
                MS. BIVENS: Her name is Christina 19 Cappellini.
20
                THE COURT: Spell the last name.
21
                MS. BIVENS: Okay. C-A-P-P-E-L-I-N-I.
22
                THE COURT: And the exhibits that you wish 23 to use with her, if any.
24
                MS. BIVENS: All right. For Christina 25
    Cappellini it's 82-7.
```

1
                THE COURT: 82-7. Let me just take a look.
2
    I have my exhibit list here.
                So it's Facebook postings on Crystal Head
3
4
    Vodka's Facebook page?
5
                MS. BIVENS: Yes, Your Honor. And that was 6 admitted during the last trial.
7
                THE COURT: Okay. So no problem with that 8 one, I assume.
9
                MS. BIVENS: No, Your Honor.
                THE COURT: So I need to hear from the 10 11 defendant. No objection?
12
                MR. HUMMEL: There's no objection to that 13
    one, Your Honor.
14
                THE COURT: So I may deem that admitted for 15 this trial, if I have not already done so, correct?
16
                MR. HUMMEL: Yes.
17
                THE COURT: Okay.
                (EXHIBIT 82-7 ADMITTED.)
18
19
                THE COURT: All right. The next exhibit to 20 be used with this witness?
21
                MS. BIVENS: 593.
22
                THE COURT: It's a reference to the Liquid 23 Living Magazine?
24
                MS. BIVENS: Yes, Your Honor.
2.5
                THE COURT: And objection to that one?
```

1
                MR. HUMMEL: No, Your Honor.
2
                THE COURT: And may I deem that one 3 admitted, unless it's already in?
                So it's deemed admitted. If it's been 4 5 admitted already, it's fine. But if it hasn't then it 6 would be admitted as of today's date.
7
                MS. BIVENS: Yes, Your Honor.
                (EXHIBIT 593 ADMITTED.)
8
                THE COURT: What's the next one?
9
                MS. BIVENS: Exhibit 618, which has already 10 11
    been admitted.
                THE COURT: I'll deem that one admitted as 12 13
    well.
14
15
                THE COURT: What else do we have?
16
                MS. BIVENS: Going to the 1100s, Exhibit 1140.
18
                THE COURT: 1140. And that one deemed 19 admitted or there's an objection to?
20
                MR. HUMMEL: Which one is this?
21
                THE COURT: 1140.
22
                MR. HUMMEL: No objection.
23
                THE COURT: Instagram posting.
24
                MR. HUMMEL: No objection.
2.5
                THE COURT: Okay. Deemed admitted.
```

```
1
2
                THE COURT: Okay.
                MS. BIVENS: Exhibit 1141.
3
4
                THE COURT: And that's a similar type of 5 exhibit. Is there an objection to that one?
6
                MR. HUMMEL: There's no objection, Your 7 Honor.
8
                THE COURT: Okay. That one is deemed 9 admitted.
10 11
                MS. BIVENS: Exhibit 1142.
12
                THE COURT: And same type of exhibit.
13 Objection?
14
                MR. HUMMEL: No objection, Your Honor.
15
                THE COURT: Okay. Deemed admitted.
16
                MS. BIVENS: Exhibit 1244.
17
18
                THE COURT: So it seems to be a similar type 19 of exhibit, an Instagram posting.
20
                Any objection?
21
                MR. HUMMEL: There is an objection to this 22
    one, Your Honor.
23
                THE COURT: Okay. So let me hear the 24 objection.
25
                MR. HUMMEL: Right. So we would object to this on the grounds of relevance. On the grounds of 403 that it's unduly prejudicial. There's also a lack of foundation.

            This Instagram post, or whatever it is, is a picture of a Crystal Head Vodka bottle. So Globefill's bottle that some artist painted to resemble a KAH Tequila bottle.
            It has no relevance. There's no issue of confusion. Someone took a bottle and painted it, you know, their bottle and painted it to look like our bottle. It's obviously prejudicial to the extent they're going to suggest that no -- well, I don't know what they're going to suggest. But it's certainly prejudicial to us that someone painted this bottle.
It's offered for an issue of confusion.
            THE COURT: Okay. So lack of foundation.
If that was the only issue, then I would expect -- and if this comes up with other exhibits too -- that counsel would lay that foundation with the witness who's being called. So you couldn't publish it until that foundation is laid.
            But the other issue, relevance and why it's needed, since there are so many Instagram postings already. So I'll let counsel make that argument.
           MS. BIVENS: Yes, Your Honor. You alluded to the first argument that we have is that there have been several other postings already admitted into evidence in 2013 during this trial. It is all relevant.

And Ms. Cappellini's testimony will explain further why this is relevant.
            The other issue is that this exhibit goes straight to a point that plaintiff is making that people relate the two bottles such that somebody would post on their Instagram feed a picture of Crystal Head painted like the KAH bottle.
            THE COURT: Well -- and I think one question is can this witness do all of that? And the Court would have to determine the relevance. I can't determine that through this witness. So I need to determine that first so you'll know whether you can use it or not.
            But this one, I think it would be helpful if I had a proffer as to what she would be saying about this posting.
            Counsel is correct. We have a lot, but it doesn't mean that all of the postings come in. And so one question would be, do you even need this one?
one may be different from the others and unique in some way.
           MS. BIVENS: It is.

proffer, and then maybe I can better understand why this one is one that you think should be received.
            MS. BIVENS: Yes, Your Honor.
            So Christina Cappellini, as the Court will learn tomorrow, is the director of marketing at Globefill. And she's been working in some capacity since 2009, and part of her job responsibilities is to monitor social media and to supervise the person at Globefill who's solely responsible for social media.
            On October 17, 2016, less than months ago, doing something she normally does, she forwarded to Jonathan Hemi, who you heard testify just a while ago, an Instagram post that she thought was brand confusion.
Because when she first saw this Instagram post, she thought that it was a KAH bottle.
            It's specifically KAH Anejo Anejo. I think it's like Exhibit 56.
            She thought it was a KAH Anejo Anejo bottle, and forward it to Jonathan tagged as Crystal Head Vodka.
            Just a few weeks ago, as she was preparing for trial in this case, Ms. Cappellini looked more closely at the bottle and realized that the user was in fact showing off the fact that she had a -- or he.
assuming TipseyBride had posted the Crystal Head bottle painted as a KAH bottle.

THE COURT: So why would that be relevant
      So it's not anyone associated with the case, I'm assuming, that that did the posting. Is she attributing it to someone involved in the case?
           MS. BIVENS: Right. And so most of Ms. Cappellini's testimony speaks to the fact that social media has essentially become tainted with people who affiliate the bottle, take pictures of bottles together, because they think they're so similar and related. And they're posting pictures that create the -- an environment where people can become confused about the bottle, and have made it more difficult for Crystal Head to market its product.
            Those are two key issues in this case.
            THE COURT: And how do we know that someone thought that they were similar and that's why it's posted?
           MS. BIVENS: We're not -- we're not offering them for the truth of what was posted, but the idea that these kind of images online -- which we'll explain more with the demonstratives, hopefully, tomorrow -- have clouded the Instagram feeds of hashtag Crystal Head Vodka and other hashtags related to Crystal Head.
            THE COURT: All right. Anything else on this one?
```

1 MS. BIVENS: No, Your Honor. 2 THE COURT: Okay. Counsel wish to be heard further? 3 4 MR. HUMMEL: Yeah, Your Honor, there's 5 nothing in this document to suggest that the person who 6 posted it was confused about anything. There's no 7 mention of KAH Tequila. 8 It happens to be painted in a way that is similar to one of the KAH Tequila bottles. But it's 9 10 also similar to the way Calavaras painted in other 11 situations. 12 So there's no -- there's no relevance to 13 this. It doesn't show an instance of confusion in any way. And it's prejudicial to the extent that someone 14 else may have infringed their trade dress, if they think 15 so or not. But it has nothing to do with an issue of 16 17 confusion between a bottle of KAH Tequila and a bottle 18 of Crystal Head. This is -- the poster itself is saying 19 that it's a hand-painted Crystal Head Vodka bottle. 20 So it's -- there's a tremendous chance of 21 confusion here amongst the jurors who somehow will think 22 the whole theme here is we copied their bottle. 23 here is someone on the Internet who actually took the bottle, hand painted it, not affiliated in any way with 24 2.5 KAH Tequila, and they're going to argue, obviously, that this proves their point that it's the same bottle.

1
2
                I think it's highly prejudicial and not 3 relevant.
4
                THE COURT: Well, I won't try to anticipate 5 what they're going to argue.
6
                But does counsel have anything further?
7
    I'll let you have the final word on this. And the 8 Court's ready to rule.
                MS. BIVENS: Yes, Your Honor. As far as 9 somebody being confused, the director of marketing at 10 11 Crystal Head Vodka was confused. So this actually is evidence of actual confusion.
12
13
                THE COURT: Okay. What will she say about her confusion? She thought it was what?
14
15
                MS. BIVENS: She thought it was the KAH 16
    Anejo Anejo bottle.
17
                THE COURT: And then at some time she determined that it wasn't?
18 19
                MS. BIVENS: Yes.
20
                THE COURT: The objection will be sustained.
    The Court finds that it's not relevant. Whether or not 21 22 it creates the kind of confusion that defense counsel is 23 suggesting, not -- not sure.
24
                But based on the proffer, I would sustain 25 the objection.
```

```
1
                Are there any other exhibits to be used with 2 this witness, from the plaintiff? Any other exhibits to be used with this witness?
3
                MS. BIVENS: Yes. 1246.
4
                THE COURT: 1246.
5
                Any objection to this one?
 6
7
                MR. HUMMEL: No objection.
8
                THE COURT: Okay. And so the Court would 9 deem it admitted.
10 11
                THE COURT: Next.
12
                MS. BIVENS: 1281.
1.3
                THE COURT: 1281.
14 1281, any objection?
15
                MR. HUMMEL: No objection.
                THE COURT: It will be admitted.
16
17
18
                MS. BIVENS: 1246 -- I said that one 19 already.
              1283.
20
                THE COURT: 1283. Another posting.
21
                Any objection?
22
                MR. HUMMEL: No objection.
23
                THE COURT: Deemed admitted.
24
2.5
                THE COURT: Any other exhibits to be used with the witness?

2
                MS. BIVENS: The defendants have offered exhibits for cross-examination, and plaintiffs have no 3 4 objection, or have withdrawn all of their objections to 5 the defendants' exhibit.
                THE COURT: All right.
7
                MR. HUMMEL: Can we just clarify one point.
8
                On 1281, I think it's just two pages from that.
9
10
                MS. BIVENS: My understanding from counsel 11 is that we -- 1281, the entire exhibit.
12
                THE COURT: But I think counsel is asking 13 for guidance. Could we pull up that exhibit just so 14 we'll know how many pages.
15
                MS. BIVENS: Your Honor, I think that they 16 are -- they have a disagreement about this.
17
                MR. HUMMEL: No, no, no. The list here that I have is 1281-1 and 1281-16.
18
19
                THE COURT: Well, on the Court's list, joint 20 exhibit list, I just have 1281. Not broken down by 21 other numbers.
22
                MS. BIVENS: Can we have a second to confer, 23
    Your Honor.
24
                THE COURT: Sure.
2.5
                MS. BIVENS: Thank you.
```

```
THE COURT: Off the record.
1
2 (OFF THE RECORD.)
                THE COURT: Back on the record now?
3
                MS. BIVENS: Yes, Your Honor.
 4
5
                THE COURT:
                           All right.
 6
                MS. BIVENS:
                             The parties do not want to put 7 into the record the entire Exhibit 1281. We want to 8 break it out by page number.
9
                THE COURT: So how many pages of the
             And maybe you should show that to defense 10 11 counsel, because the Court just deemed it admitted.
12
                MS. BIVENS: They've already seen it and 13 they agreed to the two pages, 1281-1 and 1281-16.
14
                THE COURT: All right. Does defense counsel 15 agree? Apparently there are only two pages that they 16 wish to offer, and they are the two that plaintiff's counsel has indicated.
17
18
                MR. HUMMEL: Yes.
19
                THE COURT: Okay.
20
                MR. HUMMEL: Going to come back to this exhibit in a minute.
21
22
                THE COURT: Okay. Do we need to return to 23 it for something?
24
                MR. HUMMEL: Yeah, because there's more 25 pages that we've agreed between the two of us that we'll offer. So -- 1
```

```
2
                THE COURT: Oh.
3
                MR. HUMMEL: -- it's a big exhibit and broke it up into little pieces. Sorry for the confusion, Your 4
5
    Honor.
6
                THE COURT: All right. Why don't we take a 7 moment then, if we think that we can do it now, and just 8 kind of straighten out which portions of this exhibit the Court should deem admitted. Then both sides will 9 10 know what you can use.
11 Plaintiffs apparently had planned to use 12 only two pages, correct?
13
                MS. BIVENS: Yes.
                THE COURT: But I don't know how many pages 14 15 defendants are using, and so that would be the next 16 question that I would ask, that defendants identify the 17 exhibits that they plan to use in cross.
18
                MR. HUMMEL: Sure.
19
                THE COURT: So if it will help you, we can 20 go off the record to let you confer.
21
                MR. HUMMEL: No. We've conferred.
22
                THE COURT: Okay. So you're ready to identify?
23
24
                MR. HUMMEL: Yes, Your Honor.
2.5
                THE COURT: All right. So for

           And then we go back to Exhibit 1281.
           THE COURT: Which pages?
           MR. HUMMEL: 2, 4, 6, 12, 17, 18 and 42.
            THE COURT: All right. So now that we have the numbers and the pages of 1281, any objection to those being deemed admitted and defendant using them with their cross-examination of this witness?
           MS. BIVENS: No, Your Honor.
            THE COURT: Okay. They are all deemed admitted.
            ^(EXHIBITS 1144, 1145, 1146, 1147, 1148, 1151, 1152, 1155 and 1281 ARE ADMITTED.)
           MR. HUMMEL: Thank you, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All right. So I just want to make sure on our timing. So what is the time for the direct examination of Christina Cappellini?
           MS. BIVENS: Approximately an hour.
            THE COURT: Well, if you remember, we only have two hours tomorrow. And it sounds like we'll use one hour with David Brown. So I just want to -- it's close. But today I think counsel, both sides, probably used a little less time than you estimated.
            So you expect an hour. And -- but we haven't left any time for cross, unless you were including that in your hour's time estimate.
           MS. BIVENS: I wasn't.
            THE COURT: You were not. So how much time defense expect that you will need for cross?
           MR. HUMMEL: I don't know. I wasn't expecting the hour. Forty-five minutes maybe, which is going to be too much time.
            THE COURT: Yes, we won't have enough time to finish this witness. So yesterday when I raised the question, I said if you have another witness that you think you can complete in an hour, both direct and cross, then we would have time for a second witness.
           But this -- unless you are going to reduce your time estimate -- and you are using a lot of exhibits with the witness Cappellini, so you may need the amount of time that you've estimated.

                So what's thinking on that? Do you want to bring her, knowing that there would be only -- if David Brown takes an hour, or if you take an hour with David Brown, then you will only have one more hour tomorrow.
                MS. BIVENS: Your Honor, can I have a moment to confer.
                THE COURT: Sure.
                MS. BIVENS: Your Honor --
                THE COURT: Back on the record.
                MS. BIVENS: So just as far as timing goes, 13
    the plaintiff expects to -- for Davy Brown to last only 15 minutes. And Cappellini will last 45.
                THE COURT: All right. So just so counsel know, that's fine with the Court. But I know you don't want to have her have to return on another day, and I do need to leave at ten tomorrow.
19
                MS. BIVENS: Yes, Your Honor.
                THE COURT: Okay.
                All right. We can go to Tuesday.
                MR. HUMMEL: Your Honor, there is one other 23 issue with respect to Ms. Cappellini. There are some 24 demonstrative exhibits.
                THE COURT: Okay. And you've exchanged those, or at least both sides have seen them, and there's an objection to all of them or some of them?

           MR. HUMMEL: Well, yeah, I did see them today. Although there is one slide which I guess hasn't been prepared yet, which I'm not sure how I'll react to
it. But I have not seen --
            THE COURT: I think it can't be used.
Counsel can prepare it and show it to you, and you have no objections, that's fine. But if you have objections, since we are settling all of that today, I would say if there's any objection it just can't be used.
            MR. HUMMEL: Well, I have objections to this, to this demonstrative -- THE COURT: Okay. I just need to see the demonstrative and hear what the objection is and --
           MS. BIVENS: I can show you.
            THE COURT: Okay.
                              Then I can see it.
Looking at the screen now.
           MS. BIVENS: Your Honor, before we start, I want to make clear that we had to -- because of the Court's ruling just now, we removed one slide, and we're going to remove two more based on some testimony today.
So we're really only talking about one slide.
            THE COURT: Okay. And would you identify that one slide for counsel. And if he has no objection,
```

1 then -- 2
                MR. HUMMEL:
                             This slide is the -- I do have not an objection to this one, Your Honor.
3
 4
                THE COURT: Okay. Does it have a number just for reference?
5
 6
                MS. BIVENS: Oh, I'm sorry.
7
                THE COURT: What is the number?
8
                MR. BERG: Your Honor, with your permission,
    I am supposed to meet a back doctor. And I wonder if I 9 10 can be excused.
11
                THE COURT: Sounds important to me. You may 12 be excused.
13
                MR. BERG: Thanks.
                MS. BIVENS: Exhibit 1142.
14
15
                THE COURT: 1142.
16
                And maybe counsel can just describe what it is. I mean, I can see it. But to understand why you 17 18 think it's important to your case.
19
                MS. BIVENS: This is a demonstrative that 20 will explain to the jury how social media posting works, and liking on social media, to give context to the 21 22 exhibits.
23
                THE COURT: So can't a witness do that 24 without this demonstrative?
2.5
                MS. BIVENS: No.
```

1
                THE COURT: I don't know. But all of you 2 probably know.
3
                MS. BIVENS: Well, I've learned since being on this case, no. I think that a juror will need this 4 kind of context to understand social media, because if you don't use it you don't know.
 6
7
                THE COURT: All right. Could I hear the 8 objection to it.
9
                MR. HUMMEL: Yeah, Your Honor. This 10 demonstrative here implies that this particular photo 11 went to all of these unnamed individuals here.
12 doesn't bear any relation to reality. It has no foundation.
13
                If Ms. Cappellini would like to testify 14 15 generally about what happens on social media, I don't 16 have a problem with that. But to imply that this 17 picture went out to all these friends, to all this, 18 whatever this is supposed to be -- I'm not even sure 19 what it's supposed to be. I object to this without 20 knowing what it's -- 21
                THE COURT: Maybe plaintiff's counsel could 22 clear that up on your examination.
23
                MS. BIVENS: Absolutely.
24
                THE COURT: If it's just a demonstrative, 25 then I'm sure that you will make some inquiry of the
```

1 witness as to what it actually represents.
2
                MS. BIVENS: Absolutely.
                THE COURT: All right. Objection overruled.
3
    I will allow it to be used. But I think -- 4
                MR. MILLER: Your Honor --
5
                THE COURT: Oh, I'm so sorry.
 6
7
                MR. MILLER: That's all right. That's all 8 right. I have kind of a continuing problem with the words Crystal Head in the lower right-hand corner on any 9 exhibit or demonstrative evidence that shows both 10 11 products, because I think that can be a subliminal 12 attempt to create confusion. There's just no reason to 13 have that heading like it's Court approved.
                THE COURT: So that heading probably doesn't 14 15 have anything to do with this exhibit -- 16
                MS. KIM: Your Honor, we'll take it out.
17
                THE COURT: Okay.
18
                MS. KIM:
                         It's just a standard footer, so 19 we'll take it out of everything.
20
                THE COURT: That's what I assumed.
21
                All right. And so defense counsel shall 22 just see it in the redacted form and be satisfied that 23 they have removed whatever it is that you found 24 objectionable.
2.5
                So I won't do that and won't raise any
```

```
1 question about it. So if any exhibit gets redacted in 2 some way, modified in some way, then it's the responsibility of counsel who wants to use it to show it 3 to the other side in its redacted form or modified form.
4
    And then if you still have an issue with the exhibit,
5 6
    then you need to bring it to the Court's attention.
7
    Otherwise, it will -- we will not have any further 8 discussion on it. I'll assume that it's okay.
                All right. So have we taken care of the 9 demonstrative to be used with the witness?
10 11
                MS. BIVENS: Yes, Your Honor.
12
                THE COURT: All right. So are we ready to 13 go to Tuesday?
14
                MS. BIVENS: Yes, Your Honor.
15
                THE COURT: So for Tuesday, first what I 16 need is the witnesses who will be called, the time 17 estimates and the exhibits to be used, and then if 18 there's any objection.
19
                If there are no objections to the exhibits, 20 we'll deem them admitted now. And if there's any 21 discussion about witnesses, then I'm sure it will be 22 raised.
23
                So Tuesday I would expect that we would work 24 about five hours, as we did today. Hopefully, we'll 25 start on time, eight o'clock, and we would recess the jury. I tell the jury no later than two, just to give us 30 minutes just in case we need it. But I don't have any plans for next Tuesday so I could stand longer if we needed to.

            So while counsel's getting ready for this discussion, just a couple things I want to bring to your attention.
            So today there was a motion in limine. And you probably all remember which one it was. And it was actually plaintiff's motion in limine, but it was also plaintiff counsel that raised the subject, in the Court's opinion. So I think all counsel on both sides need to review the motions in limine, the orders that have been issued, so that you are not raising a subject that the Court has either excluded or you don't forget to raise one that the Court permitted you to raise.
            But the one that I'm talking about is motion in limine No. 2. And it was plaintiff's motion, in limine No. 2, to exclude evidence of plaintiff's Mexican seizure response.
            So the witness on the stand talked about the seizure, which would be in violation of the order because I granted the motion. So it may be that what you need to do is alert your witnesses as well.
                                                 So if there's a subject matter that has been excluded or if you're unclear about it, witnesses need to know this is not a topic that you're permitted to raise.
```

So that's one of the reasons that a few times today I said counsel needs to be more careful with the questions. Because when you have a witness like this, all of this is knowledgeable to him. I mean, he's lived it, so he's prepared to tell the story not knowing that maybe certain things have been excluded. So just wanted to raise that with you. Pay attention to the motions and the ruling on the motions and advise witnesses to the extent they need to be advised.

Another topic that I want to raise -- and this may come as a surprise to you. So in the new building, in chambers the Court can hear what is being said in the courtroom, even when the Court is away, not on the bench. So if you are discussing things in the courtroom, you need to turn away from the mikes or move away from the mikes.

So today, I raised the question with my staff, you know, I'm hearing a lot. Why am I hearing it? So the answer is that the chambers are set up so that anyone in chambers can actually listen to the proceedings in the courtroom. And that's fine. But then when we are not in session but counsel are still in the courtroom discussing things, we can also hear your discussion. So it may be that you don't wish to have the Court or the Court staff hear this discussion. So just -- I raise that with you just so that you are aware.

Another question that I was going to raise, the jury instructions that were used at the first trial, do you intend that those instructions will be used at this trial? And maybe you've already gone over them.

You have added some. You may have taken some away. So you may have already considered this. And I don't need to raise it with you, but I wanted to raise it now because we will get to jury instructions probably be discussion that the Court will have with counsel will be sometime next week.

So if it's a subject that you're already paying attention to and have some thoughts on it, you don't need to say anything more to me about it, but I just wanted to raise it with you.

Counsel.

MS. KIM: Your Honor, you know, we did file joint court instructions. We also filed separate for the ones we didn't agree upon. However, you know, I've kind of gone through both sets, and I do think that there is a lot of room for us to work with defendant.

And I think that there -- what we should do is probably work with defendant, meet and confer, get as much agreement as we can. We'll file something again that's joint with the exhibits. We'll have an Exhibit A and B for the ones that are still remaining, where we still have a dispute, and then we can raise it with the Court on Tuesday.

            THE COURT: All right. So that would be beneficial. Because what I will do look, I will look at what you've given me, and then I will prepare what I call a court's set. And that is the set that we will use for settlement purposes just to have our discussions. And so I may use most of yours, but I may put in some additional ones or I may feel that some are not appropriate. So that would be something that you would need to know.
            So if you're prepared to provide whatever you have filed, based upon your best efforts to agree, to the extent that you can -- I realize you can't always agree, and I appreciate your trying to agree on these things -- then if I have that by Tuesday, then I will review them and be able to give you some indication as to which of those the Court might use pretty early next week.
            The same with the verdict form. And I work that out.

            THE COURT: Okay. Very good. So I'm ready now to have you identify the witnesses for Tuesday and the exhibits to be used.
            MS. KIM: Your Honor, Jenny Kim for the plaintiff. So on Tuesday we intend to call Raul Marmol.
            THE COURT: If you will just spell the last name for the record, please.
            MS. KIM: M-A-R-M-O-L.
            THE COURT: And your time estimate for your direct examination.
            MS. KIM: Forty-five minutes.
            THE COURT: And the cross.
            MR. HUMMEL: I think we'll reserve a similar time, Your Honor.
            THE COURT: Okay. Next.
            MS. KIM: And we don't anticipate using any exhibits for Mr. Marmol.
            THE COURT: Thank you.
            Any exhibits to be used by defense?
            MR. HUMMEL: Two, to which I understand there is no objection.

2
                THE COURT: And would you identify them.
                MR. HUMMEL: Absolutely, Your Honor.
3
                764 and 765.
 4
                THE COURT: 764 and 765.
5
                No objection by plaintiffs?
 6
7
                MS. KIM: No objection.
                THE COURT: I will deem those admitted.
8 (EXHIBITS 764 and 765 ADMITTED.)
10
                THE COURT: And the next witness.
11
                MS. KIM: The next witness will be 12
    Kim Brandi, Your Honor.
13
                THE COURT: And your time estimate.
                MS. KIM: Two hours, Your Honor.
15
                THE COURT: And defendants will be 16 conducting not only your cross-exam, if you have 17 cross-exam, but also direct exam.
                Is that correct?
18
19
                MR. MILLER: Correct, Your Honor.
20
                If it's all right with the Court, I'd like 21 to be the one who questions Ms. Brandi after they 22 complete their direct.
23
                THE COURT: Since you're representing her, 24

solid two hours too on what will be in response, plus what she would say independently, in accordance with Your Honor's wishes.
            THE COURT: That's fine.
            MR. MILLER: That's independent of what Elements may have.
            THE COURT: So will Elements also be conducting some examination of Ms. Brandi?
           MR. HUMMEL: Yes, I believe we will.
Obviously, it depends on what the course of the direct or the cross or direct is going to be. But we won't cover the same ground. Obviously.
            I would say -- I would like to reserve
45 minutes just in case. But it might be shorter.
            THE COURT: All right. So if your time estimates are correct -- hopefully they are not.
Hopefully you are overestimating -- two hours for the plaintiffs. Two hours for -- and 2 hours and 45 minutes for the defendants. So that is almost a full day, so just something that you could keep in mind. It's likely that Ms. Brandi is going to be here anyway.
            MR. MILLER: She will be.
            THE COURT: So if we don't finish with her on Tuesday, then we would just finish her examination on Wednesday, and that's fine.

MR. MILLER: She'll be here -- aren't we dark Wednesday, I think?

                THE COURT: Wednesday, that's right.

    Thursday would be the next day. You're right.
                MR. MILLER: She'll be available on those 5 6 days, Your Honor.
7
                THE COURT: Okay. Exhibits to be used with 8
    Ms. Brandi for the plaintiffs.
9
                MS. KIM: Yes, one second, Your Honor.
10
                We have, starting with Exhibit 616, 616-2, 11 and 6166-62. It's my understanding that defendants have 12 no objection.
13
                MR. MILLER: Correct.
                THE CLERK: Could you repeat those exhibit

16
                MS. KIM: Yes. Exhibit 616, 616-2 and 616-62.
17
18
                THE COURT: No objection. Those are deemed 19

20
                MS. KIM: Thank you, Your Honor.
                (EXHIBITS 616, 616-2 and 616-62 ADMITTED.)
22
                THE COURT: And then for the other 23 examination, whether it's cross or direct, do the 24 defendants expect to be using exhibits?
25
                MS. KIM: I think we have several more, Your

                THE COURT: Okay. I'll hear the objection

                MR. MILLER: Correct, Your Honor.
16
                THE COURT: Okay.
17 in the Elements versus Brandi lawsuit which Your Honor

                THE COURT: Which in limine motion?

a defense in limine motion to exclude evidence and testimony regarding the lawsuit between the defendants
in this action.
            THE COURT: Somebody on my staff may be able to find it, if it's necessary for me to review it.
            You may continue.
            MR. MILLER: Your Honor has -- the ruling might just be as easy. I can read to Your Honor.
            THE COURT: And you don't have to.
            MR. MILLER: Oh, okay.
            THE COURT: You believe that the ruling on the motion in limine would preclude the use of this exhibit?
            MR. MILLER: There's also no relevance to this litigation. But it's -- this is specifically the -- the -- the threat which culminated in the lawsuit against Ms. Brandi filed by Elements, which was the subject matter of that motion.
            THE COURT: And is this the lawsuit that is before I think it's Judge Pregerson?
            MR. MILLER: It is.
            THE COURT: Okay. It's not this lawsuit?
            MR. MILLER: Correct. And it was specifically -- the cease and desist letter was actually specifically mentioned in the motion in limine as one of
```

1
    the prejudicial exhibits that were entailed by the 2 motion.
 3
                THE COURT: Okay. What do the plaintiffs say about that? Do you believe it was the subject of a 4 motion in limine? If so, are you able to identify which 5 motion? And do you think it covered the -- this cease 6 7 and desist letter?
8
                MS. KIM: We're getting the docket number information for Your Honor. But in the interim, Your 9 Honor's order on that motion actually said that we could 10 use information from this lawsuit when it contained 11 12 admissions from the defendants or their agents, and that we could also use this evidence from this lawsuit and/or 13 relating to this lawsuit for impeachment purposes.
14
15
                THE COURT: So I will reserve ruling on this 16 one because I'll need to actually see the order. And I 17 may even need to see the motion just to determine the 18 scope of it.
19
                So as to 1275, the Court is reserving 20 ruling.
             If the Court reserves ruing on an exhibit, that means it cannot be used until the Court has so
22 instructed. So counsel should not use an exhibit that 23 the Court hasn't actually ruled upon.
24
                MS. KIM: So the docket number the motion in limine was 468. And Your Honor's order was docket 2.5
```

```
No. 517.
1
2
                THE COURT: Okay. I'll take a look at that later. So let's go to the next one, 618-4-5.
3
                MS. KIM: I don't think there was an 4 5 objection to that, Your Honor.
6
                THE COURT: No objection?
7
                MR. MILLER: No, Your Honor.
8
                THE COURT: Oh, okay. That's deemed admitted.
9
                THE CLERK: What was that exhibit number?
10
                THE COURT: It's 618-4-5. That's deemed 11 12 admitted.
13
                The next one I think that's being objected to is 578?
14
15
                MR. MILLER: Correct, Your Honor.
16
                THE COURT: So counsel may state the 17 objection.
18
                MR. MILLER: Your Honor, this is a 38, I 19 think it is, page confidential private offering 20 memorandum. That was not prepared by Ms. Brandi, and I think it's irrelevant.
21
22
                THE COURT: Okay. Does plaintiff's counsel 23 wish to be heard?
24
                MS. BIVENS: Yes, Your Honor. If you look 25 at the offering memo, for example, at page 3031.
```

```
1
                THE COURT: So you're going to put it on the 2 screen for me so I can look at it?
3
                MS. BIVENS: Of course, yes, Your Honor.
                If you look at the bottom, this document
 4 5 contains things like this where it says each bottle's in 6
    the shape of a skull about the packaging, admissions 7 about the packing of the product, the marketing appeal.
8
                THE COURT: And could you tell me it is a private offering by Elements?
9
10
                MS. BIVENS: Yes, it's a representation to potential investors.
12
                THE COURT: And so again, what is the 13 purpose for it, the exhibit, using it with Ms. Brandi?
14
                MS. BIVENS: Representations that she made 15 about the bottle, the packaging, and how the packaging will be marketed.
16
17
                THE COURT: And what -- where is there in the exhibit that would indicate that she made these 18 19 representations?
20
                MS. BIVENS: There are email exchanges that 21 we have also indicating that she was a part of creating 22 this document.
23
                THE COURT: I'm probably going to need to 24 see those. What is the question that you would be 25
    asking her about this exhibit? So make a proffer.

MS. BIVENS: I mean, at this time -- first of all, these are party admissions. And we would be asking her about how this statement came to be, how this -- these representations came to be, why they were put there. THE COURT: All right. Defense wish to comment any further? MR. MILLER: Well, all we've heard is in the offer of proof is a statement not necessarily attributable to Ms. Brandi and that the -- about the shape of the bottle. But there's -- the best I have seen, maybe five or six or so iterations of the shape of the lines, three-dimensional bottle shapes already in evidence in the courtroom. I don't -- it has -- it doesn't have any significant probative value. instead we've got -- we've got a 38-page document talking about finances and financial needs and all these -- a whole bunch of stuff that we haven't heard anything about. And we're going to have a jury leaping through that because they want to establish what the shape of the -- it's going to be in evidence? doesn't make -- I don't think there's enough probative value there at all to overcome the -- the -- the time waste and prejudice that's going to be involved in this entire exhibit being entered into evidence.

MS. BIVENS: Your Honor --1 2 THE COURT: So could counsel indicate how 3 many pages and which pages you are seeking to use. 4 MS. BIVENS: At this time, we can go through 5 the document. I cannot at this time identify exactly 6 what parts we can use -- we would like to use. But if 7 the Court would like us to work with counsel to redact 8 the parts that they find objectionable, we are willing to do that. 9 THE COURT: Well, my concern is this is 10 11 Tuesday, and we won't have time. I mean, we'll be 12 discussing -- counsel would be attempting to use this 13 exhibit on Tuesday. There won't be any time to discuss. So I'm fine with counsel meeting and hoping to agree, 14 15 but then if you don't agree, you would be wanting to use this exhibit, and I still have an objection to the 16 exhibit. 17 What I'm inclined to do now is to rule on 18 19 the use of this exhibit just based upon the arguments 20 that have been made. I will still permit counsel to 21 confer. Once you are able to identify the part of the 22 exhibit that you want, if counsel agrees to that, you 23 could use it, because you have an agreement there too. 24 So for 578, I'm going to sustain the 25 objection. I don't see the relevance either.

    Plaintiff's counsel says they're admissions by a party, 2
    but I would need to have you identify those admissions.
                It's not clear to me that what Ms. Brandi's association is with this exhibit. So I sustain the 4
3
    objection at this point. I will permit counsel to raise it again. Instruct you to meet and confer and see if 6 7 you can agree as to which pages if any of this exhibit 8 can be used. And if you come to some agreement, then you will advise the Court.
9
10
                Let's go to the next exhibit. It's 773.
11
                MR. MILLER: Correct, Your Honor.
12
                773 it is -- you have it in front of Your Honor, is a -- some kind of an invoice from a Chinese 13
    bottler. That invoice it's dated after Ms. Brandi 14 wasn't responsible for the financial aspect of Elements.
15
16
    The objection is that it is hearsay. It's going not be 17 properly authenticated since she did not generate of pay 18 the bill. But it's -- I'm not sure what the relevance 19 is of it, how much they paid for bottles and when. And 20
    -- and 403, more prejudicial than probative.
21
                THE COURT: Maybe counsel can advise what is 22 this exhibit?
23
                MR. MILLER: You're asking me, Your Honor?
24
                THE COURT: No. Plaintiff's counsel, since 25 plaintiff wants to use it. What is 77 -- 773? Maybe you could also address the relevance, how you would authenticate it, if it's not a document that can be authenticated through the witness, and those issues.

           MS. BIVENS: Your Honor, we're happy to also provide the payment and the emails relating to this document. But a lot of the issues in this case relate to timing, and this dates when Ms. Brandi was ordering bottles.
            She at the time when the offering memo was created, at the time this invoice was created, was the CEO of the company, the founder of the company.
to be complete we need to also add as an exhibit the documents surrounding this, we're happy to do that.
            THE COURT: Right. I think you're going to have to do that first before it can be used. And the Court would need to know how do you associate this document with her.
            So the first question I ask is what is the
          So the name that appears on the document, document?
it's an invoice. There is a date on the document as well. Whose invoice is it?
           MS. BIVENS: Okay. As of June 2010,
Ms. Brandi, like I said, was the CEO of Elements.

affiliated with Federico Cabo, was helping her pay the bills, it appears. And so we will be questioning Ms. Brandi about this interaction, the timing of ordering the bottles, which is key to the timing of her coming to market.

            THE COURT: Well, and certainly it may be appropriate to ask her those questions about ordering the bottles, if you think she had something to do with ordering the bottles. And depending upon her answer, you may or may not use this exhibit.
            But the Court, at this point, would sustain the objection to the use of 773. Counsel may meet and confer. You may provide the other parts to this.
may satisfy defense counsel. But you're going to have to show that since you are offering it through
Ms. Brandi, it's either her document, not her document.
But there needs to be some relationship.
            So I sustained the objection to 773.
            The next exhibit is Exhibit 520.
Exhibit 520, defense counsel has an objection to that.
            MR. MILLER: Correct, Your Honor.
            520 is, I don't think there's any -- there will be any foundation for this. This is a document not prepared by Ms. Brandi. As I understand it, I think may have been prepared long after the actual date that it has on it. And I'm -- it's unfortunate that I didn't know she was going to be a witness Tuesday until we finished today and she -- and I allowed Ms. Brandi to I would ask her, but I'm almost certain that this is a document that was not prepared by Ms. Brandi.

In fact, that she disputes the -- the authenticity and accuracy of this document.
            THE COURT: Plaintiff's counsel can be heard now or the Court will reserve ruling on it, and we can discuss it at another time. But you would not be able to use it with Ms. Brandi until the Court has had an opportunity to rule on it. But you may want to put something on the record now as to what it is, what you think it represents, and why is Ms. Brandi the witness with whom you would seek to admit this document.
            MS. KIM: Your Honor, this is a transaction detail for the KAH Tequila account, as my colleague previously represented to the Court. Ms. Brandi was the CEO of KAH Tequila of Elements at the time, and we believe that this document shows a very distinct timeline of all the events that happened with respect to the development of the KAH bottle, which is one of the primary issues in this case.
            Ms. Brandi has previously testified in her depositions and at the prior trial about certain dates.
We believe that this document refutes those dates.
                                                    And

Mr. Miller has actually said that the timing of KAH Tequila vis-à-vis the timing of the development of Crystal Head was a coincidence, despite the overlap.
And we believe that this is one those documents that would refute that theory of defendant's case.
            THE COURT: So you will attempt to lay the foundation for this document through Ms. Brandi?
           MS. KIM: Yes, we absolutely will.
                      And so if you're not successful
            THE COURT:
in doing that, then of course you won't be able to use the -- the document won't be admitted through --
           MS. KIM: Of course, Your Honor.
            THE COURT: You may need somebody else.
           MS. KIM: Of course, Your Honor.
            THE COURT: So the foundation will have to be laid first. And if counsel is able to do that, you can't publish the document. But the document could be placed in front of Ms. Brandi, and if the foundation is laid, then the Court would allow the exhibit to be used.
            So not received yet. Reserve ruling until the foundation is laid.
            Let's see, the next one --
            MR. MILLER: I believe that's it.
            THE COURT: I think that's it.
           All right. Anything else that you think
```

```
1 needs to be discussed? Because it may come up on Tuesday. Yes?
2
                MS. KIM: The defendants actually have 3 exhibits that they've identified for us that they plan 4 5 to use during Ms. Brandi's testimony.
                           All right. Why don't I have 6
                THE COURT:
7 those exhibit numbers and then see if there's any 8 objection. And if not, I'll deem them admitted.
9
                MR. MILLER: All right.
10
                THE COURT: So would counsel identify the 11 exhibits that you would use for Ms. Brandi.
12
                MR. MILLER: Yes, Your Honor.
                Exhibit 45.
13 14
                THE COURT: 45.
15
                Any objection?
16
                MS. KIM: No objection.
                THE COURT: Deemed admitted.
17
                (EXHIBIT 45 ADMITTED)
18
                MR. MILLER: Exhibit 55.
19 20
                MS. KIM: Your Honor, all of these exhibits 21 are the bottles, the physical bottles. They've -- 22 they're already in evidence, and we have no objection to 23
    the physical bottles of the KAH Tequila or Crystal Head.
24
    So we can just move on, I think.
2.5
                THE COURT: Yes. And so those were deemed
```

1 admitted either last night or -- and they were actually 2 used today. Or today they were deemed admitted, so we don't need to address those again.
3
4
                MR. MILLER: I think that's 55 through 58.
5
                MS. KIM: Yes.
6
                MR. MILLER: 164.
7
                MS. KIM: No objection.
8
                THE COURT: Okay. Deemed admitted.

                MR. MILLER: 167.
11
                MS. KIM: No objection.
12
                THE COURT: Deemed admitted.
                (Exhibit 167 ADMITTED)
13 14
15
                MS. KIM: No objection.
                MR. MILLER: 169.
17
                MS. KIM: No objection.
18
                THE COURT: Those are both deemed admitted, 168 and 169.

20
                 (EXHIBITS 168 AND 169 ADMITTED)

22
                MS. KIM: Objection.
23
                MR. MILLER: I tried to go in order.

                THE COURT: If it's in evidence then we don't need to discuss it.

                MR. MILLER: 574-A.
 6
                MS. KIM: No objection.

                MR. MILLER: 1009.

                MS. KIM: No objection.
19
                THE COURT: Deemed admitted.
20
                 (EXHIBIT 1115 ADMITTED)
21
                MR. MILLER: 1130.
22
                MS. KIM: No objection.
23
                THE COURT: Deemed admitted.
24
                 (EXHIBIT 1130 ADMITTED)
2.5
                THE COURT: Any other exhibits to be offered
```

1
    by defense?
2
                MR. MILLER: I think that's it for all defendants.
3
 4
                THE COURT: For all defendants, all defense
    counsel.
5
                Then let's go back and look at the ones to
7 which there's an objection. 493 is the first one.
8
                MS. KIM: Your Honor, we can actually handle our objection to to all four of these documents at once.
9
10
                493 and 1008 are the trademark application 11 for the word marks KAH and Day of the Dead that were 12 filed by defendants.
                499 and 1009 are the trademark certificates 13 that were issued for those same word marks.
14
15
                THE COURT: All right. Do you think that there was a motion in limine as to this and the Court has ruled on it. Or -- 17
                MS. KIM: There hasn't been a motion 18 19
    in limine with respect to these specific word marks.
20
    However, Your Honor specifically ruled, I believe it was 21 yesterday in court, that plaintiff's trademarks for the 22 word marks Crystal Head were not relevant to this 23 action. And that was based on defendant's objection.
24 Defendants have actually stated today that 2.5
    they don't think work marks are relevant to this action because this is an action about bottles and the shape of bottles.

            Accordingly, we don't know why these word mark trademark registrations and/or applications are relevant to this action. However, we are willing to withdraw this objection if defendants are willing to withdraw their objection to our word mark trademark registration, and we can work it that way.
            THE COURT: All right. Anything further from the defendants before the Court rules?
            MR. MILLER: Yes, Your Honor. We're not willing to make that trade. These are premarked exhibits timely and included in the pretrial order for -- as one major contrast between what's being offered by counsel and what we're asking to introduce.
            These go to the timeline, Your Honor, in Ms. Brandi Ms. Brandi's -- Ms. Brandi set this company up and -- and did most of this on her own. It creates the very timeline that counsel wants to -- to help that we all want to establish with the jury. And it shows when things happened, Ms. Brandi taking control.
shows her progression in the creation of a brand that counsel's acting like wasn't created until the end the 2010.
            THE COURT: Well, certainly she'll be able
```

1
    to testify to that.
2
                MR. MILLER: She can authenticate all of 3 these. They were her actions.
                THE COURT: All right. Anything further 4 from the plaintiffs?
5
                MS. KIM: Yes, Your Honor.
 6
7
                As Your Honor just pointed out, you know, 8
    Ms. Brandi can testify to that. You know, there's no reason for these trademarks to come in. We think that, 9 10 honestly, the same argument regarding the relevance of these word mark trademarks, which is that it would 11 12 establish a timeline for Ms. Brandi, would be an 13 applicable argument for why our word mark trademark should come in, which honestly our first word mark 14 trademark was in 2006.
15
                I don't really understand defense counsel's 16 17 point regarding how she just started this company by 18 herself and why that's applicable here.
19
                However, like I said, you know, Your Honor 20 ruled that word mark trademarks are not applicable to this action that concerns the shape of bottles.
21
22
                THE COURT: All right. The objection is 23 sustained to 493, 499, 1008 and 1009.
24
                All right. Any other discussions that we 25 need to have in order to be ready for Tuesday?

MS. KIM:

It's 5:47. Oh, getting close to 6 o'clock.
                                            All right.
           MS. KIM: But I do believe there is a pending motion in limine on a motion to compel the settlement documents from the iconic litigation. And I didn't know if Your Honor had an order prepared or if you wanted to discussion that.
            THE COURT: When would this come up, with what witness? Is it going to likely come up on Tuesday?
           MS. KIM: It might come up with Ms. Brandi,
Your Honor.
            THE COURT: Okay. All right. So I do have some notes on this one. So I think it's premature.
            The defendants have represented that the settlement agreement has not been finalized. And so if it's not a final settlement agreement, it's premature.
           Also, if it -- it's case over which Judge Pregerson is presiding. So I think a motion would have to be made before Judge Pregerson first asking that the settlement agreement be disclosed, if it's not already a public document. If he permits it to be disclosed, then we have the question of whether this Court would find it to be relevant. So that's my position at this point that it's premature. But maybe there's something that I don't know. So let me hear. MR. VERA: Thank you, Your Honor. It's my understanding that in that action there was a protective order, and the parties went to the length of having Globefill be a party to that. What we would suggest, if Your Honor is uneasy with production, for there to be an in camera inspection of that, because we feel like we are simply unable to properly impeach a party about her credibility, given that we don't have the contents to that. And they've admitted in their opposition, Your Honor, that the document exists, but one of either five or six parties hasn't signed. So if the relevant parties have signed, if Ms. Brandi and Elements have signed, then as to those parties there's an operative agreement that provides for particular provisions. We don't know what those are. We don't see any problem with an in camera inspection of those. And maybe that would give some more guidance to Your Honor at that time. THE COURT: Well, I'm surprised that you even want to use something that you haven't seen. think you have to go to Judge Pregerson first. So if it is a document that's either under seal or confidential in some way, in other words, it's not public yet, not finalized yet, then I think the first motion would be before Judge Pregerson. allows the parties to have the document so that you can review it and decide if it's relevant here, then this Court could rule on the relevance and I would be happy to review it in camera. But I still think it's premature at this point. So I won't be ruling on it today, and it can be raised again. MR. VERA: Thank you, Your Honor. MS. KIM: Your Honor, just one point of clarification on Exhibits 578 and 773. I know that Your Honor sustained defendant's objection on those exhibits for Ms. Brandi, but, you know, you also instructed us to meet and confer and maybe exchange documents, additional backup documents we may have to show that, you know, Ms. Brandi received and/or participated in the drafting of these documents and had some background. I just wanted to make sure that, you know, if we can't make an agreement, it's something we can raise if we decide to use these exhibits during our direct of Ms. Brandi on Tuesday.

1
2
                THE COURT: Well, I think meet and confer first. But if you are -- if you can't reach an 3 agreement then the Court's ruling probably stands. But 4 certainly you can raise it with the Court that you've 5 met and conferred and you have something further that
7
    you wish to place on the record in support of the 8 documents.
                MS. KIM: Yeah, I think the only thing we'd 9 have further would be the additional documents that show 10 11
    that Ms. Brandi had knowledge of these documents.
                THE COURT: All right. So I think that a 12 meet and confer. Disclose to counsel these additional 13 documents. They may change their position on it. And 14 15
    if they do, then you will raise that with the Court.
16
                And if they don't, if you wish to address it 17 further then I would let you address it. But you can't use them until the Court rules.
18
                MS. KIM:
19
                          Will do, Your Honor. Thank you.
20
                THE COURT: All right. Anything further?
21
                MR. FAY: I don't think so, Your Honor.
22
                THE COURT: Time to go? Yes?
23

So there is a deposition that's been offered with objections thereto. The subject came up earlier today. Both sides have designated parts of the deposition, and I don't know if both sides are objecting. But just from experience in the past, what would be most helpful to the Court is if the parties provided the Court with a proposed order in Microsoft Word format identifying the testimony that you want to use; who is offering the testimony, whether it's plaintiff or defendant; the objection thereto, and a blank column for the Court's ruling.
            So it's just to make it easier so when I get ready to rule on it I have everything in one place and then I can rule.
            So if you could provide that to the Court.
I think neither side believes this will come up on Tuesday, so we have time to do it. But you can start working on it now.
            So is it clear? Or do you want me to repeat as to what I'm looking for?
           MR. FAY: I think it's clear, Your Honor.
            THE COURT:
                       Okav.
            MR. HUMMEL: Seems reasonably clear to me.
Hopefully, we'll be able to work those objections out.

3
                All right. I think there's nothing -- yes?
 4
                MR. MILLER: I had mentioned to the Court
6 that I have a problem a week from Friday, the 24th. I 7 still have that conflict. The -- the -- what I would 8 ask maybe, with some indulgence from counsel here, is certainly I need to be here for Kim Brandi's testimony, 9 but it looks like we'll have that done for certain 10 11 before Friday. I'm not too optimistic we'll be closing 12 on Friday. Those are two things that I think honestly 13 through reasons if nothing else to brag to my kids, I'd like to be here when Mr. Aykroyd testifies.
14
15
                If Friday were made of say of Gilberto 16 Sanchez's testimony and the experts -- which it may well be -- I wouldn't need to ask for the Court to be dark.
18
    I just hate to have us lose momentum. And I can send 19 somebody else, as long as not something that's crucial 20 to my involvement in the case. And really, those are 21 the only three things I consider crucial at this point.
22
                THE COURT: Okay. It's not likely that 23 we're going to be dark on Friday. So it may be that 24 you've put me on notice that you have a conflict. So I 25 don't know how you want to resolve that.
```

```
1
                So I think that you would see if you can 2 resolve it either with the other court, or someone else could be here for you. But if it's important that you 3 be here for whatever is happening on Friday, the 24th, I do not plan to be dark that day.
5
6
                MR. MILLER:
                             Thank you, Your Honor.
7
                THE COURT: All right. Anything else?
8
                MS. KIM: No, Your Honor.
9
                THE COURT: Okay. We're in recess now.
                                                          So 10
    I'll see you tomorrow morning.
11
                MS. KIM: Thank you, Your Honor.
12
                MR. FAY: Thank you, Your Honor.
13
                THE CLERK: Please rise. This Court is in 14 recess.
